NATION MOURNS.

Mrs. McKinley Dies at Canton.

End Is Peaceful With Relatives and Friends at Her Bedside.

Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday With President in Attendance.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CANTON (O.) May 26.—Mrs. William McKinley, widow of the late President, died at her home here at 1:05 o'clock this afternoon.

For many years Mrs. McKinley has been an invalid. She recovered from the shock of her husband's tragic death, but it left its mark, and when it was known that she had suffered a stroke of paralysis little hope was felt that she could survive.

The end came peacefully, almost imperceptibly. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made to prolong her life, or the solicitous hope against hope of her sister and other relatives and friends for her recovery.

At the McKinley home, when death came, there were present Secretary Cortelyou, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, Mrs. Luther Day, Justice and Mrs. William R. Day, Drs. Portemann and Rixey and the nurses.

"Mrs. McKinley lived hours longer than was expected," said the Secretary. "Her vitality was wonderful," said Dr. Portemann.

It was by Secretary Cortelyou that the announcement of the demise was given to the public. As this was flashed over the land, William McKinley Post and George D. Harter Post of the G.A.R. were forming in line and to the strains of "The March Religioso," went to the First Methodist Church to listen to the memorial address which was given by Dr. Buxton, Mrs. McKinley's pastor.

FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY.

The funeral arrangements so far as made are that Dr. Buxton will have charge of the services, which are to be simple. They will be held at the McKinley home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Secretary Cortelyou is directing the arrangements and will remain here until after the funeral. Dr. Rixey left here at 5:28 this evening for Washington. He will join the President and go with him on his trip to Indianapolis and Lansing this week. It was announced tonight that the President and Secretary Loeb will arrive in Canton Wednesday morning to attend the funeral. Vice-President Fairbanks, who had often been a house guest of the McKinleys, is expected to reach here in time to attend the funeral services.

The body of Mrs. McKinley will be placed in the vault in West Lawn Cemetery, which also holds the body of her husband, until the completion of the National Mausoleum on Monument Hill, when both caskets will be transferred to receptacles in that tomb.

From numerous friends of Mr. McKinley, Mrs. Barber this evening received telegrams of condolence on the death of her sister. Among them were telegrams from President Roosevelt and Vice-President Fairbanks.

Mrs. McKinley's life of about sixty years had been made familiar to the nation by the fact that more than half of it was a period of invalidism. Through all this, however, she showed a firm and unwavering belief in the career of her husband, and by her cheering words, in spite of personal afflictions, encouraged him when there was darkness at hand.

She believed that his star of destiny would never set until he had become President of this land, and for more than a quarter of a century cherished that belief until her hopes were realized.

PRAYED FOR DEATH.

After President McKinley's death she expressed a desire to join him and prayed day by day that she might die. Later, however, she frequently told friends that she desired to live until the completion of the McKinley mausoleum, which is the gift of the nation and which is to be dedicated on Monument Hill, September 30 next.

Ida Saxton McKinley was born in Canton, June 8, 1847. James A. Saxton, her father, was an intellectual and progressive business man and banker, his wife a woman of extraordinary culture and refinement. Ida Saxton was reared in a home of comfort and ease. After attending Canton schools, she was a pupil at a private school at Delhi, N. Y. Later she went to a Cleveland academy, and finished her education at Brook Hall Seminary, Media, Pa., where she spent three years.

Part of her young womanhood was spent in the Stark County Bank, which belonged to her father. On several occasions she had charge of the institution.

While she taught Sunday-school in the Presbyterian Church, young lawyer William McKinley was superintendent of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school. Among many admirers and suitors, the handsome young soldier, who had been with Grant and Sheridan and won distinction in the Shenandoah Valley, was the favored one.

HER FATHER'S FAITH.

By James Saxton, her father, these words were spoken to McKinley when the hand of the daughter was gained: "You are the only man I have ever known to whom I could intrust my daughter."

On January 25, 1871, William McKinley and Ida Saxton were united in marriage. The wedding was the first performed in the then new Presbyterian Church.

After an eastern trip, including Washington and a short time of boarding, the McKinleys purchased the home on North Market street, which in later years became famous as the McKinley cottage. It was during their short sojourn in this home that Mrs. McKinley's health broke down under the burden of grief that was theirs. There were born to them two daughters, Katie, on Christmas Day of 1871, and Ida, on April 1, 1873. Ida died in August, 1873, and Katie the following year. During this period Mrs. McKinley's mother also passed away, and under the combined burden of these losses, Mrs. Kinley became an invalid.

KEPT NEAR HUSBAND.

Her life as the wife of William McKinley was a most happy and devoted one. They never "kept house" while he was in Congress, because of her invalid state. She, however, desired to be with him as much as possible, and spent much time in Washington. On his campaign tours while he was Congressman, Governor, and President, she journeyed with him so far as practicable.

After Gov. McKinley's term of office ended, they came to Canton in January, 1896, in time to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary in the first home of their early married life. This wedding anniversary was the beginning of a year and two months residence in Canton, during which time Mr. McKinley was nominated and elected President of the United States. At Washington, as the first lady of the land, she was unable to act as hostess at brilliant social functions.

After the crushing blow which came to her when the assassin's bullet struck down her husband, friends despaired of her life for a month or more. However, she rallied and excepting periods of great depression for several years, enjoyed better health than usual. She would not consent to leave her Canton home.

Mrs. McKinley was fond of the drama. She and her husband numbered as one of their most intimate friends the late Joseph Jefferson, who was frequently a guest of the McKinleys.

Among her diversions were the crocheting of slippers, which she bestowed as keepsakes to friends, handed to the needy or gave to bazaars. More than 3500 pairs of slippers were knitted by her and given away. Mrs. McKinley was fond of flowers, the rose being her favorite for many years. In recent years the President's carnation shared a place in her admiration.

LOVED CHILDREN.

Bereft of children at an early stage of married life, she showed her intense affection for children until the end of her life. It was a common thing for her to stop her carriage when driving along the street and call to her some prattling child and kiss it, or ask to embrace an attractive baby.

The McKinley estate which was left by the President was appraised at $215,000 when the inventory was made. It has increased in value since that time. By the terms of the will of Mr. McKinley, the estate at the death of Mrs. McKinley was to be divided equally among his brother, Abner McKinley, now deceased, and sisters, Mrs. Duncan, and Miss Helen McKinley of Cleveland.

Mrs. Hermanus Baer (Mabel McKinley) is the daughter and heir of Abner McKinley.

CONDOLING TELEGRAMS MANY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—While little hope was entertained here for her recovery, the news of the death of Mrs. McKinley caused profound sorrow in the capital, where she so long made her home while her husband was a member of Congress and later President.

President Roosevelt learned of her death shortly after 2 o'clock, when he received a telegram from Secretary Cortelyou, who has been in Canton since Mrs. McKinley was first stricken. He immediately announced that he would leave for Canton Tuesday night to attend the funeral.

Secretary Root and Secretary Wilson, the only members of the Cabinet who served under President McKinley, and Rev. Dr. Frank M. Bristol of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, who was the McKinley pastor, were deeply touched when they were told that Mrs. McKinley had expired. There were expressions of regret from many officials, whose duties brought them in contact with the White House, and from all the attachés of the executive mansion, many of whom served there during the McKinley administration. All paid the highest tribute to the memory of the late President's widow.

President Roosevelt will be accompanied on his trip to Canton by Secretaries Root, Garfield and Wilson; Admiral Rixey, Surgeon-General of the Navy, who attended Mrs. McKinley when she was in Washington, and Secretary Loeb. Admiral Rixey is expected to return from Canton tomorrow. Secretary Cortelyou, who was President McKinley's private secretary, and Associate Justice Day of the Supreme Court of the United States, will remain in Canton until after the funeral.

The telegrams announcing that Mrs. McKinley had passed away were posted on bulletin boards here, and the news spread rapidly throughout the city. Scores of telegrams of sympathy were sent to Mrs. McKinley's sister, Mrs. Barber, by prominent government officials, diplomats and others who had known Mrs. McKinley when she was the first lady of the land. President Roosevelt and members of the Cabinet sent words of condolence as soon as they learned of her death.

During the five years incumbency of Mr. McKinley in the White House, Mrs. McKinley was in very poor health, and did not take a very active part in the social life of the capital. On important state occasions she would take her place in the receiving line, but on other occasions the Presidents' niece, Miss Mabel McKinley, who subsequently became Mrs. Baer, would act as hostess.

In the spring of 1901, when President McKinley visited the Pacific Coast, Mrs. McKinley was stricken in California, and was desperately ill for several weeks, and for nearly a fortnight little hope was entertained for her recovery. After returning to Washington she suffred a relapse, and for many days was at the point of death.

AN EARLY ROMANCE.
HARD FATHER WAS WISE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O. May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A romance in the life of Mrs. Ida Saxton McKinley was recalled today by John Lang, officer of a mining company.

Lang was employed as a bookkeeper in Mrs. McKinley's father's bank for ten years and taught her book-keeping, which she followed for a short time.

While she was still in her teens there was a young blood of the name of Charles Leiter, son of a Congressman, who seemed to have no serious purpose in life, became her suitor.

Just when it looked as if his suit would be successful, her father interfered. He said young Leiter did not work and this he considered a crime.

Then William McKinley appeared on the scene.

His legal talents were beginning to attract attention and it was not long before he became acquainted with the banker's daughter. From that time all thoughts of young Leiter disappeared and the rising young lawyer became her ideal.

The old banker seemed pleased, also, and when McKinley was suggested for Prosecuting Attorney, Saxton promptly gave him financial assistance.

He was elected to the office and was rapidly gaining fame. Miss Saxton married McKinley and their life was but a forerunner of the happy years that were to follow.

This picture of the martyred President and Mrs. McKinley was taken during their visit to Los Angeles in 1901. It shows them in their flower-covered carriage in the Fiesta floral parade. The picture is from a copyrighted photograph taken by the Garden City Foto Company.

Carmen in Terror of State Troops.

Strikers Gather in Prize Fight Rink to Hear Wild Speeches.

Pinhead McCarthy Proves to Be Unconscious, but Good Prophet.

Warns Unionites to Behave or Hope of Victory Will Vanish.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hundreds of strikers had a meeting today in a rough pavilion evidently used for prize fights on Golden Gate avenue.

All the union leaders made speeches, imploring the carmen to stick together and not give up. They are in terror of the troops and of prosecution under the Cartwright bill.

Their plans for a new union labor party to control the police force in future strikes were made plain in a speech by Pinhead McCarthy. He was the last speaker and the wildest.

"Good God! what would have happened to us if Pat Calhoun had controlled the police force during these last few weeks?" he said feelingly.

His ingenious sentiment was applauded. It was a frank confession that the unions had controlled Chief Dinan's men and kept them off during the riots of the first day when the cars went out undefended.

PINHEAD IS WARY.

Pinhead warned them against doing anything to get the troops here. He told them to keep up the boycott to the limit and promised them funds from Los Angeles and other parts of the State to support them during the strike. He also promised that the carpenters of San Francisco shall be duly mulcted to keep the wolf from the door of the families of the strikers.

Pinhead was perfectly candid about the labor political party that is forming.

"The fact that Tax Collector Smith went to Folsom did not break up the influence of the Republican party in this city. Why should the conduct of those whom we elected stop us from electing other men?

"What we ask you to do is to hold out," yelled Pinhead, who was fat and well-dressed himself in a white vest and blue clothes.

"All we ask you to do is to hold out and all be sure and sign up on the register so you can vote next year."

SLURS AT PRESIDENT.

Sweeney, the organizer of the iron men who seemed to realize that he and his kind are up against it hard made a speech roasting Schwab, Governor Gillett and making slurs on the President.

At the mention of the Governor's name, the crowd hissed.

Andy Gallagher, the politician who steers things for the labor unions, also appeared dressed in the height of fashion and told them to endure the poverty a few months longer.

Almost with tears, Andy begged them to make their men behave for the next few days.

"I have some confidential information," said Andy, "that I can't tell you, but I can say this: None of you know how close the troops are to this city or how close the Governor is to signing the order to bring them in here. The slightest disturbance is likely to bring the soldiers."

Andy alluded emotionally to the horrors of the bul-pens in Colorado.

CORNELIUS SUBDUED.

Cornelius seemed very much subdued and disconsolate and unhappy. He seemed discouraged. He also told them to keep on and hang on and walk if necessary. Cornelius himself has an automobile.

In all the speeches the strikers were told plainly that it is a war of money against money, and of votes.

"After this strike has been running a few months," said Pinhead, "the directors of the United Railroads will tell Pat that he had better call it off and come home. There is no use underestimating him, for he is an able man. But when his directors in the East and in Europe come to look with dismay at lost dividends and a continual deficit, they will decide that there is nothing in fighting organized labor."

Sweeney, the iron man, said something that he might not like to repeat in the coming trial of the unions under the Cartwright anti-trust act.

"The pattern men," he said, "are not in the same fix as the other iron men. We are so completely organized that the employers have to compete for our labor."

HATCHING NEW PARTY.

It is known positively that Father Yorke and Agitator Livernash have been foregathering on the project of launching this new labor party, unabashed by the terrible result of the other labor victory.

It makes no difference to them that the utter failure of unions in places of power has been shown. They are cold-bloodedly going to do it over again.

One of the speakers mentioned the union funds in the banks and said they would hold these deposits over the head of the bankers as a threat if they tried to tie up the town and stop building.

What has really scared the life out of the union men is the stopping of all work all over the city as forecasted in The Times, a couple of weeks ago. It has passed the talk stage. Men are actually losing their jobs.

Cornelius told a friend the other day that the carmen would be glad to be able to save their faces, but that Calhoun had declared war on the union.

CAPITAL SHUNS CITY.

W. H. Crocker said yesterday that the Crocker interests, because of the conditions in San Francisco, had decided not to build six large structures that were planned and for which arrangements had been made.

These six buildings represent an intended outlay of more than $1,000,000. The list, as given by Crocker, includes the following, with estimates of cost: Pacific Postal building, at Market and Drumm streets, six or seven stories high, cost $300,000; Class A structure on Montgomery street, opposite the site of the old Occidental Hotel, cost from $250,000 to $300,000; store and office building on the old site of Livingston Bros.' store, between Kearny street and Grant avenue, cost $300,000; store and office building at First and Mission streets, cost $200,000; these buildings to have been erected by the Crocker Estate Company; also two large buildings to have been erected personally by W. H. Crocker at Stevenson and Jessie streets, for lofts and similar uses.

"It has been decided by H. T. Scott and Charles E. Green, representing Charles Templeton Crocker and Jennie A. Crocker and myself, that it is not wise to build at this time," said Mr. Crocker.

"The building operations that we had intended will be permanently dropped, or at least until the attitude of labor and of the persons controlling the city government of San Francisco is more favorable. Capital is not encouraged to build by labor or by the people in control of the City Hall."

TRY TO BLAME ROAD EMPLOYEES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—A lively row developed today between the police and the United Railroads in connection with the withdrawal of cars on Kentucky street and San Bruno avenue lines yesterday, owing to alleged violence of union sympathizers and inadequate police protection.

Chief of Police Dinan tonight made public reports of some of his officers in which it is charged that some of the strike-breaking motormen and conductors on the cars of the United Railroads deliberately smashed the windows in their cars to make it appear that violence had been committed and then reported to the company that the cars had been greeted with a fusillade of stones.

Capt. Duke of the southern police station, in whose district are the lines on which the cars were withdrawn, in a report made to Chief Dinan, declared that the reports of some of the non-union employés of the United Railroads are malicious falsehoods and in support of which he submitted the reports of some of his men.

Corporal of Police John Moriarity reported that he saw Inspector B. Gorman deliberately break all the windows of a car on Enghteenth street with an iron bar and declared that Gorman subsequently reported that the car had been stoned.

NATION'S BIG ROADS PLAN VAST MERGER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While the eyes of the whole country have been centered on E. H. Harriman as the master manipulator of the railroad world, a greater and more extensive combination of railroad interests than he ever fashioned has been in process of formation, until now the plans are matured for the public announcement of this gigantic merger.

Thousands of millions of capital are involved and the mileage of the new Pennsylvania system will extend practically from the most northern point of the Atlantic Coast to the Gulf ports, with tracks gridironing New England, the East and Middle West.

This colossal merger, when completed, will be known as the Greater Pennsylvania System. It will embrace practically all the railroad lines in New England, together with the present Pennsylvania lines with through connections to New Orleans and Mobile. Instead of projecting a transcontinental line from ocean to ocean, the keystone of the new system will be the Panama Canal.

Charles S. Mellen is said to be the master mind back of this vast plan, although it is known the consolidation was under consideration before the death of A. J. Cassatt, former president of the Pennsylvania. Henry Clay Frick, a friend and business associate of Cassatt, is believed to be the real man behind the whole vast project.

Mellen and his associates in this great project have been moving with the utmost carefulness not to run foul of the policies of the administration in enforcing the anti-trust laws. They feel assured, according to the best information at their command, that there will be no opposition to or criticism of their venture on the part of the administration.

The main properties to be merged are: The Pennsylvania Railroad, controlling the lines east of Pittsburgh; the Pennsylvania Company, controlling the lines west of Pittsburgh; the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, controlling practically all the mileage of New England, outside of the Boston and Maine system; the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad and other connecting southern lines.

PREPARES FOR WAR.

Japan Makes Hostile Movements.

Adopts Plan of Doubling Navy and Massing Million Troops.

All Resources of Island Empire Devoted to Increasing Strength.

British-Controlled Press for Conflict With United States.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO (Japan) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That her navy shall be more than double the size and strength it was at the outbreak of the war with Russia and that her army shall be capable of mustering upon first call no less than one million trained soldiers, is the military programme upon which Japan has set out and to the consummation of which all the resources of the Island Empire are being marshalled.

Whether this elaborate programme is undertaken merely as a safeguard against future possibilities or is aimed at some particular nation, no human outside the little group of Elder Statesmer who are the real rulers of Japan, know, and there is not one of those who would not give up his life rather than reveal the probable object of attack. If there is one such in contemplation, European military experts who are given to airing their opinions in print are just now indulging in predictions of a war between Japan and the United States.

The effusions of these writers find ready publication in the British-controlled press of the Orient. The fact that most of the foreign newspapers published in this part of the world are owned and controlled by Englishmen, is however, so well understood by the intelligent and educated classes of Japanese, that there is little likelihood of such publications having any material influence in shaping the better thought of Japan.

There has been no disbanding of the veteran army which, under Oyama and Kuroki and Nogi and their able associates, drove the Russians from the plains and the mountains of Manchuria. Japan is today maintaining a regular army of approximately 100,000 men. This number is to be immediately increased by the creation of two new divisions, the official explanation being that these are for service in Korea and Manchuria.

In addition to this step an important change is the reduction of the length of compulsory service from three years to two, the effect of which will be to increase by 50 per cent. the number of reservists, all trained soldiers. Today Japan could put 800,000 trained men in battle condition within a week's time. To estimate her army efficiency—actual, not paper—at one million men is certainly most conservative.

Great activity is reported in all branches of the army, in the ordnance particularly. The marvelous increase in the subsidized merchant marine means, for one thing, that a highly efficient transport service is not only assured for the future, but is already here.

And all this has been done and is being done at a minimum cost that is the marvel of the world. Her navy programme has been shaped with the understading that the navy must by the last analysis be the chief reliance of the island empire. In this she is patterning after Great Britain and if an imitator she is a most apt and efficient one.

In the matter of monster battleships, Japan has already outstripped her ally. In the Aki and the Satsuma she has two ships greater than the Dreadnought. Japanese naval constructors claim superiority for both of these ships over the biggest ships of the other nations, particularly for the Aki, which is said to have a number of improvements over the Satsuma, her elder sister by a few months.

EXPOSES WEALTH OF MINES.

Suit to Get Assessments Reduced Reveals Great Value of Sulphur Deposits.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAKE CHARLES (La.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of a bitter legal fight, by the Union Sulphur Company, which is supposed to be dominated by Standard Oil capitalists, to have its assessments cut from $5,000,000 to $250,000, the State of Louisiana has sprung unexpected evidence, which shows that the sulphur mines in this parish are the richest in the world and that the owners are realizing a veritable gold mine from them.

Evidence brought out yesterday showed that the company in 1905 marketed 219,000 tons of sulphur and in 1906, 284,000 tons; worth on an average of $17 per ton at the mines. On January 1, 1907, it was proven that the company then had 170,000 tons of sulphur on hand ready for shipment.

It is generally believed here that the owners of the concern now regret bringing the suit, as the vastness of the wealth of the property is brought to light for the first time, and that instead of being assessed at $5,000,000 next year, assessment will more likely be doubled.

NEW STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

GREEK PRIEST'S BODY FOUND IN TENEMENT.

Trunk Left for Security Broken Open By Police and Decomposed Remains Discovered—Factional Religious Fight the Cause.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Rev. Father Kaspar of the Armenian Apostolic Church of Hoboken, N. J., was murdered in this city some time last week, and the body was found today in a trunk which had been left for security for room rent by two Greeks, who rented a room from Mrs. Henry Sherer, who occupies the third floor of a tenement at No. 233 West Thirty-seventh street.

Three weeks ago Mrs. Annie Scherrer rented one of her six rooms to two unknown men. When, last Wednesday, the rent was not forthcoming, her lodgers, two Greeks, told her that she was amply secured by their well-filled trunk. The following day the men disappeared, and today the trunk was broken open.

To the horror of Mrs. Sherer, it was found to contain the badly decomposed body of a man believed to have been a priest of the Greek Church. The body was in a kneeling position, with the head bound against the knees, by a heavy strap that passed over the back of the neck and was buckled below the shins.

The murdered man must have been about 40 years of age. He weighed, probably, about 160 pounds, and was about five feet four inches in height. A flowing beard twelve inches long was streaked with gray, but the long and bushy hair was black. An undershirt of balbriggan and a cuff on the right wrist was all the body wore, but on top of it were thrown three coats of clerical cut, a white laundered shirt, two pairs of black laced shoes, a soft felt hat, two collars and a detached cuff.

The police think it possible that the body was shipped here by express from Chicago and the authorities of that city have been asked to follow a clue, based on a meal ticket also found in the trunk. This ticket was issued by a restaurant at 1222 Halstead street, West Pullman, Chicago, and written in ink across it was the firm name "S. Ermoylan Brothers." Through the word "brothers" several red ink lines had been drawn. Because of the condition of the body it was not possible to determine the manner of death. Following an autopsy at the morgue two men were arrested on suspicion.

Mrs. Sherer told the Coroner's jury that when the two men engaged the room in her home they described themselves as John and Paul Sarkis, each about 35 years of age. John was dark and smooth shaven and the man said he had conducted a restaurant in the tenderloin. The other wore a moustache.

The men had been visited, she said, by a man wearing a clerical garb who looked not unlike the murdered man. She thought that this man called at 8 o'clock last Wednesday evening. No one heard any unusual noises that day. Late Wednesday afternoon an express wagon brought the trunk to the house.

One of the lodgers with the aid of a young man who drove the express wagon, carried the trunk with considerable difficulty.

Unpleasant odors were detected coming from the room and today Mrs. Sherer appealed to the police and the trunk was forced open. The body was removed to the morgue and the police began a minute examination of its hiding place. It was a cheaply built affair, and showed marks of hard usage. Inside the trunk was printed a name that looked like L. E. Parkis.

The autopsy developed that the neck had been broken. Coroner's Physician Lehane declared, however, that death was due to suffocation The internal organs were congested, and Dr. Lehane gave it as his opinion that the man was thrust into the trunk while alive and the cover of the trunk had been held down until death ensued. The condition of the organs was found to be similar as in case of asphyxia.

On the left wrist the date 1894 was tattooed with little stars, and on the right wrist was a wreath with a cross. There were two little tattooed circles on the back of the right hand, each about the size of a dime. A dozen detectives were set to work on the case, and tonight physicians living in the vicinity of Mrs. Sherer's home were examined at police headquarters, but nothing conclusive had been established at a late hour.

After the removal to the morgue, the body was identified as that of the priest. He had lived at No. 608 Monastery street, West Hoboken, and frequently made trips soliciting funds for his church.

Father Kaspare, carrying a small leather bag in which his collections were placed, came to be a familiar figure in Greek and Armenian circles here, and it is believed that he was murdered for the money he carried.

The autopsy revealed that the priest had probably been drugged and placed, while still alive, in the trunk, there to be suffocated to death. The neck and one arm had been broken, but apparently these injuries had not been the cause of death. Thrown upon the body, and as if to fill the trunk to the point of suffocation, was the priest's clothing.

The Coroner's physician said that the man had probably been dead six or seven days. The contents of the stomach will be examined to determine whether some drug was used.

RELATIVES END HAPPY ROMANCE.

TEAR FROM EACH OTHER YOUTH AND WIFE.

Son of Prominent China Manufacturer and Daughter of Former Assistant Secretary of Navy Wed, While Both Are Under Age and Now Annulment of Marriage Is Sought.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Guy D. Haviland, son of a prominent china manufacturer and his wife, who was Miss Lillian Alden Cridler of Washington, daughter of Thomas W. Cridler, formerly Assistant Secretary of State, have separated and both blame the intervention of others. Neither has reached a legal majority.

Mr. and Mrs. Haviland were secretly married in New York on April 18. The young man had been a student in St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., and intended to finish before making his marriage known.

When the news reached the ears of relatives, William D. Haviland, a brother, who is now visiting his father-in-law, Gen. W. A. Bancroft of Cambridge, took Guy from school and has had charge of him since. As soon as the bride learned of this she consulted James W. Osborne and Charles E. Kelly, New York attorneys.

On the ground that young Haviland is under age and cannot marry legally without his parents' consent, it is said his relatives seek an annulment of the ceremony. The bridegroom asserts his brother wishes to take him to France.

Mrs. Haviland came from Washington yesterday with her mother and her attorney, Mr. Kelly, came from New York. Mr. Kelly had a conference with Gen. Bancroft and today had a short interview with Gen. Haviland.

Added to his displeasure at his parents' attitude and his brother's course in taking charge of him, young Haviland is at outs with his bride because he attributes his misfortunes to her premature announcement of the marriage. His parents, however, heard of the wedding from another source. Their meeting today failed to result in reuniting the Havilands.

After the marriage in New York the couple obtained apartments in that city. All went well until the bridegroom, needing funds, applied to Mr. Briggs, a New York representative of the China manufacturer. Through Mr. Briggs, the bride asserts, the marriage was revealed.

The young couple met in France, while Miss Cridler was in school in Neuilly. Miss Cridler was first known in society in Paris as bridesmaid to Miss Porter, daughter of the former American Ambassador to France.

WOULD RULE EMPEROR.

Man Who Disappeared With Much Jewelry Had Vast Scheme to Control Chinese Domain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To rule the young Emperor of China after the death of the aged Empress, to give government concessions worth scores of millions of dollars to a half-dozen American capitalists and make himself one of the world's wealthiest men—such was the scheme of J. J Edward Boeck, missing soldier of fortune, as revealed by himself to one of his intimate friends.

And, despite the fact that he is now under indictment for stealing several hundred thousand dollars worth of jewelry from Maiden Lane dealers, it was openly hinted in the financial section yesterday that he never will be prosecuted, that the losses to the jewelers will be repaid by the wealthy men back of him, and that his amazing scheme for the exploitation of the Celestial empire will be put through.

Papers in the safe in Boeck's office are said to contain complete details of the startling programme, and efforts will be made by powerful influences to prevent these records from becoming public.

The compleet record of Boeck's career, from the time, seven years ago, when he was a car tracer at $40 a month, up to the day of his disappearance on May 10, reads more like a romance of long ago than the accurate story of a man of the present day.

Why, when he had millions in sight, when he could have obtained a million at any time for any purpose he might name, he should take a few hundred thousand dollars' worth of jewels and flee, is incomprehensible to his friends.

They believe the theft of jewelry was but a contributing cause for his flight, and that there is some other feature to the case which will startle the community when it becomes known.

DEMAND TROOPS TO QUELL RIOTS.

STRIKING STEVEDORES TERRORIZE SANTIAGO.

Loafing Longshoremen Start Reign of Bloodshed, Murder and Lawlessness—Police Are Powerless and Citizens of City Ask for American Soldiers to Protect Property.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAVANA (Cuba) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For two days Santiago has been terrorized by a mob of 2000 striking longshoremen. There have been two riots, hundreds of shots fired, many wounded and two are expected to die.

The police are powerless and the rural guard can do little else than guard the residence of the Mayor and civil Governor.

Business is paralyzed and the Chamber of Commerce had a meeting yesterday to formulate a request to Gov. Magoon for United States troops to preserve order.

No request for soldiers has been reported at the palace here, but it is more than likely that the matter would be kept secret after Friday's riot, in which many strikers were wounded with bullets and clubbed, and the police stoned. The strikers afterward demanded the removal of the Chief of Police, from the Mayor. That official, Enrique Mesa, refused, whereupon the strikers formulated a demand for his discharge.

On his refusal, a great mob gathered in front of the Hotel Luz and attacked the police. This time the strikers had arms and the battle was as fierce as many in the late revolution.

TEXAS CYCLONE REPORTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EMORY (Tex.) May 26.—Tonight it is possible to obtain a better idea of the damage done by yesterday's storm which passed through Emory, killing four persons and injuring and crippling many others, some of whom may die. The dead are: Walter Martin, Mr. Ivey, unknown woman, age about 35, and the 8-year-old son of J. F. Littlejohn.

Among the injured are seven white persons. A large number of negroes were hurt, it being estimated that thirty received wounds and bruises of greater or less severity.

The corn and cotton crops in the path of the storm were completely pulled up.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

GUTEMALA CITY, May 26.—Congress adjourned yesterday. Gen. Mariano Serano has been elected Vice-President of the republic, and Juan Barrios, who is now Minister of Foreign Relations, has been chosen second vice-president.

COLOR LINE IN PITTSBURGH.

Appointment of Negro as Valedictorian Arouses Resentment in Graduating High School Class.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fashionable suburb of Oakdale is shaken to its foundations by the race question as the result of the High School commencement held last evening at which a negro was valedictorian.

So bitter is the feeling that more than half of the members of the graduating class refused to attend the exercises and declare that they will not accept diplomas.

Several days ago President Johnston of the Oakdale schools, announced that Ray Wooten, a negro youth and son of the village barber, was the honor student in the graduating class, and that as such would be the class valedictorian.

This announcement met with all kinds of protests from the other members of the class and their parents. President Johnston refused to set the negro aside and the latter is said to have received a number of threats against his life if he attempted to carry out his part of the commencement programme. The exercises took place in the First Presbyterian Church last night, and Wooten delivered the valedictory address. There was no demonstration, but only a few of the twelve members of the graduating class appeared at the exercise.

NAVAL OFFICERS PAWN PROPERTY.

ENTERTAINMENT OF FOREIGN GUESTS IS EXPENSIVE.

Unlike Other Governments, the United States Places Burden of Social Receptions on Personal Basis and as a Result the "After Guard" Is Busted.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Many of the officers of Rear-Admiral Evans's fleet "have gone broke" as a result of the entertainment they gave the foreign naval officers who came to the Jamestown Exposition.

A number of the officers of low rank of the fleet were obliged to visit their "uncle" for the purpose of raising sufficient money to pay for the champagne and good food that the foreign officers consumed.

As a result of this shortage in naval pocketbooks, it is possible that a determined effort will be made next winter to get a bill through Congress providing for a general entertainment appropriation.

Officers of foreign military establishments have liberal funds placed at their disposal by their governments for entertaining distinguished visitors from abroad. The United States does not provide such funds.

TO WORK OUT AIRSHIPS.

BELL WILL EXPERIMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. Alexander Graham Bell leaves for his summer home in Nova Scotia next Tuesday and he will resume his work of perfecting his tetrahadal kite, which he hopes ultimately to be developed into a flying machine.

His work this summer will be in the direction of installing a motor to drive the kite instead of flying it by a rope. He has already produced a kite that carried a man on the flying rope and the kite ha sdemonstrated its ability as a lifting force.

For his experiments Prof. Bell has secured a gasoline motor that develops between twelve and fifteen horse-power with a total weight of 120 pounds. It is built according to special plans and is far lighter than the motor with which Wright brothers have made a number of flights in their machine at Dayton, O.

It is heavier than the motor that Prof. Langley had in his big flying machine, but the total weight of the machine to the area of supporting surface is less, and is about half the weight that has been carried by the Wrights in their flights. Prof. Bell sees no reason why the machine should not fly.

PRESIDENTIAL PROGRAMME.

LAWTON DEDICATION ADDRESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—After attending the funeral of Mrs. McKinley on Wednesday, President Roosevelt will go to Indianapolis, where he will deliver an address on Decoration Day at the unveiling of the monument erected to the memory of Maj.-Gen. Henry W. Lawton, who was killed in battle, in the Philippines. From Indianapolis the President will go to Lansing, Mich., where he will deliver an address on May 31, at the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Michigan Agricultural College, which was the first institution of its kind established in the United States. He will return to Washington Saturday.

DELMAS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—D. M. Delmas, and his partner, H. C. McPike, have arrived here from New York. As soon as their arrival became known it began to be rumored that Delmas had probably come to take part in some of the bribery cases.

Attorney McPike, speaking for the firm, said:

"As yet no overtures have been made to us to appear in any of these cases. I hardly think it likely that we shall undertake any cases here, excepting some that we left unfinished. That would require about three months and when they are finished, we shall return to New York, where we have located permanently.

"I believe that he would have won the Thaw case had it been tried in San Francisco or in any western city. One of the phases that spoiled our chances was the superfluity of expert testimony introduced."

STREET CAR COLLISION.

EL PASO (Tex.) May 26.—Five persons were seriously—one probably fatally—injured in a collision between two street cars on Boulevard avenue today. The most seriously hurt are: Mrs. L. F. Cox, Miss L. W. Calder, Miss Cora McGhee, Miss Mabel Nally and Miss Marie Rich, all cut and bruised.

WINE GROWERS PROTEST.

CIRCASSONNE (France) May 26.—Over 200,000 persons participated today in the demonstration of wine growers who are urging parliamentary relief against the making of impure wines. A resolution was passed rejecting the government's bill on the question as inadequate. Similar demonstrations took place in many other towns in the wine growing region.

FRICK MAKES DENIAL.

NEW YORK, May 26.—H. C. Frick today denied the published report that he was to erect at Pittsburgh at a cost of $5,000,000, a building to be known as the Pittsburgh Academy of Fine Arts. Of the story, Mr. Frick said:

"It is absurd. I am not going to give Pittsburgh an art institute."

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago experienced a day of climatic changes today, accompanied by rain and hail and high winds, which was enough to establish a record. The storm, which descended during the afternoon, flooding basements and causing a drop in temperature of twenty-seven degs., was one of the most unseasonable that ever blotted the fair name of the month of May. The maximum temperature was 72 deg. and the minimum 45.

Middle West temperatures:

Alpena, 48; Bismarck, 54; Cairo, 74; Cheyenne, 44; Cleveland, 62; Davenport, 46; Denver, 48; Des Moines, 48; Detroit, 62; Devils Lake, 52; Dodge City, 58; Dubuque, 42; Duluth, 40; Green Bay, 36; Helena, 54; Huron, 52; Indianapolis, 66; Marquette, 34; Memphis, 74; Milwaukee, 42; North Platte, 52; Omaha, 50; St. Louis, 64; St. Paul, 46; Sault Ste. Marie, 40; Springfield, Ill., 58; Springfield, Mo., 56; Wichita, 58.

ATTACKS NEW CHARTER.

Incorporating in a resolution the charges that the new Chicago charter is not only opposed to the best wishes of the people of Chicago, but that it also makes civil reform a farce, increases the burden of the small taxpayer, permits unjust special assessments, endangers the efficiency of the public schools, reduces the people's representatives in the City Council and prevents home rule, the United Societies for Local Self-Government at their annual convention today sounded what will perhaus prove the death knell of such legislation.

TO BUILD JEWISH CLUB.

District Grand Lodge, No. 6, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, will in all probability erect in Chicago a mammoth clubhouse for Jewish young men and women. The plan, the carrying out of which will involve about $100,000, was brought up at the opening session of the convention this morning.

FIGHT STILL WAGING.

The next development in the Board of Education entanglement will come tomorrow morning, when Attorneys Garnett & Garnett, representing the eight ousted trustees, will file a bill for injunction in the Circuit Court to restrain Mayor Busse from appointing eight new members and removing the octette which has been holding "rump" meetings in defiance to the Mayor.

FOUR SLAY SELVES.

Four persons in Chicago, two men and two women, found life not worth living, today. Two sought their deaths by inhaling gas, one hanged himself to a chandelier and one blew her brains out. Those who ended their lives were: Augustus De Lee, 35 years old, No. 24 Aberdeen street, hanged himself with curtain cord. Charles Westerman, 48 years old, No. 253 West Sixty-third street, asphyxiated. Mrs. Lydia Lunden, 44 years old, No. 322 Division street, bullet wound, self-inflicted. Catherine Kanten, 28 years old, No. 197 North Clark street, asphyxiated.

PROJECT CANAL SYSTEM.

Engineers working in the interest of a combination of New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Indianapolis capitalists are completing here plans for an extended system of canals. The system proposed is to extend from Indiana harbor to a point between Gary and Michigan City. The first surveys provide for waterways fifty miles long, to cost $10,000,000. The system is held necessary as an aid to development of the steel and iron industries to center in the Calumet region.

EPELEPTIC IS DROWNED.

While fishing from a pier in the lake at the foot of Lake street, this morning, Joseph Zeiger, 50 years old, No. 453 North Clark street, suffered a stroke of epilepsy and fell into the lake and was drowned.

MANY JOIN FORESTERS.

Twelve hundred candidates were initiated into Illinois State Court, Catholic Order of Foresters, at the Casino today. The occasion was the twenty-seventh annual celebration and the number of applicants for membership broke all the records of this organization.

SALOONS PAY MUCH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Official statistics at the Statehouse disclosed that the average tax paid by the saloons operating in Iowa, September 30, 1906, was $865.85. Of the total of $1,474,145.20 collected from saloons during the year mentioned, $548,526.26 went to county treasuries and $925,618.94 went to the city treasuries.

GOES BACK TO PRISON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MATTOON (Ill.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Claiming that he was unable to live up to the terms of his parole while associating with the companions of his boyhood, Ross Snapp of this city, of his own free will and unescorted by an officer, has returned to Chester penitentiary to serve out the remainder of his sentence for mayhem.

JAIL FOR REBATORS BEST CURE FOR EVIL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Interstate Commerce Commission has entered upon a more radical policy of treatment of corporations which persist in violating the law. Possessed of authority to investigate every phase of railroad business and having power to bring about the punishment of individuals as well as corporations, the commission is pushing its work with determination.

To several members of the commission was put this question:

"Are you going to send some one to jail?"

Judson C. Clements of Georgia, who has had fifteen years of service, replied:

"One of the most wholesome things that could happen will be the putting in pail of some man of prominence in the railroad world. It would do more than anything else to bring about better conditions. There are a lot of men of wealth and position who seem to think that there is no possibility of punishment being inflicted upon them, no matter how far they go. Once let the possibility become a demonstrated fact that jail doors can close on them and a most salutary lesson would be taught."

Questions of criminal prosecution by the commission have been delegated to Franklin K. Lane of California, one of the most energetic, and at the same time conservative, members. He was put the same question.

"Are you going to send some of the railroad men to jail?"

"I hope not," replied Mr. Lane. "I hope that it will not be necessary. If the railroads comply with the law, we will get on most harmoniously, but if the law is broken, then there will be trouble. We are determined to effect its enforcement, in letter and in spirit, so far as that is possible."

"Do you intend to have Edward H. Harriman prosecuted?"

"What for?"

"For conduct which was recently exposed during the hearing in New Lork."

"That whole subject is under consideration by the commission. If Mr. Harriman has been guilty of any infraction of the act to regulate commerce, he will, as a matter of course, be prosecuted—not at all because he is Mr. Harriman, but because he is an offender against the law.

"We don't intend to confine our energies to railroad men, but will extend them as well to shippers whom the law reaches."

San Francisco Temblor Did Not Effect Coast.

Thirty Years' Test Shows Important Facts.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Prof. George Davidson, president of the Seismological Society of America, said at a meeting of the society held yesterday at the United States Weather Bureau office, that there had been no difference in the level of the earth's surface about San Francisco Bay since 1877, when he first began his investigations of earthquakes.

Since that date he has had a solid concrete pier sunk off the Sausalito shore, and, according to the most minute measurements which he recently finished, whatever change has taken place, is too small for his calculations. No changes of level have taken place, says Prof. Davidson, except on alluvial or filled land. The level of solid rock is not changed to any perceptible degree.

A report was received at the meeting of a new seismograph invented by Prof. Odenbach, one of the Jesuit fathers of St. Ignatius College, Cleveland, O., which has the advantage of recording vibrations at a depth in the earth and transmitting the record to the surface.

WIDOW CLAIMANT APPEARS.

"BACHELOR" LEAVES A WIFE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It has just become known that the late Harrison Clothier, a Californian, who lived more than thirty years in Mount Vernon as an unmarried man, left a widow, Clarentine Clothier, now residing in New York.

Clothier left a will, in which $100 is bequeathed to his sister, Lydia J. Clothier, and the estate remaining to Herman Clothier of New York.

The Mount Vernon property is estimated as worth about $50,000, exclusive of other property reported left in Seattle and in California. Clothier was heavily interested in property in Skagit county, but before his death most of it was sold, but in none of his transactions does his wife's signature appear. A brother, W. Clothier of New Fork, is displeased because Harrison Clothier left nearly all of his estate to Herman Clothier, and he and the widow will try to break the will.

Clarentine Clothier was married to Harrison Clothier in 1863. A child was born, but at the age of 8 months it died, and Harrison Clothier left home. Mr. Clothier was the "father" of Mount Vernon, and was highly respected.

ONLY ONE LOCATED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Only one of nine men indicted by the grand jury a week ago has been located by the force of twenty deputy marshals sent out to round them up.

These indictments were the last of a series to be returned by the grand jury and were sealed when handed to the court. No intimation as to who the men indicted are has been given out, but the eight men summoned to answer to charges preferred by the government have disappeared.

The marshal's office admits that all the Seattle men indicted have abandoned their offices, and though a constant watch has been kept none has been arrested. There is a possibility that a tip went out to the indicted eight, but the marshal's office still insists upon regarding it as a coincidence. None of them can be found, however.

ENGLAND BUSY THINKING.

LONDON, May 26.—A Cabinet meeting was held Saturday night to determine the attitude Great Britain may adopt on the various questions to be taken up at the approaching Hague conference, early action having been prevented by the pressure of work consequent on the meeting of the imperial conference and the heavy legislative programme of Parliament. Instructions will be given to delegates to The Hague during the week, but the government will not make any announcement concerning Great Britain's attitude in the House of Commons or elsewhere, before the conference meets.

CAPTURE JAP FIREBUG.

SAN DIEGO, May 26.—Frank Matsumato, the Japanese accused of setting fire to the Imperial Hotel in this city yesterday, was captured today at La Jolla, a suburb, and lodged in the County Jail.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IMPROVING.

CHICAGO, May 26.—The condition of Miss Ethel Barrymore, who is ill at the Auditorium Hotel here, is said to be much improved tonight, and it is expected she will be able to leave her room in a day or two.

MACHINERY HOUSE BURNS.

SAN LUIS POTOSI (Mex.) May 26.—The great machinery supply and hardware house of Fogarty & Dickinson, one of the largest dealers in Mexico, was destroyed by fire today and caused a loss of $500,000.

GROOM WEIGHS QUARTER TON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WAYCROSS (Ga.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. T. Bronson of this place is the biggest bridegroom in the world. He tips the beam at just 570 pounds. Miss Lucia Allen, his little bride, weighs exactly 105.

Everything that Mr. Bronson possesses must be made to order. His suits take three times the quantity of cloth used for the ordinary man. He is two feet larger around the waist than around the shoulders. His knee is twice as much around as is his wife's slim waist. His trousers are only twenty-eight inches on the inside seam but forty-eight inches on the outside seam. His collars are twenty-two inches around.

ARREST WIFE DESERTER.

Young Bostonian Who Left Spouse Stranded in Los Angeles, Now in Cell.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 26.—Posing as a single man and shirking his duty to his young wife, did not prove a success for Cornelius Earl Perkins, scion of a wealthy Boston family, as 19-year-old George Howell, brother of the wife, turned knight errant in his sister's cause and now Perkins is locked up in jail on the charge of non-support.

Perkins married Pearl Howell, a few years ago, and took her to Los Angeles. One day he left her there stranded. Mrs. Perkins secured work, but finally had to appeal to her brother, who did a double shift as elevator pilot in the Equitable building, to get the money for a return ticket for her to Denver. Three months ago he sent it to her and she came back to the family home.

Nothing was heard from Perkins, in all this time, and Mrs. Perkins did not expect to see him again. A week ago last night, Howell and a boy friend were on the street when they happened to see Perkins and recognize him from a picture Mrs. Perkins has.

The boys followed Perkins to the Kane Hotel on Champa street and then the two went to police headquarters and had Perkins arrested. Perkins was astonished at his arrest, as he thought his wife was still in Los Angeles.

He had represented himself to be a single man and had secured a position with a market company. Unable to give bond, he is now in jail awaiting trial.

WOMAN SLAYER'S LOVE WAS FIRM.

MRS. BRADLEY SAYS SHE WOULD HAVE REMAINED TRUE.

Spurned Mistress of Former Senator Brown, of Utah, Who Shot Him, Now Regrets Her Transgression and Says She Will Try to Live for Children's Sake.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The trial of Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, slayer of ex-Senator Arthur A. Brown, of Utah, last fall, in the Raleigh Hotel, will be opened in Criminal Court No. 1 on October 7 next. Mrs. Bradley is enduring the delay with patience but it is patent that the long strain of summer weather and uncertainty will do much to undermine her already delicate health.

"I would have kept faith with Senator Brown to the end of my life," declared Mrs. Anna M. Bradley today. "However, I was not allowed to. My confidence was abused, my great faith was outraged, and I suffered the humiliation of being thrown aside like a worn-out toy, probably to make a place for a new one.

"I know that I have taken the crooked path, but it was that I might serve my idol, to whom I was always true," continued the little woman, her face flushing.

"I do not know what I shall do if I live here." The sweet face grew white and the tiny hands began to tremble at the thought of not living at all—perhaps living for something worse, but she almost instantly regained that wonderful self-possession that she has worn ever since the night of the tragedy.

"I am not afraid to face the world. It is always ready to deal out more punishment to an unfortunate woman who has been placed in my position.

"I sometimes wish," she continued wistfully, "that I could creep away to some quiet corner and live my life in peace and quietness, where no one knows me. But that is impossible. I will have to fight with the world for my children's sake. I have to think of some way to provide for and educate them. Not only have I a mother's duty toward them, but I have to endeavor to make up to them all the trouble I have brought upon them. I must make them strong so they can withstand the slights and sneers of the world which are sure to be their lot."

Mrs. Bradley was again overcome with emotion and wept silently for several minutes. Finally she wiped her eyes, and, throwing back her shoulders, said:

"But if I ever get the chance I will work for and think of them alone, and a mother's love can make up for much."

YOUTH SELF-SLAIN.

SUICIDE IS SUSPECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry D. Sellers, aged 20 years, of one of Pittsburgh's oldest and best families, was found dead in his bedroom at the Sellers home, at No. 1422 Wightman street, Squirrel Hill, shortly after noon today, with a bullet hole through his temple.

Although the members of the family maintain that he met with an accident which resulted in his death, Deputy Coroner John Black believes that he committed suicide and is making an investigation.

According to the family, young Sellers told them this morning that he intended to shoot a dog which had grown old and decrepit, some time during the day. They think that he sat in his bedroom and shot at the dog when he saw it walking through the yard, but that in some manner the revolver was exploded accidentally and shot the youth instead. Coroner Black considers this theory highly improbable.

Dr. J. A. Lichty, the family physician, was hurriedly summoned when the body was found, and discovered that life had been extinct for some time. His report to the Coroner was that the boy had died from a pistol wound.

ENDS HIS MISERY.

PREFERS DEATH TO INSOMNIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, May 26.—John G. Merle, 38 years of age, an employé of the Consumers' Mutual Supply Company, committed suicide in a barn in the rear of his home at Oak Park, a Sacramento suburb, at an early hour this morning.

Merle had been troubled with insomnia for several months and his health became undermined. He arose from his bed early this morning, went to the barn and blew out his brains.

His wife entered the barn a few minutes afterward and found his body lying in a pool of blood. Merle was still alive when found by his wife, but died before a physician could be summoned.

RYAN ATTENDS TRIAL.

SENSATIONAL CASE BEGINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COVINGTON (Va.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Intense interest centers in the trial, which begins tomorrow, of Judge W. G. Loving for the murder of Theodore Estes, whom he accused of drugging and wronging his young daughter, Elizabeth.

Thomas F. Ryan, whose splendid country home has been occupied by Judge Loving and who is a warm personal friend of the latter, has arrived to do what he can for the defendant. It is admitted that the life and liberty of Judge Loving depends upon the testimony of his daughter. Since the murder of young Estes it is said she has denied that Estes wronged her or that he committed any improper act.

Friends of Estes claim that he simply gave the girl a small glass of whisky after they returned from a drive. The impression is that Judge Loving acted impulsively upon some hearsay evidence, without consulting his daughter as to the truth of the rumor, called Estes out and shot him without giving him an opportunity to explain or clear himself of the charges.

The families are highly prominent and the case will be bitterly fought. The daughter may have to admit disgrace to save her father.

NO ONE WANTS JESSE.

INDICTED, BUT NO FUGITIVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) May 26.—Jesse Spicer is probably the only man in the United States under indictment for three years for whom no reward has ever been offered, and who is a fugitive from justice with no one looking for him.

When the State militia, under the orders of the Governor, swooped down on the feud-ridden town of Jackson, in Breathitt county, and stopped the series of assassinations, Jesse Spicer quietly packed his trunk and slipped away. In the excitement he was not missed, though it is charged that he carried away with him many thousands of dollars.

Detectives employed by northern investors reported that for several years Spicer was the leader of a band of men that had received money from all parts of the United States, advertising extensively and selling claims to Breathitt and Perry counties timber land to which they gave titles. The deeds were executed and recorded, but the described property was afterward reported fictitious.

Spicer had been closely connected with the Hargises during the reign of assassination and has been indicted in both Breathitt and Fayette counties for the murders of Dr. Coxe, James Cockrill and James B. Marcum. He is under indictment in Breathitt county for having forged deeds to hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property to which no title could be given. When last heard of Spicer was in San Francisco.

MAY IRWIN IS MARRIED AGAIN.

STAGE FAVORITE WILL LATER MANAGE HER MANAGER.

Only Her Sons Were Witnesses, and Had the Weather Been Decent, the Girl With the Sunny Smile Would Have Wed Under the Blue Sky. To Appear in Vaudeville.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAYTON (N. Y.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the music room of the forty-room unfinished granite cottage on Irwin Island in the St. Lawrence River, May Irwin, the actress, and Kurt Eisfeldt, her manager and press agent for the past four seasons, were quietly married at 2 o'clock today. Rev. Theodore Hayden, rector of Christ Episcopal Church of Clayton, officiated.

The only witnesses to the wedding were the two sons of the bride, Harry, who holds a responsible position with the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company in New York, and Walter, who spends his time between the city and his island home. Owing to the unfinished condition of the buildings and the general disorder about the place, it was not decided until late this morning where the ceremony would take place.

Had the day been without rain, the services would have been held in the open, but this scheme had to be abandoned. The party arrived here yesterday noon and were at once taken to Irwin Island, which is a beautiful plot of over 200 acres, three miles west, but in plain sight of Clayton.

Here the time was quietly spent, no visitors calling since their arrival at the express wish of Miss Irwin. Up to a day or two ago it was planned to make a trip through the Eastern States, but this was abandoned this morning. The couple will remain at the Thousand Islands, where they will entertain their friends until September, when Mrs. Eisfeldt returns to the stage, this time in vaudeville.

Mr. Eisfeldt is a Norwegian, 39 years of age, and has made many friends here during the past three years. Every one at the Thousand Islands knows May Irwin, and her cottage is the most noted place of entertainment in the whole region.

NAVY FIELD MASS.

Fifteen Thousand Men Kneel in Honor to Dead Heroes of the Spanish War.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Fifteen thousand armed men knelt in the sodden grass of the parade ground at Brooklyn Navy Yard today, participating in the fifth military field mass in memory of the sailors and soldiers who lost their lives during the war with Spain.

In the center of the parade, an altar had been erected, and at this, the priests, robed in white and gold, celebrated solemn high mass in memory of the dead.

The military forces present included the sailors and marines from the navy yard and the Twelfth United States Infantry from Governor's Island, several companies of the national guard of New York, and a naval reserve battalion. There were also a thousand men of the First and Second regiments of Irish Volunteers and 350 boys in white uniforms representing the Catholic boys naval battalion.

In a place of honor, in brilliant scarlet were Canadian troops who came to New York as guests of the local branches of the Spanish-American war veterans, to take part in the services. The Spanish war veterans, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Hebrew Veterans, the Sons of Veterans, and the Army and Navy Union were among the semi-military organizations which participated.

POLITICAL.

HUGHES TAFT'S RUNNING MATE.

Combination Is Pleasing to Political Chiefs.

Relations Between Leaders Are Very Close.

Secretary Got Governor His Famous Job.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The recent suggestion that the strongest possible Republican combination for 1908 would be "Taft and Hughes," are not only pleasing to the managers of the Taft boom but the hope that the Empire State Governor will tail the ticket is based on something beside mere desire.

Relations between the War Secretary and Gov. Hughes are friendly because of the close friendship between the Governor and the Secretary's brother, Henry W. Taft of New York. The fact that Mr. Taft could have been counsel for the Armstrong committee which investigated the life insurance scandal, but preferred to throw the opportunity to Mr. Hughes, is counted upon by some persons close to Secretary Taft to insure the Governor's friendship for the Taft boom.

According to the story told here, Mr. Taft was picked as counsel for the Armstrong committee, but not feeling able to accept, urged the selection of Mr. Hughes, who was thus enabled to score a great personal triumph before the public and went to the Governor's chair in consequence.

On a recent visit to President Roosevelt, Mr. Taft gave out a statement about the political situation in New York State which was generally regarded as an effort by the President, through Mr. Taft, to aid Gov. Hughes in his work for good legislation in Albany. Mr. Taft's statement was also designed to remind Gov. Hughes that the Taft forces were friendly.

A close observer of politics, who has just returned to Washington from a trip made to sound political opinion in New York, Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Georgia, gave it as his opinion that today not only could President Roosevelt get the nomination if he wanted it, but he could get it for almost any candidate for whom he might express preference. Taft managers, however, are overlooking no opportunity to strengthen their candidate and to supplement his strength, if nominated, by a vigorous running mate in Gov. Hughes.

Many prominent Republicans here agree that President Roosevelt and Gov. Hughes are the only big men who are winning any public sentiment for themselves. As is the case with every member of the Cabinet, Secretary Taft's official achievements are credited to the President. Gov. Hughes, having cut out his official course entirely independent of White House influence, is getting credit for independent success.

TAFT FOR REVISION.

ACCEPTS STANDPAT GAUNTLET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary Taft is now squarely before the country as the tariff revision candidate for the presidential nomination, and he is not disturbed by his denunciation by the Protective Tariff League as a free trader. He regards this characterization as extreme, but he will gladly accept the challenge of the high protectionists and go before the country as favoring a modification of the tariff.

Secretary Taft is convinced that there is a strong sentiment throughout the country in favor of a revision of the tariff, and this is especially strong on account of the increased cost of living, for which the tariff is largely responsible.

Representatives of the standpatters last week squarely put the question up to Taft, notifying him that he must take occasion to publicly modify his tariff views or expect their unrelenting opposition. Mr. Taft promptly replied that he does not propose to recant, that he will stick to his position on the tariff issue, let the consequences be what they may.

Of course this decision of Mr. Taft's is of superlative political importance. The tariff interests have always been the heart and core of the Republican organization, and his action sets in motion against him a "machine" which numbers its parts in every State in the Union and which is particularly strong in its representation among Republican politicians. With this issue drawn as it is now, an anti-Taft and anti-revision element will begin its fight on the Secretary of War.

IOWANS STALK TAFT.

WANT POLITICAL SPEECHES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Announcement that Secretary of War W. H. Taft will visit Iowa the middle of June has stimulated the Republican factional leaders of this State to a new line of efforts. It was the understanding that Secretary Taft would simply visit Iowa City for the purpose of delivering the commencement address at the State University commencement and would then go on his way without affording opportunity to those who would like to utilize every chance to play a few more rounds in the political game. Today, however, it is made known that while the Secretary may steer clear of Des Moines, that he will stop at Sioux City and that he will not be averse to listening to all who may wish to communicate to his ear political news of importance.

As a result of this latest intimation the leaders of both Republican factions are sparring for position and will try to convince the Secretary that it is to his interest to place his affairs in their charge.

Consultations are being held, and plans being arranged to meet Taft at Iowa City and, as a result, the Secretary is sure to have a revelation of what Iowa factionalism means.

Gov. Cummins has arranged to meet Taft as soon as he enters the State.

The anti-Cummins faction is anxious to have Lafe Young, editor of the Des Moines Capital, and who accompanied Taft on his trip around the world, head another delegation to greet the Secretary.

It is believed the real cause of a change of the Taft plans in deciding to make a bit of political capital out of his visit here is the stories which have repeatedly gone out that Fairbanks on his recent visit here made a most favorable impression and that he might stand a good show of capturing the Iowa delegation to the national convention next year.

BRYAN ON BROTHERLY LOVE.

LINCOLN (Neb.) May 26.—William J. Bryan delivered the address at the Lincoln printers' memorial exercises today, dwelling on the value of ideals and the beauty of fraternity.

A STRONG WEEK.

This paradoxical title is in this instance an absolute reality; a proven fact; not a figure of speech, but a statement backed by actual, indisputable figures and susceptible of easy verification.

Yesterday closed a remarkable week in The Times' advertising history, showing unusual strength in the way of business prosperity in the Southwest, the volume of paid matter being greater than during any similar period in the existence of this journal.

Below are a week's actual advertising figures, the record of The Times standing unparalleled by any newspaper in the world.

The statement covers last year's business, during the third week of May, compared with the corresponding period of 1907, ending yesterday, May 25. Figures are stated in columns of 21 inches each:

	The Times		Examiner		Herald		Express		Record		News
	1907	1906	1907	1906	1907	1906	1907	1906	1907	1906	1907	1906
Sunday	496	411	279	205	85	111	....	....	....	....	....	....
Monday	71	71	47	47	23	25	78	40	42	34	24	14
Tuesday	117	98	71	63	42	24	69	41	40	26	29	18
Wednesday	147	99	85	55	35	25	94	51	51	33	30	19
Thursday	140	100	78	61	44	25	94	51	51	33	31	19
Friday	131	108	80	57	34	33	72	41	40	37	30	23
Saturday	110	101	76	64	35	29	93	54	52	49	30	23

Fiesta Edition advertising not included.

The comparison is the more remarkable when it is considered that last year was the most prosperous in the country's history, and it was considered through all of 1906 that The Times' advertising had reached high-water mark. The gain shown of 224 columns in the short space of a week's time is therefore marvelous and denotes a healthy business condition in this incomparable region.

THE TIMES CIRCULATION FOR EACH DAY OF THE LAST WEEK.

WITH BULLFROGS ON THE JUMP.

ANGELENOS HUGELY ENJOYING MINING CAMP LIFE.

Rhyolite Takes Down the Bars for Visitors and Offers Hospitality Unstinted—Whirls in Autos Over Desert and Up Mountains and Trips Into Bowels of the Earth.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RHYOLITE (Nev.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the Los Angeles business men's party it has been a day among the bullfrogs—"The Original Bullfrog," the "Jumbo Bullfrog" and all the other bullfrogs in the Bullfrog district. There have been bullfrogs couchant, bullfrogs rampant and bullfrogs en passant. Rhyolite is in the heart of the Bullfrog district and is always on the jump. There is no Sunday here, no day, no night. The bullfrog is eternally wideawake.

An enthusiastic committee of "Bullfrogs" met our fifty-six Angeleños at Beatty and escorted us to Rhyolite, where a huge silver key to the city was formally presented in the Stock Exchange, amid an imposing array of blackboards and chalked quotations. Rhyolite is two years old only, but boasts of bigger stock market blackboards than does Los Angeles.

The address of welcome was delivered by Judge L. O. Ray, who is slated to be the first Mayor of Rhyolite, when the city is incorporated.

The Judge told us of the wonderful growth of Rhyolite. It was platted in 1905 and already has a population of 4000. It is the railroad center of Southern Nevada. Two roads are now running trains in and a third road (Borax Smith's) is being built.

The Judge also told us of the unadulterated democracy of Rhyolite, where "business men, brokers, blacksmiths, mine owners and cooks all meet on one level, for the greasy cook of today is the millionaire of tomorrow."

Frank G. Tyrrell happily responded for the Los Angeles contingent. He congratulated Rhyolite on its progress and on the fine character of its population. He complimented the mining industry on its achievements and the miner on his courage and steadfastness "in chasing the pot of gold always to be found at the end of the rainbow, although sometimes it is a hell of a long way to the end of this rainbow." In conclusion, Mr. Tyrrell invited the "Bullfrogs" to make a summer visit to Los Angeles, "the city of lovely climate, cool sea breezes, bright eyes and soft arms." His speech made a great hit.

At the end came cheers of Rhyolite for Los Angeles and cheers of Los Angeles for Rhyolite. Rhyolite's hospitality to the visitors has been unstinted. All the bars have been let down. Every automobile in town has been turned loose, and this means something where automobile hire is at the rate of $125 per day.

We have been whirled over the desert and up and down the mountains, have been taken down mine tunnels and into drifts and crosscuts, have been shown the new 100-stamp mill of Schwab's five-million-dollar Shoshone mine. The first man to buy a mine here was Carl Leonardt, the cement king.

This evening Rhyolite entertained the visitors with a vaudeville show at the new operahouse, a typical mining camp structure. All the members of the party are in excellent health and are enjoying the trip hugely. The weather is as cool as in Los Angeles.

HANSEN TALKS TO HUMMEL.

Postmaster Interested Officially in Convict Lawyer's Relation Toward Mrs. Howard Gould.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—Third Deputy Postmaster Hansen today visited Abe Hummel in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island and talked with the lawyer about the Gould case. The commissioner found Hummel in his bed, recovering from an acute attack of kidney trouble and enjoying the first restful day since his incarceration. He asked Hummel if he had told Mrs. Howard Gould that she was being followed by detectives and whether Hummel had said that the detectives were police detectives or private detectives.

The lawyer said that while he was Mrs. Gould's counsel he told her detectives were watching her movements but he did not know whether they were police or private detectives. Hummel expressed his willingness to put himself at Mrs. Gould's command in any way, publicly or privately, in her present trouble.

With regard to detectives described by Mrs. Gould as following her Mr. Hansen later said that Mrs. Gould would be permitted to see photographs of the detectives, or see the detectives and pick out those she suspected of following her.

Mr. Hansen said he had advised Lieut. Peabody not to resign until Commissioner Bingham made his attitude toward the lieutenant known, and added that the Police Commissioner had an investigation under way in a matter similar to the Gould case.

At the Churches Yesterday.

The Lamb of God.

At the First United Brethren Church yesterday, Rev. Dr. L. S. Lowell preached on "The Lamb of God." In the course of the sermon, he said:

"The Christ whom John the Baptist pointed out as the Lamb of God is a being worthy of our prayerful consideration. Let us this morning behold this Lamb as the gift of the All-Father love; a gift that carried with it the infinite love of God for the race; a gift that provided for the restoration of lost manhood and caused the tide of human life to flow into a new channel.

"Again, let us behold the Lamb as a revelation of God, a divine Christ, not a good man only, but God manifest in the flesh. To obliterate a divine Christ from Christianity is to rob it of its life and power. Christianity without a divine Christ is a stupendous farce.

"It is also our privilege to behold the Lamb as a personal Savior. He comes to help man in his desires and efforts for righteousness. He takes hold of man and lifts him out of and away from his polluted self.

"Then behold the Lamb as a complete expression of the true life. The real purpose of human life was not understood until Christ revealed it. Before that time pleasure was the supreme object of life. Christ gave a new conception of life. He regarded happiness and duty as incidental, and only a means to an end. He injected the element of love into life, and made it the crowning glory of human endeavor. Not love of self, but loving service to God and one's fellowmen, He taught.

"I would also have you behold the Lamb of God as a companion, friend and helper.

"The conflict for the supremacy of the Lamb is now being waged. The war between good and evil began with man's advent in the world, and it will not end until the Lamb is crowned King of all the earth."

The Returned Flags.

At the First Presbyterian Church yesterday Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage preached on "The Returned Flags," taking as his text Isaiah xliii, 6: "I will say to the north, Give up, and to the south, Keep not back." In the course of his remarks he said:

"The North gave back the Confederate flags because the two sections of our country, by travel and intercommunication, got acquainted and learned to know each other. The northerners traveled South and they had a taste of southern hospitality, including the hot breads and the johnnycakes, and they liked them. And the southerners traveled North and learned that there was some chivalry and warm, loving hearts beating among the New England snows, as well as among the Georgia flowers. And a new generation began to grow up which knew not Joseph. The college boys of the North would persist in falling in love with the bright-eyed maidens from the South. The sons of the old southern brigadier-generals would persist in attacking the firesides of their fathers' old enemies and carrying away the northern girls as willing captives in the old war called Love. Cupid's darts were flying everywhither, until at last the North awoke and said: 'Why, these southern boys are not born with horns and cloven feet.' And the southerners began saying: 'Why, these northerners do love something besides the dollar.'

"Then the golden cords of affection began to entwine themselves about northern heart and southern heart, until the same blood by the cradle was being pumped through the arteries of both. Had the North known the South and the South known the North in 1857, as they do in 1907, there would have been no Civil War. That war for the most part was caused by the ignorance of the different sections of each other.

"Thus, brave men of the North and brave men of the South, in the name of our reunited country, before this approaching Memorial Day, I salute you. You two classes of veterans have not only proved to the world that you are physical heroes, but greater than this, that you are moral and spiritual heroes. You have not only proved to the great, wide world that you have courage and backbone enough to fight, but that you also have nobility of soul enough to forget and forgive past differences. In this beautiful land of ours, for three hundred and sixty-four days out of the year, we only want one flag. That flag must be the Stars and Stripes. We want it waving from every home, every schoolhouse and every church and every legislative hall. But on the spring Memorial Day, we like to see the folds of the old Confederate flag for a little while wrapped about the folds of the Stars and Stripes which once battled with it. That Confederate flag is the emblem of many a heroic deed of the true American heart, as the United States flag is also the emblem of many a true heroic deed.

"The northerners have given back to the southern States the Confederate flags. By that symbol we say: 'The war of 1861 has forever passed away.' But today let us enter into another compact. Let the South today bring out her old tattered flags. Let the northern soldiers bring out today again their old tattered flags. And let the ragged folds of these old banners be wrapped about each other, as North and South clasp hands and say: 'We are brothers. We have the same government. We have the same land. And as one nation we will always live—blessing the common heritage of the brave deeds of the Boys in Blue and the Boys in Gray.'

"Thank God for the day when the northern States returned the Confederate flags captured in battle. By that act they truly and forever captured the southern hearts in love. Yes, at last the North and the South are truly united and are one."

BIG WILL FIGHT BEGUN.

Argument in Millionaire Connor Probate Contest Is Opened in St. Louis Court.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The legal battle over the estate of the late State Senator Thomas Connor, the millionaire mine owner, whose insane widow, Mrs. Malissa Connor, is a sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Beach of Los Angeles, opened yesterday, when arguments as to jurisdiction were made before Judge Wurdeman of the St. Louis County Probate Court, on a motion of Col. William H. Phelps, under appointment by the Jasper County Probate Court as guardian of Mrs. Connor.

He had moved to dismiss the petition of D. C. Taylor, Public Administrator of St. Louis county, and this petition asked that the action of the Jasper County Court be set aside, and that a guardian be appointed by the St. Louis County Court.

A decision in favor of St. Louis county may mean a difference of several hundred thousand dollars in the share of the estate that will go to the widow, now a patient in St. Vincent's Institution for the Insane. The estate is valued at between $1,500,000 and $3,000,000.

NO ULTIMATUM ISSUED.

LONDON, May 26.—The Foreign Office has received a cable dispatch from Lionel E. G. Carden, Minister resident to the Central American Republics, denying the report recently circulated in the United States and Europe, that he had issued an ultimatum to Costa Rica, demanding that the Republic pay its debts to Great Britain within two weeks. The government will publish Mr. Carden's dispatch, together with a denial that such action by Great Britain is contemplated.

CAMPAIGNING FOR OWENS RIVER.

Energetic Work of Committee to Get Out the Vote Is Telling—Citizens Volunteer to Work at the Polls and to Provide Automobiles for Voters.

THE plans of Chairman Perry W. Weidner and Secretary M. Lissner of the Owens River Campaign Committee at the Chamber of Commerce for election day, June 12, contemplate the most thorough work ever seen at a bond election in Los Angeles.

Energetic efforts will be made to get the greatest number of votes into the ballot boxes, and secure a full expression of the will of the people.

It is hoped to enlist fully 1000 volunteer workers at the polls and the use of several hundred autos and carriages in transporting voters. Already more than two hundred volunteer workers and owners of forty automobiles have signed the register at the Chamber of Commerce committee rooms, and many more are needed.

A special committee from the Realty Board is working in coöperation with the Campaign Committee on the details of the big election day organization. This committee is headed by Gilbert S. Wright, as chairman. From its numbers there is a special automobile committee of four members: Gilbert S. Wright, Charles G. Hubbard, A. J. Benedict, Herbert L. Cornish.

The real estate men have responded promptly to the call for active workers for the success of the Owens River bonds. It is a close race between the real estate men and the laboring men which group enlists the largest number of active workers and performs the greatest service for the success of the water project.

Chairman Wright, in behalf of the Wright & Callender Company, headed the list by donating the services of five automobiles and chauffeurs.

The Erkenbrecher Syndicate followed closely with the following communication:

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

LOS ANGELES (Cal.) May 23, 1907.

To the Honorable Chairman of the Owens River Water Bonds Campaign Committee, City.

Dear Sir: We, the undersigned, being voters residing in the city of Los Angeles, and being all members of the Erkenbrecher Syndicate, Limited, hereby offer our services in our respective precincts on the day of the water bond election June 12, to work under supervision of your committee.

The Erkenbrecher Syndicate desires to offer on that day its automobile, with a competent chauffeur, to work under your direction in whatever part of the city you think best, from the time the polls open until they close.

We beg further to state that our offices on that day will be closed for the purpose of permitting us to work for the bond issue, which we believe is of vital interest to every citizen and for the future continued prosperity of Los Angeles.

It might be of interest to your committee to know that the Erkenbrecher Syndicate will put out, for a period of two weeks before election day, in the city of Los Angeles, in conspicuous places, 100 12-sheet posters, in two colors, urging all of the voters to get out and work for and vote for the bonds.

Respectfully submitted,

TALKS TO YOUNG WOMEN.

President Gates of Pomona College Explains Meaning of Education to Y.W.C.A. Students.

President Gates of Pomona College delivered an interesting address to the students of the Young Women's Christian Association yesterday afternoon.

After a review of the educational work of the association, and expressing commendation of its practical nature, and especially of the emphasis laid upon domestic science, domestic arts and upon such lines of study as would enable the young woman deprived of a college education to catch the inspiration that knowledge brings, the president drew some pictures of attempts at home life without training that were miserable failures. He said that women were slaves in the past, not because they were unworthy, but because they were weaker than men.

"But, speaking of slavery," he said, "we are getting better, and such institutions as this are helping. I do not say this because I am expected to, but because it is true. The way out of these difficulties is the educational way, not only the practical education but that for which our colleges stand. If we believe that there is a God, that there is a Spirit nearer than hands and feet, let us believe thoroughly in Him. He knows what is best for us. No man hath seen God but He hath revealed Himself through His Son. Have we not faith enough to lay hold? He loves us with a perfect love.

"Education helps us in leading up to the spiritual life. Education in general leads to a larger universe. Education gives us a retreat for the ills of life; not that it fortifies us against them, but strengthens us in them. That is the spirit of the Young Women's Christian Association.

"I congratulate you on the fine success that you are having here," added President Gates. "I congratulate the leaders on the joy that must be theirs in seeing the work prosper. I rejoice with you and I count it a great joy to be with you in so far as to express my interest."

CRIPPLE MADE HAPPY.

Salvation Army Officer Wheels Him on to Auditorium Stage to Hear Miss Booth.

Of the attentive hearers of Miss Eva Booth's eloquent address, yesterday afternoon, none enjoyed it more thoroughly than Thomas Bishop, a cripple who lives near Central avenue and East Eighth street.

When Bishop had slowly wheeled himself into the lobby of the Auditorium, he was told that he could not propel his chair farther.

While sitting there, his face clouded with disappointment, one of the Salvation Army officers who accompanies Miss Booth on her travels—saw the man and kindly asked him what the trouble was. Bishop said he had come a long way to hear Miss Booth, that he was crippled and unable to cope with the crowd. The army officer wheeled the cripple to a convenient place on the left wing of the stage and from this point of vantage Bishop heard the whole address.

USE PASADENA ESTATE.

Iowa Bank Is Saved from Ruin By Sale—Woodbury Property Given for Guarantee.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARSHALLTOWN (Iowa) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The run on the First National Bank, the oldest banking institution in this city, which began Friday afternoon on wild street rumors regarding differences arising among the bank's officers, continued Saturday until the close of the institution.

A syndicate of Marshalltown capitalists, who have been negotiating for a week or more to buy the bank, succeeded last night, and the new owners are now in possession.

President John P. Woodbury resigned after turning over the $100,000 plant of the Iowa Artificial Ice and Refrigerating Company, here, and the $30,000 electric-light plant at Nevada, Iowa, besides his interest in the three-story Woodbury Block, where the bank is located to guarantee the new purchasers against loss.

The F. J. Woodbury estate of Pasadena valued at a quarter of a million dollars, put up its proportion of collateral to secure the purchasers, although both the F. J. and John P. Woodbury holdings are in the nature of insurance to guarantee and will far more than represent any actual loss.

JOE CHAMBERLAIN BETTER.

SAINT RAPHAEL (France) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain who have been sojourning here for some time will return to England in a few days. Chamberlain is very much improved in health, but considerable time must elapse before he will be able to reenter public life.

SPEND MILLION ON TEMPLE.

DENVER (Colo.) May 26.—That the Mining Temple to be erected in Denver by the National Mining Congress shall be a magnificent building, to cost a million dollars, was practically decided by the Executive Committee of the congress at a meeting in this city last night.

A FEW DAYS MORE OF THE CLOSING OUT AUCTION SALE

Conradi
Monday, Tuesday,
Perhaps Wednesday
203-205 South Spring Street

I expected to close this auction sale last week. Saturday night I found that a considerable stock of fine jewelry and diamonds was still on hand. It must be sold, as I am going out of business and am closing out my interests altogether, without limit or reserve. The remaining stock is very desirable. It goes on sale today and tomorrow—the sale will continue Wednesday also, provided all the goods are not sold before that day.

SALES DAILY 2 TO 6 P. M.
Come in the forenoon and select the goods you wish to bid on

If you have been in the store during this sale, you will realize its absolutely genuine character. The goods are all my own selection throughout—high grade, honest goods. They are going at low prices—the prices are likely to be still lower this week, as we must put on the pressure to move the goods. Visit the sale today or tomorrow. Take advantage of it.

LOOLOOS LOSE FINAL GAME.

Derrick Makes the Fans Howl by Poor Decisions.

Donahue Is Thrown Out of It for Kicking.

Nagle Has Hard Time Trying to Play Short.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bobby Groom pitched Portland into a 5 to 1 victory on the Vaughn-street grounds today. He proved a succession of delights to the fans and was also a surprise, for on his last appearance before the Tourists he was scratched and clawed in a frightful manner. Bill Burns, the side-wheeler, passed out the bends and shoots for the Looloos, and in the initial canto Portland galloped one home.

Another pleasant surprise was in store for the fans today, for Derrick folded his tents and stole away, unwept by any in this village. He has been the most cordially hated umpire to appear here for some time. Some funny features of today's game were his decisions. His heart seemed to smite him when Portland got to loping around the circuit, so when a chance came for a bum decision Derrick handed it to Donahue. Donahue noted an exception, and during a diamond mass meeting that followed, hurled a glove at the umpire, for which he was duly chased out of the game. Carson took Donny's place.

Whether McCredie's telegram to Cal Ewing is the cause of Derrick's departure, or whether he goes to Oakland, or is off on a short honeymoon, nobody here knows.

Los Angeles acted like a lot of ball players that were going to do business when the entertainment began. Carlisle swatted safely and Groom issued a pass to Ellis. Brashear hit to Groom and Bobby shot it to Mott and Mott to Donahue. Shinn made a stop that was good enough to put in an art museum, and that was the end of the Angels.

In the opening sally for us, Lovett wanged safe. Shinn sent him to the morgue as he tried for second. Casey straightened the kinks out of Burns's shoot. This put two white wings on the sacks. Bassey was wiffed and the shout of joy became a whisper. Donahue helped himself to a swift poke to right and Shinn scored. Joy, joy. Then came Manager Mack. The fans called on him to kill the ball. He did. Bang! and the ball sneaked past Jud Smith and romped to the fence for three stations and two runs were jammed home, making three.

This was all until the fifth. Cravath biffed for two way stations. Nagle came through with a single and the lone score was made. A very fashionable double, executed with lightning-like rapidity by Casey, who nailed Eager's liner, touched Nagle as he went speeding by and then whipped it to Carson, put us out of danger. In the eighth, Portland made it two more. Walter Nagle had a messed up time of it at short and with his foozlers and a walk the runs were made. Moore and McCredie worked the double steal, Moore going to second and McCredie across the pan.

TEAMS BREAK EVEN.

RALLY IN LAST INNING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Oakland and San Francisco broke even today. Each game was won in the last inning. In the morning game San Francisco's score was blank until the last inning, when two hits, assisted by Bliss's error, netted two runs, and won the game. In the afternoon game Oakland scored six runs in the ninth inning. Bliss made a three-bagger. Scores:

STATE LEAGUE BALL.

STOCKTON WHITEWASHED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, May 26.—Good fielding and hits bunched in three innings won today's State League game for the local team from Stockton. Arrellanes and Moskiman pitched great ball. Score:

San José, 2; hits, 6; errors, 1.
Stockton, 0; hits, 5; errors, 0.
Batteries—Arrellanes and Kent; Moskiman and Hackett.

Oakland Beaten.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The Cordovas won an easy victory from Oakland today in a listless game. Price of the Oakland team was hammered hard at times, and from the first inning on the result was never in doubt. Score:

Cordova, 6; hits, 8; errors, 1.
Oakland, 2; hits, 7; errors, 5.

POMONA BASEBALL.

U.S.C. IS CONFIDENT.

Pomona and U.S.C. will play the deciding baseball game on Thursday instead of this afternoon as planned on Bovard Field. The change in date is made at Pomona's request, as several of her players will be unable to be out today. U.S.C. won from Pomona Saturday with a score of 10 to 7 and Pomona will attempt to regain her lost laurels on Memorial Day.

After allowing Occidental to defeat her twice, and Pomona once, and then Pomona defeating Occidental the previous Saturday, the dope seemed all against U.S.C. Should she win Thursday it would place her fourth in the percentage column.

Bridwel will pitch and will have behind him the regular line-up. Enthusiasm is running high at the Methodist camp and as the team batted Daly out of the box Saturday, they should not lose much time in sizing him up in the next game.

Minor Baseball.

The following results of baseball games played in the city and vicinity have been received:

At the Playa del Rey grounds, the Western Door and Sash Company beat Playa del Rey, 6 to 4. At Prager Park, Anderson & Chanslor scored 13 against 10 for the Paraffine Paint Company. The Morans beat the Giants, 5 to 2, and the Hamburgers, 4 to 3, at the Chutes grounds. At San Diego, the home team beat Pasadena, 4 to 0. At Santa Ana, the Booth Neighbors were beaten by Santa Ana, 14 to 0. Nofzigers beat the Seal Gardens, 3 to 1, at Los Nietos. At Norwalk, Home Telephone lost to Norwalk, 14 to 5. Santa Monica beat Halbritters, 9 to 0, at Santa Monica, in a protested game. At Arcadia, Strongholds 7, Alhambras 6, ten innings. At Euclid avenue, Magnolias 9, Euclid Avenue 7. At Stephenson street, Amelia Street 17, Utah 14. Hoegee, Jr., 5, Florence 7, at Florence. At Huntington Beach, Dolgeville 7, Huntington Beach 6. At Hynes, Western Hardware and Arms Company 5, Hynes 0. At the County Hospital, Belvidere 20, Simons Brick Company 19. East Los Angeles 11, Linda Vista 4, at Pasadena.

Tennis Tourney.

As a curtain raiser to the regular tennis season, there will be a one-day's session of the players at the Ocean Park Country Club next Saturday. The first regular tourney will be at Ocean Park July 4.

MARYLEBONES MEET DEFEAT.

East Indian Works Wonders With Opponents.

Nash Plays Stylish Innings of Fourteen.

Tomkins and Mould Show Good Form.

Yesterday afternoon at Agricultural Park, the fourth of the interleague fixtures was played and lost by the Marylebone eleven, who scored 37 runs to the Wanderers 51.

The match was called for at 1:30 o'clock, but it was exactly 2:20 o'clock before a single ball was sent down. If games are to be played to a finish, the members of the respective teams must be on the ground and ready to play on schedule time. The umpires should see to it that these matches commence at the time appointed. Up to the present, these fixtures have been played out, owing to the low scoring on either side, but should a game start late and two good batsmen make a lengthy stand, it means either declaring or playing out the innings, with the possible result that a draw will ensue, should the opposing side fail to be dismissed at the drawing of stumps.

Pat Higgins and Tomkins went in first for the Wanderers, facing the bowling of Nash and Mitchell. In the first over Higgins cut Nash nicely for 2, following this up with a single from the same bowler; the remainder of the over was played out without further scoring. Tomkins contented himself with blocking Mitchell's deliveries, but snicked that gentleman for 2 in the last ball of the over. In Nash's second over he got a ball away to leg for 3, driving the next ball to long off for 2, which sent the ten up on the board. Higgins was scoring the faster of the two, but in trying to lift a loose ball from Nash, he failed to get a proper hold of it, skying the delivery, which Ashton neatly held.

Meggett now went in, but failed to break his "duck," being clean bowled by Mitchell. Bhumgara on taking his colleague's place, blocked the first delivery, but the next he failed to stop and had his leg stump knocked clean out of the ground by Mitchell, who was not only bowling fast, but with a good length. Mould now partnered Tomkins, who up to this had been playing a steady game, but he was very nearly run out by a smart piece of fielding by Bamford, Jr., who, if he had thrown the ball to Morris instead of to Nash, would have lost his wicket. Those two men by careful cricket and backing each other up, raised the score to 42 before Mould had his middle stump knocked down by Mitchell, after a pretty and useful innings of 14. Ramsden stayed in quite a long time for his 5 runs, but on Montague relieving Nash with the ball, was bowled by a full pitcher. Tomkins was shortly after this caught at square leg by Heavens, and as the tail gave little or no trouble with the exception of John Alton, who placed a nice ball to leg off Mitchell for 3 and a snick for 1, the whole side were out for a total of 51 runs.

MITCHELL AGAIN TO THE FORE.

Mitchell again displayed fine form with the ball, taking in all 4 wickets for 13 runs. Montague, however, had the best bowling average for the Marylebones, taking 4 wickets for only 5 runs and sending down 2 maidens. Nash got the odd one, but as the Wanderers scored 30 points off his bowling, a different aspect might have been given to the game had Montague relieved him earlier.

The Marylebone eleven were set 52 runs to win, and as this was not a big score, seeing that Mitchell and Morris could be depended upon for a good score each, an exciting finish was looked for.

Bowen and Morris went in first to face Bhumgara and Tomkins. When only 2 runs had been scored, Morris was cleverly stumped by Higgins. Nash, the next man in made things lively from the start. He plays a dashing game, has plenty of confidence and displays good style in the execution of his strokes. In playing back to one of the Parsee's lobs he failed to block it, with the result that his bails were displaced, and he had to retire with 14 to his credit, the second highest score of the match.

The Marylebone captain now came in, and by cautious batting, placed 4 to his credit. At this figure he hit out at a loose ball from Tomkins, driving it clean out of the ground for a 3, but with the second ball of the next over, Bhumgara took his wicket. Just previous to this, Bowen skied a catch to John Alton, which the genial president failed to hold, and with four men out for 22, things were none too bright for the Marylebones.

In the following over Bowen snicked a ball to the slips for 2, but was out to a beauty from Bhumgara with a break from the leg. The remaining men could do nothing with the East Indian's deliveries, and with the close fielding, Higgins not allowing a single bye, the whole side were out for 37, or 14 behind the Wanderer's score.

Tom Brown and Ashton were run out through careless backing up and failure to respond instantly to the call. The former was out to a smart piece of play by Haynes, a substitute, who picked the ball up quickly, throwing same to Higgins, who promptly knocked down the wicket. Only last week mention was made of this important item. Players must respond quickly to a call if they wish to benefit by these matches.

Bhumgara again performed wonders with the ball, taking 6 wickets for 16 runs. Tomkins took 1 wicket for 21, but had 3 maidens to his credit, and was bowling a good length toward the end of the match, keeping the runs down easily. McCoombe and Ritchie acted as umpires.

On Thursday next at Agricultural Park, the Marylebone eleven will meet the Zingaris, wickets to be pitched at 1:30 o'clock.

SPORTS MAD OVER RACING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The bitter turf war between the two merry-go-rounds that have been running full blast since the shutdown of the two big race tracks and the subsequent demoralization from free gates and all sorts of gambling, has already become an issue in the State campaign just opened. Col. Theodore S. Wilkinson of Plaquemines, candidate for Governor, in his first campaign speech at Alexandria, yesterday, discussed the race-track evils in Louisiana and declared unequivocally for a State racing commission to regulate the sport in Louisiana.

He said that racing had run mad in New Orleans and that the present demoralization from all-year-round racing, summer and winter, including Sundays, and the threatened night racing, had gone beyond the limit and it must be curbed. He declared the youth of New Orleans were being led astray and that the State must take a hand, else all racing would be killed in this State. The position of Col. Wilkinson has met general favor.

ALL TRAINERS ARE HOPEFUL.

MAJORITY THINK THEIR CHANCES GOOD AT CAMBRIDGE.

Penn Leader Believes His Team Is to Win Easily, With Michigan Second—Cornell May Be Close to Leaders, While Yale Looks for Nothing Better Than Third Place.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Trainers of the various college teams who will take part in the annual intercollegiate track and field sports at Cambridge May 31 and June 1, have telegraphed the Herald their opinions of the chances of their respective teams.

Harvard's trainer wires: "If second, third and fourth places count for much, Harvard might stand a show to win the intercollegiate games, but from present indications the Crimson stands a poor chance of defeating such strong aggregations as Cornell, Michigan and Pennsylvania."

The trainer of the Princeton track team thinks the order of points will come about as follows: Pennsylvania 24, Yale 23, Princeton 20, Harvard 14, Cornell 14, Michigan 14, Syracuse 14, Amherst 12, Dartmouth 6 and Swarthmore 3.

The trainer of the Michigan team wires that Michigan will go to the contest with eleven or twelve men, all of whom are in the pink of condition, except Ramey, the half miler, who has recently been suffering from a bad attack of tonsilitis.

With five wins and a fourth in two events, Pennsylvania's figuring would give that team the top score of 27 points, with Michigan second with 24; Yale, third with 20; Cornell, fourth with 18; Syracuse, fifth with 14; Harvard, sixth with 12; Amherst, seventh with 10; Princeton, eighth with 9; Swarthmore, ninth with 5; and Dartmouth, tenth with 4.

Yale concedes that the place of her track athletic team will be no nearer the lead than third or fourth. Eighteen or twenty points is about all that her disabled and very poorly balanced team can hope to score. With the permanent disability of Douglass Torrey, the sprinter of fast time in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash, Yale's "hopes" for victory over Harvard in the dual meet were blasted and his retirement means continued weakness in the intercollegiate meet.

"Jack" Moakley, trainer of the Cornell track team, tonight felt a little more optimistic about the outcome of the college athletic events than he usually feels at this time of the year. He would not say much about the other colleges but made the astonishing statement that he expected Cornell to get twenty-seven points.

TENNIS CONTESTS.

Pomona and U.S.C. Will Decide the Championship Matches at Pomona on Next Thursday.

The postponed intercollegiate tennis tournament between U.S.C. and Pomona will be played on Thursday, May 30, at Pomona. The matches should have been played Saturday, but because of a misunderstanding between the two colleges they were not run off. Coach Holmes of U.S.C. has explained the delay as the result of Pomona's inability to compete on the date set, because the faculty committee which controls the athletics of that college was notified of the intended contest but one day beforehand, and could not grant permission for the students to participate on such short notice. President Gates was much concerned over the delay and hastened to make an explanation to U.S.C. The lists have not been exchanged, but U.S.C. has forwarded a provisional list. Pomona's try-out was ended Thursday and the players chosen for the matches will be made up at once.

REVOLVER PRACTICE.

Fair Sized Crowd of Pistol Club Marksmen Enjoy Good Day's Sport At the Butts.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather, a very good-sized crowd of marksmen attended the shoot of the Revolver Club yesterday at the police range on Bishop street, and the scores were very creditable. There were fifteen in the contest, including Mrs. W. A. Wright, and the results were as follows, at the standard target:

W. E. Smith, 88; W. D. Hall, 86; G. F. Stephenson, 83; W. A. Wright, 82; I. C. Douglas, 82; C. W. Linder, 80; Capt. Allan Kelly, 80; A. B. Douglas, 80; W. R. Cutts, 78; W. E. Potter, 78; J. E. Holcomb, 76; W. H. Gordon, 72; E. Coker, 70; V. Woodbury, 52; Mrs. W. A. Wright, 40.

During the past week the following high scores in tenpins, jimjons and cocked hat were rolled on Morley's alleys:

J. Anderson, 204; F. Anten, 233; E. Beaureguard, 218, 212, 212; S. Trinkell, 210; W. A. Carter, 202, 206; E. Daly, 248; Dr. Danielson, 202; C. Erfurth, 224; O. Gunning, 202; G. Jimjons—H. Gross, 105, 108, 108; L. R. Wolfe, 101, 102, 113; Cy Taylor, 102; C. Rising, 105, 112.

Cocked hat—C. Willson, 32, 44, 39, 45; J. Boreill, 38, 32, 42, 30, 42, 36; C. Hannings, 34, 34; G. Gregory, 31, 35, 39, 36; S. Trinkill, 42, 41.

ANOTHER GO FOR SUMMERS.

English Pug Will Again Meet Tommy Murphy.

Baker and O'Toole to Fight Next Saturday.

Harry Expects Better Showing In Next Out.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack McGuigan says that he has almost closed a match whereby Johnny Summers and Tommy Murphy will run a second six-round heat in this city. Followers of both men found so much in their first meeting to praise that they believe that there will be a more decisive ending in a return bout. In speaking of their second meeting, Murphy's friends say that it will be easy for Tommy, for if Summers could not get a knockout Wednesday night, he never will. Summers's friends come right back, and say that his experience of last Wednesday has taught him to solve Murphy's style, and he will not leave his stomach unprotected the next time out.

Eliminating Murphy from the question, the fact remains that Summers has class enough to defeat many of the top-notch American fighters. He may not be able to do much with the best of the flash six-round actors at the short distances, but give him a twenty-round battle, and he will make any of them go some.

BAKER O'TOOLE.

Harry Baker, the clever Californian, will have a return match with Tommy O'Toole, the Quaker boy, in this city next Saturday night in a six-round no-decision bout. It will be recalled that Baker was paired off with O'Toole in his eastern début, and he surprised sharps here by the decisive manner in which he outpointed O'Toole. He is considered almost unbeatable in a limited bout. Harry on that occasion cut the Quaker's face to ribbons, while O'Toole couldn't land an effective blow.

O'Toole wanted another match, as he thinks that he has mastered Baker's style, but persons who have watched both men, look to see Baker outpoint him as easily as he did in the first bout. Baker is now thoroughly acclimated, and may do even better work in this than in the first meeting.

COMING SPORTS.

Cambridge Athletics, Big Horse Race at Brighton and College Boat Contest Due This Week.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 26.—The eyes of the athletic world on Saturday next will be turned upon the Stadium at Cambridge, Mass., where the thirty-second annual intercollegiate track and field games will be held. All the big colleges will contest. Past performances by the collegians thus far this year seem to put in danger all records, save, perhaps, the 100-yard dash, the hammer throw, the shot put and the broad jump.

The horse racing event of the week will be the Belmont stakes, with a gross value of $25,000 for horses foaled in 1904, over a course of one mile and three furlongs. It will be run at Belmont Park on Thursday. Among the eligibles are five from James A. Keene's stables, in Superman, Peter Pan, Zambesa, Gramaldi and Graetna Green. Other horses entitled to start are Don Enrique, Okenite, Charles Edward, Frank Gill, McArthur, Belfast, Paumonk, Salvidere, Saracinesca, Senator Clay and The Wrestler. Should Superman start he is looked upon in view of his recent victory in the Brooklyn Handicap, as having a strong chance to finish first.

The chief aquatic event of the coming week will be the race between Harvard and Cornell on Lake Cayuga at Ithaca. This race will doubtless serve to develop the chances of Cornell's crew at the big Poughkeepsie regatta in June. The British Amateur golf championships will begin tomorrow on the St. Andrew's links. Two hundred contestants will lead off, among them six Americans, Eben M. Byers, the national champion; E. C. Horstman of the Chevy Chase Golf Club, Washington, D. C.; W. C. Carnegie, Ernest Thompson, C. L. Gore and F. R. Scovell.

GOOD TENNIS PLAY.

Colton Wins Both the Double and Single Events, With Ontario a Close Second.

ONTARIO, May 26.—Colton High School carried off all the honors in the annual tennis tournament of the Citizens' High School league, held on the local High School courts yesterday, winning both the double and single events. Ontario made the next best showing, playing up to the finals in both events. Pratt of Ontario lost out to Champion of Colton in the final singles, in a closely contested match, owing to the former straining himself in the third set, which greatly hindered his playing for the rest of the match.

The scores were as follows: Singles—Ontario beat Pomona 6-0, 6-1; Colton beat Riverside 7-5, 3-6, 8-6; Colton beat Ontario 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

Doubles—Riverside beat Pomona, 6-3, 3-7, 6-3; Riverside beat San Bernardino 6-3, 6-1; Colton beat Riverside 6-3, 6-1; Colton beat Ontario 6-3, 8-6.

Skating Races.

There has been a great deal of interest aroused among the roller skating enthusiasts concerning the races that are scheduled for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at Morley's Grand Avenue ring. Morley has made things more interesting by putting up a purse of $100. Roy Herrah, one of the best skaters of the North, has challenged Arthur Mahler, champion of Morley's rink, for a series of races. There will be exhibition skating by several ladies and races for boys, including a relay race for boys under 14 years of age.

Too Much Enthusiasm.

OTTAWA (Ontario) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Longbeat, the Indian long-distance runner is in the Hamilton (Ontario) Hospital, and may lose the sight of an eye. He won the five-mile race easily yesterday, and friends surged around to congratulate him. One big fellow in trying to lift him on his shouder stuck the lighted end of his cigar in his eye. Physicians are afraid that he will lose the sight of it. His condition is serious.

Continuous Pool.

Marsh (43) beat Brownstein (50) by the score of 43 to 42 yesterday in the latest game of the continuous pool tournament held at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

IRISH BILL TO BE DROPPED.

Chief Secretary for Erin Takes Vacation and Leaves No Address for Callers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 26.—When Parliament meets tomorrow Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman will tell the Commons what the Cabinet purposes to do with the Irish Council Bill.

Every one expects it will be dropped with as little ceremony as possible, but Mr. Balfour, the director of the opposition, is not likely to let it pass without a chance to remind the country how the Liberals in his opinion, muddled the business.

The chances are that the government will do nothing for Ireland this session since the members of the Cabinet resent the publication by their Irish allies of the bill.

Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, betook himself to the country before the Dublin convention and his secretary refuses information as to his whereabouts today to all interviewers.

A revival of troublous times for Ireland, after several years quiet is discussed. The society called "Sinn Fein" meaning liberally "For ourselves," composed of the hottest anti-Britons, a majority of them young men, has gained much importance lately. Its purpose is for Irishmen to refuse to enter into business or social relations with the English in Ireland, and, as far as possible, for Irishmen to abstain from enlisting in the army and from buying English goods.

Edward Martin, its leader, is a wealthy land owner. Recently he was expelled from the aristocratic Kildare Club, the Dublin landlords rallying place. This incident caused a great flutter in Dublin.

The next move by the Irish members of Parliament will probably be an attempt to induce the government to remove Sir Antony Patrick McDonnell, under secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. When he was appointed in 1902, the chief Conservatives considered him too friendly with the Irish.

Sir Antony has had many years' service in India, where among other posts he held the Lieutenant Governorship of the northwest provinces, and the chief commissionship of Oudh, and some of the prominent Irishmen say he terats the Irish as he did the Indians.

FORCED HER TO PRAY.

Woke Her Up at Night to Save Her From Ultimate Perdition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SCRANTON (Pa.) May 26.—Declaring that their domestic happiness was ruined by his persistently ordering her to pray to save her soul from going to perdition, Mrs. Nettie Itterly of Green Ridge, appeared before Judge E. C. Newcomb to prosecute her husband, Edward Itterly, for desertion.

The complainant is the second wife of Itterly, he is a moulder, and they have been married several years and have five children.

In his examination of Itterly, the attorney for Mrs. Itterly brought out the fact that the defendant is an extremely religious man. Daily Itterly was in the habit of suggesting to his wife that they both get down and pray, as he feared her soul might not be saved. It was also brought out that at night he would arouse her from sleep to pray that her soul might be saved. He was ordered to contribute $12 a month to her support.

TRIAL MOVES SLOWLY.

BOISE (Idaho) May 26.—From present indications it would seem that another week must elapse before the taking of testimony can begin in the case of William G. Haywood, first of the "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners to face a jury in answer to the State's charge of conspiring to murder former Gov. Steunenberg.

But twelve members of the second special venire of proposed jurymen remain. A thirteenth talesman was drawn Saturday afternoon just prior to adjournment, and is confined to the trial panel. He has yet to be examined as to all of his qualifications.

In addition to the vacancy which he may or may not fill there remain four peremptory challenges, two with the prosecution and two with the defense. The opposing attorneys seem determined to use up every challenge the law allows. This means that only seven final jurors have been selected—a little more than one-half—and the trial has been in progress for more than two weeks' actual time.

The jury may be completed Friday evening, or Saturday. In either event it is probable that the attorneys for the State will ask for an adjournment until Monday morning in order that the opening address, or statement of the prosecution's case, may immediately be followed by supporting evidence.

The people of Boise, busy with the social and commercial activities of their prosperous little city, and never wildly excited about the trial, have become less interested than ever because of the delay in securing a jury.

KUROKI SEES FALLS.

NIAGARA FALLS (Ont.) May 26.—Baron Gen. Kuroki of the Imperial Japanese army was here today with his suite. He went to Buffalo tonight and will leave there for Chicago tomorrow morning.

AVERAGE BUYER WELL POSTED

Purchasing Public Much Better Judges of Merchandise Values Than a Few Years Ago.

Nearly Every Man or Woman of Today is Well Informed as to the Actual Value of the Standard Makes of Pianos.

Three days ago we began our annual clearance sale of pianos. These three days have made us forget that we had two weeks of quiet times.

Our big house has been all hustle and bustle—the salesmen, the draymen, and the office help all worked overtime. This is the "proof of the pudding." We are making great offerings.

Terms $8 or $10 per month or 2 per cent. off for spot cash.

If you are in need of an instrument or expect to need one within a year, would it not show good business judgment to pay us a visit now?

Why not pay $220, instead of $375 for a lifetime piano? Why not pay $465 instead of $1000 for a beautiful grand piano slightly used?

We are also offering many others at $125, $142, $160, $185, $245, $265, $270, $285, $295, $312, $345, $365, $380 and so on. Pianos that formerly sold at $350 to $550.

SOULS THRILL IN HARMONY.

Miss Booth Holds Audience Enthralled.

Her Subject "Music" and All Hearts Vibrate.

Head of American Salvation Army Welcomed.

COMMANDER MISS BOOTH,
As she appeared while doing the work of the Master in the slums of London.

An audience which filled Temple Auditorium to overflowing, greeted Miss Eva Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in America, yesterday afternoon. Men and women from all walks in life were there. Ministers rubbed shoulders with humble army men, and wealthy women in costly garments sat beside the Salvation Army lassies. It was a wonderful tribute to the slender young woman who held the vast audience spellbound for more than an hour.

Filled to the utmost with her subject, Miss Booth paced up and down the broad platfrom with its fitting stage setting, representing a church interior for her background. She was attired in army uniform with a broad sash the distinguishing her from others of the sisters.

With a voice that vibrated with passionate intensity of purpose, and thrilled with her appeal to the unsaved, Miss Booth carried her hearers with her as she spoke on the "Song of the City."

Fragile from her recent illness and seemingly unable to undergo the strain of speaking to more than three thousand people, she spoke in a ringing tone that reached the highest balcony and penetrated to the very corridors beyond the auditorium. She dwelt on the power of sacred song, the ultimate source of salvation, the redemptive power of the music of the ages finding its final expression in the life and death of Jesus Christ.

HER LOVING WELCOME.

Mayor Harper was scheduled to preside as chairman, but he was unable to be present, and his brother, Rev. Edward J. Harper, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, acceptably filled the place. In opening, the blind singers, William Baker and Miss Baker, rendered a touching little hymn, "Because He Loved Her So."

At the close of the song, Miss Booth came forward on the platform amid bursts of applause, the clapping of hands and the blasts of musical instruments. She wore no hat, and her hair formed a halo about her clear-cut, red face.

"All Hail the Power" was then sung under the direction of Col. G. French, followed by prayer by Maj. Lillie. The Y.M.C.A. quartette sang in a pleasing manner a beautiful anthem. Commissioner Kilbey then introduced Rev. Mr. Harper as the chairman of the assembly.

Mr. Harper said: "We welcome Miss Booth for the sake of her honored father, for the sake of the army she represents, and we welcome her for her own sake. We welcome her today because of the great work for which she stands. She has ever stood for the great work of humanity. She believes all men may be touched by the power of God."

GIVEN OVATION.

When Miss Booth stepped forward and smiled with that peculiar winsome grace that characterizes her, the whole audience gave her an ovation seldom accorded to any platform speaker.

"I am happy to find myself again in this fair city," she said in opening. "I visited you about twelve months ago, and then received so warm a welcome that it made me feel very happy to think I was to see you all once more."

And turning the pages of her little worn Bible, Commander Booth read a [illegible] beginning, "And I heard the voice of harpers, harping a new song."

Her subject was the "Song of the City." Beginning with a vivid description of music in general, with its fleeting features, she showed how ephemeral it all was; that there was only one song that was everlasting, that found ultimate expression in Jesus. Continuing, she said:

WORLD AN ORCHESTRA.

"Nobody would question the all-pervading power of music, whether vocal or instrumental. God filled the whole world with thrills and trills of harmonious sound. Hearts rightly attuned can hear in every note the voice of the Savior. We move and live and sing in one vast orchestra. And all nature joins in the grand anthem of praise to the Maker. The thunders roll out notes of praise, it sounds in the hurricane, music, music everywhere, yea even in the mud and scum of things."

Miss Booth then sketched the power of music in the dance, light, pretty, but with the aftermath of weariness as morning breaks upon the ballroom scene. The music of the opera and concert might be thrilling, might be pleasing, but it all ends abruptly, the theater becomes dark, the curtain is rung down.

Reference was made to Theodore Hook, who made all England laugh at his witicisms. One day glancing at himself in the mirror, he wearily said: "I have made the whole world laugh, but I cannot make myself laugh."

When a magnificent tribute was paid to Rossini, the great composer, and thousands of musicians played one of his compositions at a triumphal concert given in Paris, years ago, the composer turned to a friend and sadly said: "I would give it all for a few days of the past and for peace." And then breaking into a splendid burst of oratory, Miss Booth said:

KEYNOTE OF CENTURIES.

"But have read to you of a new song that the harpers harped and I give you the keynote that has come down all the centuries, those grand old hymns which have lived on and on. In these songs are the notes of redemption. The grave cannot obliterate, the passing of time cannot put them out of life. Those old hymns such as 'Rock of Ages,' 'Nearer My God to Thee,' 'Just As I Am,'' ah those hymns will live forever in our hearts, full of Jesus and Him crucified.

"Pile up all the books that were ever written in one vast pile, and only one will survive, only one, this book I hold in my hand, the Bible.

"From princes' palaces to paupers' huts, have such songs gone, with notes of cheer, of hope. 'Rock of Ages'' Ministers have preached this song in every land and in every tongue. Woodmen have sung it as they hewed at some tree, children have lisped it as they sat upon their mother's knee, and mothers have crooned it to their little babes. Oh that immovable eternal Rock! Let me hide myself in thee, let me cling to that everlasting hope. I want my two feet to stand on that Rock all the days of my life so that when I die and reach out into worlds beyond, I shall have that great Comforter, the Christ of the ages.

BACK TO THE PATH.

"In this redemption call is the song of the penitent—the crying and the sighing of the penitent. The poor wandering backslider, who has forgotten the sweet story taught him at his mother's knee, who stepped aside from the path that he started on. Can you tell me what will bring him back to himself, back to the straight and narrow way? It is the penitent's prayer."

In simple and touching language, with her hands outstretched over the audience, Miss Booth made an eloquent appeal to the better side that dwells in every one and in graphic language she described poor old Samson in his last days of repentance, standing in the temple and overthrowing the pillars and overwhelming the audience who had gathered there to scoff at his God. The speaker then went on in one simple sentence to sum up the one thing necessary to reach a better life, the cry of the penitent.

Following with several touching stories illustrative of the really empty life without the higher motive and impulse within one, Miss Booth exclaimed: "This redemptive song triumphs over death—those gates through which we must all go. When the rich get there, they are poor; when the strong get there, they are weak. Death, the approaching night, the final struggle, the completed book, the finished story—death.

SONG OF JESUS.

"But one thing can take away the sting, but one thing rob the grave of its victory, and that is the redemptive psalm. For such as believe on Jesus, there will be light; after the darkness, glorious morning. There is no sting for the redeemed I say, no pain for those who die in the Savior's love. Have you now grasped what is the song of the city? It is Jesus, Jesus, simply Jesus."

During portions of Miss Booth's address, many in the audience openly wept, yet there was no attempt at effect, no appealing to ephemeral emotion; it was all impressive and heartfelt.

After another song by the blind singers W. E. McVay made brief concluding remarks. Miss Booth will speak tonight at Simpson's Auditorium. She will appear in a ragged costume and will tell of some of her experiences in the slums.

HEROIC WOMAN.

LEADER OF MIGHTY HOST.

Commander Eva Booth is the fourth daughter of the world-famed Gen. William Booth. She was a Christmas gift to the world, being born on Christmas Day. From the time she was 7 years of age her budding talents have been laid at the disposal of the fight of faith in which she was cradled.

When but a schoolgirl she served her apprenticeship in the cause which has been her life work, selling War Cries on the streets of London, and her sweetness and courage made her so successful that she became the champion War Cry seller of the army. Her first public speech was made on a chair in an open-air meeting in the darkest slums of London.

While yet in her teens, Miss Eva played an important part by the side of her sister, the late Consul Booth-Tucker, who then, as Miss Emma Booth, was in charge of the first training home of the organization.

Commander Eva Booth is especially endeared to the hearts of her people by the fact that, although the general's daughter, she has risen in the ranks and has held successively each title, from sergeant to commander.

Her first appointment was to a large corps which was assailed by a storm of opposition and abuse, which threatened to stamp out not only the existence of the Salvation Army, but the lives of its adherents in that district. The hall, which held 3000 people, was surrounded by a dense population of the lowest and most wicked. Every other house in the street in which the officers lived was a den of infamy.

Capt. Eva's first announcement was that she meant to be her own policeman. For some time the toughs had been in possession of the hall, despite the assistance of the men in blue.

But what the law could not do, the frail, fair girl accomplished. Her prayers were heard by their deathbeds, her songs were sung over their sick, her brave feet tripped to the highest attics of their rickety tenements and down into the lowest and darkest cellars, where poverty and crime lay hidden.

Within a few weeks she had worked a revolution in the neighborhood and had won the respect and affection of the whole gang, and many who had headed the persecution now protected the line of march, and when the devoted girl fell dangerously ill at the conclusion of her term, one of these men pawned his vest to buy hot-house grapes for her.

No man or woman was too filthy or too degraded or too vicious or too desperate to be outside the reach of her gentle hand, or too far gone to see the divine compassion looking out through her dark, lustrous eyes. No wonder that these for whom she lived and worked at this time, gave her the unofficial title of "The Angel of the Slums."

Her last appointment in England was as commander of the London province and principal of the International Training Home, in which dual position she had 21,000 Salvation soldiers, 600 officers, and about 300 cadets always under her control.

From here she received orders for Canada, where during the past eight years she has wrought magnificent service in the interests in which her vast abilities are consecrated.

Briefly, her command across the border has included the following special features: The reception and care of refugees during the Armenian atrocities, the inauguration of army day schools throughout Newfoundland, the opening of the work at Yukon during the rush for gold to the Klondike, and the birth and growth of prison work, for which she has personally gained the ear and won the approval of the highest government officials in the land.

Throughout Canada the name of Miss Booth is a household word. Wherever she goes the largest buildings are inadequate to hold the crowds. Besides a winning personality, an attractive womanliness, a spirit of grace and heroism, Miss Booth is endued with a silver tongue which ranks her as one of the first orators of the age.

AWAITS ELECTION RESULT.

East Side Citizen Won't Erect Building Unless City Votes for Water Bonds.

Unless he is assured of tranquil labor conditions here and of the obtaining by Los Angeles of the Owens River water, F. J. Ganahl, a wealthy East Side citizen, says that he will not erect the $40,000 building, for which he has had plans drawn. He thinks that it would be a poor investment if the city rejects the Owens River project.

Mr. Ganahl owns nearly all the frontage on the south side of Downey avenue, between Avenues 22 and 24. He recently erected a three-story building on this property, and wants to build another. He is deterred, however, by the talk of a building strike, and by doubt as to the result of the Owens River bond election.

Mr. Ganahl has lived in this city for many years, and has unbounded faith in its future, but he expresses the belief that, if the bonds are not carried, the city will take a long step backward, and he would not feel warranted in investing a considerable sum of money here.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, May 26.—[Reported by A. B. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.81; at 5 p.m., 29.81. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 58 deg. and 64 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 90 per cent.; 5 p.m., 73 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 4 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 8 miles. Maximum temperature, 68 deg.; minimum, 55 deg. Rainfall past 24 hours, trace. Rainfall for season, 19.70 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Much warmer weather prevails in the interior, and afternoon temperatures exceed 90 deg. at many points. At Los Angeles a thunderstorm has occurred. Forecast:

YUMA (Ariz.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch from the U. S. Geological Survey.] Gauge height Colorado River, 25.05 feet.

Arizona: Fair Monday and Tuesday.

DON'T FORGET THE NAME AND NUMBER.

WITHOUT ANY PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE AND HAVING NO NATURAL MEANS OF KNOWING WHO YOU ARE, WHENCE OR FOR WHAT YOU CAME, HE TELLS YOUR NAME AND OCCUPATION. HE TELLS YOU NAMES OF FRIENDS AND ENEMIES—WHO IS TRUE AND WHO IS FALSE. TELLS WHOM AND WHEN YOU WILL MARRY, GIVING NAMES, DATES, FACTS AND LOCATION, TAKING NO FEE IN ADVANCE, ACCEPTING NONE UNLESS SATISFACTION IS GIVEN.

THE MANY FAVORABLE COMMENTS AND THE COURTESIES EXTENDED TREVELYAN BY THE LEADING NEWSPAPERS OF LOS ANGELES, PLACE HIM IN A CLASS, DISTINCTLY BY HIMSELF. BETTER CONSULT NO CLAIRVOYANT AT ALL THAN ONE WHO IS INCOMPETENT TO HELP YOU. FALSE PROPHETS DO MORE HARM THAN GOOD, FOR THEY LEAVE YOU IN A WORSE CONDITION THAN BEFORE CONSULTING THEM. THE NAME TREVELYAN IS A DOUBLE GUARANTEE FOR ABILITY, HONESTY AND GENTILITY AND INTELLIGENCE. HE OCCUPIES A POSITION ALL HIS OWN IN HIS PROFESSION—A POSITION NO OTHERS CAN PRESUME TO FILL.

$1—CONSULTATION FEE—$1

NOT THE CHEAPEST—BUT THE BEST.

TREVELYAN SPEAKS 7 DIFFERENT LANGUAGES. ALL NATIONALITIES MAY CONSULT HIM.

NO NEED TO TELL HIM

There is no need to tell Trevelyan your story. There will be no "quizzing" or asking of questions by the life reader. His talents enable him to instinctively know your wants and troubles, without any attempt at mystification, but with unerring sight into the inner nature of things, he reveals that which you most wish to know. His advice and help on all matters, business, lawsuits, marriage, health, is invaluable. It is exact and correct—not guesswork. He gives names, dates, facts and figures and shows clearly and distinctly the road to success in business as well as in domestic and family affairs.

BUSINESS MATTERS

of every description can be advised upon by Trevelyan and perfect satisfaction will be guaranteed. Financial problems are solved, investments advised and assistance of the most practical kind is rendered.

FAMILY MATTERS

may be taken to Trevelyan in the confidence of successful solution in almost any case. Perfect discretion may be relied upon. Let Trevelyan assist you in your family difficulties. He has made thousands happy.

LEARN TO WIN SUCCESS.

Success is yours if you woo rightly. No circumstance can keep you down if you understand the power of your inner forces. Learn how to control these forces, and win success. See Trevelyan about it. He can help you.

HE NEVER FAILS

to cause speedy and happy marriage with the one of your choice, reunites the separated, locates absent friends or buried treasures, ores, minerals, etc., gives you luck to win your biggest wish—and it takes him but a short time. In fact, he guarantees all he claims.

A SECRET YOU SHOULD KNOW.

The Power of Control—How to be master and ruler of your own Home and Affairs—Is your husband, wife or sweetheart indifferent to you? Are you occupying the position in life you are ably qualified for? Do you wish to possess the Key to the vaults of Love, Friendship, Success and Fame? Know the Secret of Control—the power to inspire, trust and confidence and win success in business, social or financial life. "Arise. Throw off thy Shackles." "Exchange sorrow for joy—Darkness for Light. "Be Master of your own Destiny."

TREVELYAN

accepts no fee in advance. He guarantees full and complete satisfaction to all callers. Unless you receive more genuine benefit than you have ever received before, your reading is free—will not cost you a penny.

The Trevelyan parlors are so arranged that you will not meet anybody.

FOR SALE—

HUNDREDS OF HOUSES. YES. MILES OF HOUSES.

Each different in style and design; new and up to date, have built over twelve hundred. Now closing out at WHOLESALE PRICES, ONE HUNDRED and TWENTY-ONE new, MODERN FIVE, SIX and SEVEN-room cottages at THIRTIETH STREET and COMPTON AVE., and at ELDER PLACE NO. 2, corner of THIRTY-EIGHTH STREET and LONG BEACH AVE. Have sold all but FIVE of the FIFTY-SEVEN houses we are building on THIRTIETH STREET.

We base our wholesale prices on what the broad acres of land cost us, and what the lumber cost in cargo lots. We have our own LUMBER YARD, PLANING MILL and BUILDING MATERIAL STORES, private railroad tracks, etc., etc. These houses are sold on easy payments about like paying rent. Prettiest streets and best built houses in city.

Will commence in July building FOUR MILES of HOUSES on our SOUTHWEST TRACT.

This magnificent property is situated six miles northwest of Fresno, near the beautiful Kearney Estate, in the best of the world's best raisin district. The La Favorita Vineyard consists of 220 acres of Fresno county's finest Muscat raisin grapes and 100 acres of alfalfa for pasturage. The place is highly improved in every way—work horses, implements, tools, 400 sweat boxes, about 56,000 trays, packing houses, barns, outbuildings, together with a fine residence, etc., are included.

The La Favorita is one of the show places of Fresno county, and as a money maker it has no equal.

Satisfactory terms can be arranged.

Come to Fresno and have a look at this fine property.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT ALKALI.

An Ounce of Soda in Four Barrels of Owens River Water—Los Angeles River More Alkaline, and Bottled Waters Ten Times as Strong.

ALKALI, as it is known to ranchers in the West, consists of mineral salts, chiefly carbonate, sulphate and chloride of soda, dissolved in water or deposited upon the surface of the ground by evaporation of water. The common names of these minerals are sal soda, Glauber's salts and common salt. Magnesium, lime, iron, alumina and silica also are carried in solution and produce "hardness" of water.

Owens Lake is a saturated solution of soda, and the water is very bitter and salt. The lake is a basin, without outlet, into which the drainage of Owens Valley has poured for ages. Evaporation goes on at the rate of seven feet a year, and the evaporated water leaves all its mineral contents in the lake. Prof. Le Conte, the great geologist, calculated that this process of distillation and deposit has been going on for 250,000 years. The purest natural water in the world, poured into such a basin, would produce an alkaline lake in much less time than that. If the San Fernando Valley were closed by an impervious dam, the Los Angeles River would produce just such a body of water as Owens Lake in the course of time—perhaps, in a thousand years.

A reservoir, from which water is drawn constantly, is a different proposition. Water flows in at one end and out at the other, and the contents are constantly changing. The reservoirs of city water systems do not become alkaline, even though the water supplied to them carries more mineral salts than Owens River. The Los Angeles reservoirs are not alkaline lakes.

In the basin which will be the Haiwee reservoir of the Los Angeles aqueduct there is some alkali on the surface of the ground, perhaps as much in proportion to the water to be stored as a teaspoonful of baking soda in a hundred barrels of water. Even that insignificant quantity will be removed during the construction of the dam.

MISTAKEN FOR ALKALI.

Because a man has lived for years in an alkali country, it does not follow that he knows much about alkali. To the average rancher of Owens Valley, any discoloration of water means alkali. The surface water, standing in pools along the roads, is often amber-colored. It does not look good. Ask almost any resident of the valley what colors the water, and he will say "alkali." The yellow stain is produced by a weed and is not indicative of mineral salts.

At certain seasons the stems of tules growing in Black Rock Spring are whitened for six or eight inches above the water. "Alkali," says the superficial observer. But it is not alkali; it is a parasitic vegetable growth, an almost microscopic plant of the algae species.

Alkali is a bugbear. It is harmful only when present in excess. Call it "soda," and nobody is frightened. If there were not some alkali in drinking water, the water would be tasteless and not good to drink.

OWENS RIVER WATER.

For six months, W. H. Heileman, engineer of soils of the United States Reclamation Service, has been investigating Owens River water and making weekly analyses. In his report he says:

"On the basis of mineral content the water at the intake of the proposed Owens River conduit, for the period studied, is, for a western water, of good quality for municipal and industrial use. It necessarily follows that for agricultural uses its quality can in no wise be questioned. We may sum up the sanitary results on the Owens water as being generally favorable for the periods observed."

AN OUNCE TO FOUR BARRELS.

The City Chemist of Los Angeles makes this report:

"I consider that the water from Owens River, according to the analyses made by W. H. Heileman of the United States Reclamation Service, of samples taken at Charley's Butte, is superior for domestic purposes to the water now supplied to the city of Los Angeles.

"I base my conclusions upon the following considerations:

"The analyses show that the Owens River water contains about three-fourths as much mineral matter or salts in solution as the Los Angeles water.

"The Owens River water contains about two-fifths as much lime and magnesia as the Los Angeles water. The lime and magnesia in the Owens River water are in such a form or chemical combination that, upon the boiling of the water, they will be entirely deposited, leaving a soft water for use. The Owens River water will not form a hard or troublesome scale when used in steam boilers.

"There is present in Owens River water an amount of bicarbonate of soda or baking soda, equivalent to about one tablespoonful, or one ounce, in from one to four barrels of water, the quantity varying at different times. This quantity could not be considered harmful or deleterious for any domestic or agricultural purpose.

"ERVIN K. MILLER,
"City Chemist."

CHEMISTS' REPORTS.

Analyses of Owens Valley waters, made by Wade & Wade of Los Angeles, show 6.3 grains of mineral to the gallon in Black Rock Springs, "an exceptionally pure water;" 14.1 grains to the gallon in Owens River at the intake, "very good water for general purposes;" 22.3 grains to the gallon in Owens River at Lone Pine, thirty miles below the intake, "fair water."

Analyses made by the chemists of the University of California show 7.57 grains in Black Rock Spring; 16.9 grains in the river at the intake, and 23.74 grains in the river at Lone Pine. Prof. Stabler of the University of California, found 7.65 grains in Black Rock, and 28.9 grains in the river at Lone Pine.

Owens River in Round Valley, after passing through the alleged "alkaline swamps" of Long Valley, was found by the United States Reclamation Service chemists to carry from 11.4 grains in August to 24.6 in May, and an average of 15.4 for four months.

Los Angeles city water taken from the Buena Vista pump station last year, showed 28. grains of mineral salts; water from Slauson-avenue pump, 37.21 grains. The city chemist finds 29. grains in water taken last week from a hydrant.

BOTTLED WATERS.

Many persons buy bottled water because they think it is purer than the water drawn from the city mains. Analyses made in the laboratory of the health department show some of these "pure" waters to be far stronger in alkali and other mineral salts than the faucet water. The following table shows the number of grains of dissolved salts in these pure waters:

	Grains per gallon.
Crystal Water Company	25.31
Elysian Water Company	72.24
Rose Purity	32.44
Elbotta	29.75
Crystal Rock	29.59
Aqua Vitae	165.42
Bimini	134.60
Los Angeles city water, July, 1906	46.50
Los Angeles city, May, 1907	30.49

The worst report on water taken from Owens River at Lone Pine, cited by Alkali Sammy in support of his assertion that the water is unfit for use, showed 27.45 grains to the gallon.

The water brought down from Owens Valley by the conduit will be taken from the river at the intake, where it carries 22. grains of mineral salts at the worst, and mixed with the waters of Black Rock Springs and the creeks flowing from Sierra snows. It will carry not to exceed 16 grains to the gallon.

GREAT INVENTOR PASSES AWAY.

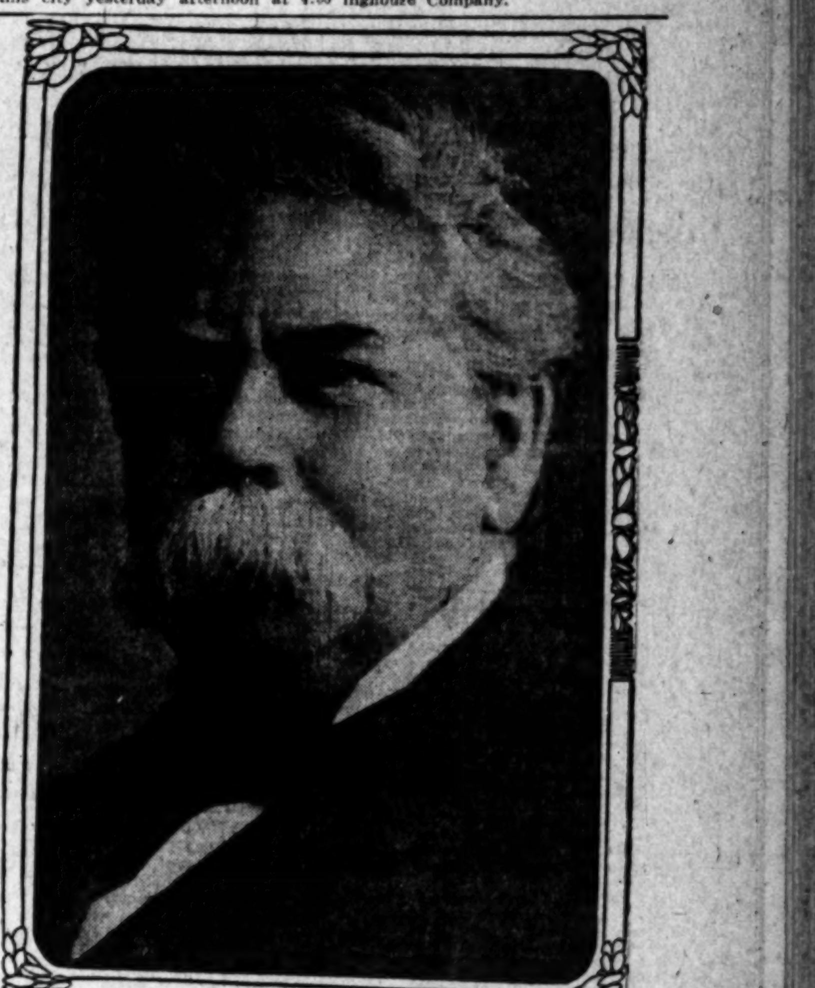
Was Chief Engineer of Westinghouse Company for Thirty Years and the Personal Adviser of the Head of Big Firm — Known Throughout World as an Engineer.

Death dimmed a shining mark yesterday in the passing of Francis Ludlow Clark, who breathed his last in this city yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the residence of W. H. Holabird, No. 420 South Alvarado street. The cause of death was heart trouble and paralysis, Mr. Clark having been stricken about a year ago at his home in Pittsburgh. He arrived here last November in search of health, but the best of medical skill could not make him well again.

Mr. Clark was about 65 years of age and had lived in Pittsburgh practically all his life. He had an international reputation as an engineer and was famous throughout the world as an inventor and particularly as the designer of the Westinghouse air brake, which is used on thousands of street cars and on almost every railroad in the world. For thirty years he was the chief engineer of the big Westinghouse Company and was the intimate personal friend and chief adviser of George Westinghouse. Too close attention to business probably brought on the attack of paralysis and even when he was stricken, he was working on an improvement for the Westinghouse air brake that may be finished by some of his successors.

Although he occupied such a prominent position in the engineering world, and was the favored employé of a giant corporation for many years, he died a comparatively poor man, for his purse was always open to every one. He received a large salary, but gave the most of it away. He had done so much for the Westinghouse Company, however, that when he was stricken with paralysis a year ago, he was retired on full pay and was later sent to this city under the personal direction of Mr. Westinghouse.

Besides a host of warm personal and business friends, he leaves a son and two daughters to mourn his loss. The son, Horace S. Clark, resides in this city and is the western manager for the Westinghouse Company. One of the daughters lives in New York and the other, Mrs. Carl V. Auel, is in Pittsburgh, where her husband holds an important position with the Westinghouse Company.



FRANCIS LUDLOW CLARK.

Deceased was a Mason and a Grand Army veteran. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral, but it is possible the interment will be at Pittsburgh.

ITALIAN BATTLESHIP COMING.

The first-class Italian battleship Dolgia is expected to arrive in the harbor at San Pedro at any time. Collector of Customs Pendleton has received notice to this effect from the Secretary of War in Washington, and has been ordered to extend all the privileges of the port to the visiting battleship. The Dolgia is now almost a week overdue, and her arrival is momentarily expected at San Pedro. The ship will remain a week in the harbor, during which time it will be open at intervals for visits by the public. The Dolgia is making the voyage around the Horn directly from Italy, and after stopping for a period at San Pedro, she will proceed to San Francisco.

Pure Food Show Coming.

The Retail Grocers' Association is arranging plans for a pure-food show, to be given in Morley's Rink November 6 to 20.

Small Boy Missing.

George Sweetman, 12 years old, disappeared from his home at No. 879 Gladys avenue, Friday night. A description of him has been given to the police, who are trying to find the lad.

Asks Police for Lodging.

Mrs. Mary Brown of Altadena applied to the police for lodging last night. She told the officers that she boarded a Santa Fé train at Pasadena late yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles, and that while on the train her purse, containing $80, was taken.

Police Reticent.

Mrs. L. Cahill, Mrs. L. Bell, J. J. Bell and W. H. Cahill were arrested at No. 791½ South Main street last night. The women are charged with vagrancy and the men are held on suspicion. The police are extremely reticent about the case.

Hold Up Alleged.

James Smith of Imperial Junction has reported to the police that he was held up and robbed by two men in the rear of the "Original Mug" saloon on Main street Friday night. He claims that one of the men pointed a gun at his head while the other rifled his pockets, and took $6.

Will Smoke Meat Here.

The three-story branch house of Nelson Morris & Co., meat packers of Chicago, is being completed at the corner of Vine and Jackson streets, and will be opened in about three weeks. In this plant have been arranged large smokerooms, and here ham and bacon, shipped in salt from the East, will be smoked and cured for the market.

Creditors Will Meet.

Creditors of the Hotel Wentworth will meet at the new offices of the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade this afternoon at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing their committee to take up the settlement of the indebtedness. The Board of Trade is now located on the sixth floor of the Equitable Saving Bank building, corner of First and Spring streets.

Justice Ties Knot.

Frank X. Gowans, who for some time was a guest at the Hotel Alexandria, was married yesterday to Miss Helen A. Manasse, formerly of Laramie, Wyo. The ceremony took place at the Lovejoy on Grand avenue, Justice Pierce officiating. The couple left on an afternoon train for San Francisco, where the groom is said to be in business.

Will Study Eucalypti.

F. P. Hosp, landscape gardener for the Santa Fé, and in charge of all Santa Fé Railroad parks on the Coast division, will leave soon for a four months' trip abroad, much of which time will be spent in Algiers. He goes with the express purpose of studying the problem of successful culture of the eucalyptus, and will investigate the work carried on by the French government in its eucalypti plantations in Algiers.

Wounded Lover May Die.

With a bullet in his lungs, Andrew Chavez is fighting for his life. He was shot Saturday night during a desperate fight with Pedro Zabla. The men became jealous of each other when pretty Juanita Fernandez bestowed her smiles upon both. Chavez was removed to his home yesterday from the County Hospital and will probably die. Zabla is still at liberty.

Many Are Confirmed.

Bishop Conaty had three confirmation services yesterday, and will confirm a class today at the Immaculate Heart College at Hollywood. The first confirmation yesterday was at 8 o'clock at St. Vincent's Church, and at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a large class was confirmed by the bishop at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Hollywood. Last night a class was confirmed at the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, Pico Heights.

United Commercial Travelers.

The annual conclave of the United Commercial Travelers will be held this week in Sacramento, and Los Angeles will be represented by a delegation composed of F. W. Boynton of Flint & Boynton, merchandise brokers; W. P. Baker of M. A. Newmark & Co.; C. T. B. Jones of the Hall-Jones Company, O. F. Kinne of the H. Jevne Company, Joseph Sunderland of Kingsbaker Bros., and A. S. Abbott of the California Hardware Company.

Life Sweet Again.

Samuel E. Moss, who tried to kill himself Friday afternoon in Westlake Park, by taking bromide, and who has since been strapped to a cot in the Receiving Hospital, was removed to the County Hospital yesterday. He has decided that he wishes to live. He will be released from the hospital in a day or two. He at first told the police that he had been jilted, but later said that he became tired of life because he was friendless. His relatives in the East are said to be wealthy.

TRANCE ENDS IN STRANGE TALK.

IOWA GIRL HAS TO USE SIGNS FOR COMMUNICATION.

After Fifty Days, She Asks for Bible and Points to the Hundred and Sixteenth Psalm—Will Eat in Japanese Fashion Only and Neighbors Stand in Awe.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PERRY (Iowa) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After having been in a trance for exactly fifty days, Miss Prudence Vangilder, a pretty 20-year-old music teacher, emerged therefrom today, but in a condition which to family, friends and medical and psychological experts is as full of mystery as ever.

Power to use the English language appears completely gone, but from the lips of the young woman another language which no one here can interpret drops from her tongue with a fluency and musical expression which is the marvel of all who listen.

During the fifty days of trance Miss Vangilder's jaws were rigidly set and food could only be administered by inserting a tube through a tooth especially removed for the purpose. At periods of consciousness Miss Vangilder could not speak, but communicated with friends by deaf and dumb signs.

At midnight last night, Miss Vangilder seemed to come to her normal state. Unable to speak a word of English, she motioned for her Bible, turned to the tenth verse of the one hundred and sixteenth psalm, and by gesture asked her sister to read the following: "I believed, therefore have I spoken; I was greatly afflicted."

While friends gazed awe-struck upon the scene, the mother suggested food and it was brought. But the girl pushed away the tray which her sister sought to place upon her lap and not until she had doubled her knees under her after the fashion of the Japanese, would she consent to eat a mouthful.

GRAND ARMY MEN MEET IN THE HEART OF CONFEDERACY.

Men Who Led Forlorn Hopes in the Civil War Meet Their Old Enemies With Friendly Hearts and Open Hands—The Dead Are Honored.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time in the history of this section of the United States, leaders of the Confederate and Union armies sat side by side in church today in commemoration of the Grand Army of the Republic's decoration day, which is always observed religiously in New Orleans, the Sunday preceding May 30.

Today's remarkable service was held in the Lafayette-street Presbyterian Church, a call having been sent out in this unique language:

"Believing that the Civil War ended at Appomattox forty years ago and that all can join in honoring the dead that fell in that gigantic struggle, Joseph A. Mower Post No. 1, G.A.R., extends a cordial invitation to all participants in the war, Federal or Confederate, to join in this memorial service."

Among the notable leaders participating were: Gen. W. G. Vincent, Washington Artillery; Confederate Veterans, James M. Augustin; representing Sons of Confederate Veterans H. H. Boyle, Department Commander and E. K. Russ, Post Commander, Grand Army of the Republic, and Col. J. E. Treadwell of San Francisco Post, G.A.R., who happened to be in the city.

SOLD HER BRIDAL HOME.

William Corey's First Wife Parts With the House She Bought When a Bride.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRADDOCK (Pa.) May 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The house in which William Ellis Corey and the wife who divorced him began housekeeping in over twenty-three years ago, has been sold.

It was not a small, three-room red "shanty," as has been pictured, but was a commodious twelve-room building which even now is modern. It cost about $5000 and was built with the money which the bride had received as a legacy from the Rev. John A. Locks, pioneer Methodist Episcopal circuit rider of old Braddock's Field, who died shortly before Laura Cook's marriage with Ellis Corey.

The house stands on Hawkins avenue, North Braddock, one of the prettiest suburban residence districts of Braddock and adjoins the home of A. A. Corey, of similar style.

After her divorced husband married Mabelle Gilman, Mrs. Laura Cook Corel cut loose from all old associations, and sold the pretty home to which she had gone as a bride, to William Down, a Braddock business man. The price is said to have been $5600.

PLAYS TO THE GALLERY.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 26.—M. Guerko, Assistant Minister of the Interior, has challenged M. Roditcheff, member of the Executive Committee of the Bar Association, and member of Parliament, to a duel, alleging that M. Roditcheff's recent speech in the Douma on the famine situation, was intended as an insult to him. M. Roditcheff has declined to accept the challenge on the ground that the charges against Guerko place him outside the pale of "the code." Guerko's action is regarded as a play to the gallery, as his letter challenging M. Roditcheff was published in the Novoe Vremya before he sent his seconds to him.

DE LONG NOT FORGOTTEN.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A little group of men stood uncovered in Woodlawn Cemetery this afternoon, while a bugler sounded "taps," and wreaths were placed on six mounds of earth beneath which are buried the bodies of Commander George W. DeLong, United States Navy, and five of his comrades, who lost their lives in the Jeannette expedition in the Arctic.

Baldwin Refrigerators for Government Hospitals
...Twenty-Second Year...
The Baldwin Refrigerator Company has been notified that its proposal to furnish the U. S. public health and marine hospital service with refrigerators for the current fiscal year has been accepted, making the twenty-second consecutive year that this important branch of the government service has adopted the Baldwin dry air refrigerator for use in all its hospitals and quarantine stations. So highly were these refrigerators regarded by the surgeons and stewards as far back as 1884-1885, that one of them was included in the government exhibit at world's exposition, New Orleans, marked "Standard refrigerator for hospital use."—Burlington Free Press, August 18, 1906.

THIRST MAD WHEN SAVED.

Autoists Rescue Dying Man In the Desert.

Prospector's Horse Leaves Him to Horrid Fate.

Difficulties of Motoring In Sandy Wastes.

Death by thirst is altogether more common on the deserts of Southern California than is generally supposed. One reason is because a man, when crazed by want of water, usually strikes away from the beaten tracks of travel into the unvisited wastes.

Often strong men, prospectors long accustomed to the desert, get out of water when within a few miles of a water hole and perish almost in sight of freighters and other travelers. It only takes a few hours for the thirst madness to unnerve the strongest. After the great fear has taken possession of a man, will and mind surrender.

There is a road once used by the "twenty-mule" team from Death Valley to Barstow, Mojave, in the great borax days that is almost lined with graves of the thirsty. On this route, south of Wingate Pass, there are but two water holes for about a hundred miles and either of these are easily passed, for neither is marked by any sign. One, the Lone Willow Spring, is on the mountain side some three miles away from the road and two miles south of where the Wingate Pass road debouches on the old, old road up the Panamint Valley, the twin inferno to Death Valley.

A week ago last Saturday George H. Freeman of Pasadena and Charles Fuller Gates of this city, passed over this same old road in a forty-five horse power Pierce Arrow automobile, inspecting the eighty-mile run from the end of the railroad at Johannesburg to Ballarat, the little town up against the Panamint Mountains, which form the north wall of Death Valley. The big car had been driven all the way from Los Angeles without any unusual incidents. It carried, in addition to Messrs. Freeman and Gates, the charming wife of Mr. Freeman and the Freeman mascot, an unusually intelligent fox terrier.

The day the ride was made up the Panamint Valley the sun was hotter than it had been for many days and there was no desert wind. It was an excellent day for trouble, and especially for developing a thirst. It was also a day for life saving, as it turned out. At least one man will never forget that automobile and that day.

A prospector 71 years old, had started a week before from San Bernardino with a complete outfit. His destination was the rich quartz find near Lone Willow Spring, on the Slate range. He had a light wagon and a good horse—too good an animal, it proved to be.

OLD HAND ON DESERT.

The old prospector, Frank McCabe, had been on the desert for more than thirty years and had several times "struck it rich," the last time near Phoenix, Ariz. He felt no fear of venturing in the Death Valley country at this time of the year for he knew all the water holes.

He had left "Joburg" as they call Johannesburg out there on the desert, two days before and had camped at Granite Well, twenty-six miles out, the second night. He arose that Saturday morning a little later than usual, as the sun does not pop up there at about 4 o'clock in the morning as it does at "Joburg" and Randsburg, for the Pilot Knoll with its 5525 feet of sun shutter holds back Old Sol about an hour.

There were only thirty miles more to drive and abundance of water at those two willow trees up there on the east wall of the old Slate range and a beaten track with great freight outfits passing every few days.

McCabe had supplied himself in San Bernardino with a big milk can to hold water for his horse, himself and his old dog Jack. He had plenty of rations too, and his Alaska coat as well as his overcoat and blankets, picks, hammers and other tools, all new and of the best. So he was unusually happy that morning, but pride goeth before a fall. His horse was disgusted with the desert and longed for the green grass of San Bernardino or even for the corral at "Joburg," and as soon as the beast was hitched up, it trotted off on the back track.

But all in vain. McCabe stormed and swore, walked and then ran, realizing fully his predicament, he put his full strength into his legs and ran as he had not done for years. He ran till he got "a crick in his side," as he afterwards explained.

On his wagon was the well-filled canteen, and all he possessed in the world except the clothes he wore. Even his old dog Jack followed the horse, for the hound did not know enough to stop the beast or stick to his master.

In a little while the horse had disappeared from the prospector's sight, but he pressed on, remembering that there was a hill, some miles on, which his horse would have to climb, and that there was some luscious bunch grass scattered along the road. If he did not overtake the outfit, it would mean a walk all the way to "Joburg," twenty-six miles long, hot miles with no water.

He had been four hours on the way and was now able to make only a few rods at best before resting. The weakness of all his years was on him, and his courage was fast getting away from him. The sun beat down without mercy. He loosened his few remaining garments but the perspiration took from his body moisture that he could ill spare.

At last he laid down to die, but not until he had for an hour chewed the leaves and blossoms of the greasewood bushes, which grow [illegible] and there along the way. His [illegible] was broken.

About noon, after Messrs. Freeman and Gates, aided at times by the little lady, had lifted big boulders out of the rocky cañon road beyond Red Mountain and, with considerable tact, had passed all the freight outfits with their wild horses and mules, making friends with each driver by aid of a bottle brought along for that purpose, the road was clear and good time was being made.

Off on the horizon appeared a black spot. It gradually grew larger until it assumed the form of a horse and wagon. Mrs. Freeman, who was sitting in front beside her husband, was the first to notice the outfit and exclaimed: "There's a horse that I know is going to get scared at the automobile." She was right. The horse began to act nervously and then the fact was discovered almost at the same time by all three people in the automobile that there was no driver.

The car was stopped, Mr. Gates ran ahead several hundred yards and slowly approaching the horse, succeeded in catching it. Mr. Gates felt sure that the animal had escaped from prospectors either at Granite Well or near by, as it showed no exhaustion and would only drink part of a bucket of water. The dog, on the contrary, was nearly dead of thirst and drank about two quarts of water.

The horse was turned and driven back up the desert road. But Capt. Freeman did not agree with Mr. Gates's programme and insisted that the horse be sent towards "Joburg" again, driverless, with a note to the freighters, fastened to the outfit, advising them to take charge of the animal. Said he: "We cannot waste all day this way! For you know that we have a long way to go ourselves and it is late now."

"If we meet any one on foot," Freeman added, "we can explain that the horse and wagon is cared for by the freighters.

After about five miles had been covered, there was noticed a bush laid across the road in a way that showed it had been done recently and, on a second look, the legs of a man were seen projecting into the narrow road from behind a greasewood bush.

"THERE'S YOUR MAN."

"There's your man!" exclaimed the little lady to Mr. Gates.

"Wonder if he is dead?". The sound of the car had aroused the old prospector partly from his stupor. Like a wild man, he staggered to his feet. He could not talk, neither could he stand erect, but seldom does a man show so much joy in his face as did that old man. He seemed to be afraid that the automobile would rush on and leave him there.

He staggered to the side of the car and fell over against it. His mouth was filled with the greasewood leaves that he had chewed up and dug them out with his fingers. Meanwhile Mr. Gates was getting out the canteen and wondering if it would be safe to let the old prospector drink all he wished.

The old man was motioning for water, making signs that were unmistakable. After a while he could speak a little, but his first words were not distinguishable and later it was apparent that the prospector did not know what he was saying.

Mr. Freeman's first thought was to leave the old man the big canteen and go on, though it was the only water on the car, except that in the radiator and cooling system of the engine. But after a hurried council between Freeman and Gates, the latter helped the old man into the tonneau of the car and held him in while the Pierce-Arrow was turned around in the treacherous sand and sent back the five and a half miles to the freighter's camp, where the horse and wagon were overtaken.

The first intelligent thing that the rescued man said was:

"This is the kind of a horse." Meaning that in a big automobile was the proper way to travel.

McCabe was overjoyed to regain his horse and dog. "Yes," said he, "Jack and my horse is the only friends I've got and I love 'em so much."

The old prospector promised that he would return to "Joburg" and rest for at least two days before starting again for the new mining camp.

FRANK M'CABE,

FROM TORTURE GAINS RELIEF.

San Pedro Man Confesses Theft of Patent Medicine Sixteen Years Ago.

A dispatch from Appleton, Wis., states that W. F. Montgomery, a druggist of that city, has received from H. Morse, who formerly lived in Appleton, but who now is said to be a resident of San Pedro, a confession of the theft of patent medicine.

Sixteen years ago, according to the story, Morse helped himself to some capsules and his conscience has been troubling him ever since. Recently, unable longer to endure the mental torture, Morse is said to have sent to the druggist a letter, confessing the crime and revealing a most contrite and religious spirit. The writer inclosed $1 in stamps, expressing the hope that this amount would settle the bill.

SEES HIS BABY FATALLY HURT.

LITTLE ONE TODDLES BEFORE SWIFT ELECTRIC CAR.

Old-Fashioned Fender Does Not Save Unfortunate Child—Crowd Threatens Motorman With Violence, but He Is Rescued By Police and Locked Up—Boy May Die.

Frantic in the agony of his helplessness, Louis Castro of No. 1358 Channing street, saw his baby boy, Sammy, 2 years old, dragged under the wheels of an East Ninth street car for half a block yesterday and probably fatally injured.

They were out for a Sunday stroll and the little one delighted his father's heart by his brightness and activity. Suddenly the baby toddled into the street and before the horrified father could rush to his darling's rescue, he ran upon the track right in front of a swiftly-moving "jigger" car.

Struck by the car, Sammy was thrown under the wheels, for only an old-fashioned fender was attached, and for nearly half a block the little body was rolled over and over and ground under the merciless wheels. Mr. Castro rushed after the car, shrieking to it to stop, but he arrived only in time to gather up from under the blood-stained wheels the unconscious form of his baby.

A crowd quickly gathered and for a few minutes Motorman E. Seybold was in danger of mob violence. But the police quickly appeared on the scene and Seybold was placed under arrest and rushed out of the crowd and locked up at the Central Station.

An ambulance carried the little boy to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained horrible injuries. A strip of flesh three inches wide was torn from his skull and a gash seven inches long circled the back of his head. One leg was broken and the child's face was lacerated severely.

Castro asserts vehemently that Seybold was not at his motor at the moment when the accident occured and that the car was running at a high rate of speed. It is said that Seybold will probably be charged with manslaughter in the Police Court this morning.

DEATH OF AN ARTIST.

Son of Famous Landscape Painter of New York Passes Away at County Hospital.

Paul Moran, an artist and the son of the famous landscape painter, Dimmol Moran, of New York, died at the County Hospital yesterday of tubercular meningitis. For the past five years Moran has resided in and near Los Angeles.

About a week ago he went to the hospital. A friend identified the body. The surgeons of the hospital have notified the young man's father.

CARLISLE DENIES.

Attorney Sheridan A. Carlisle, who was reported by Judge Bordwell in the Superior Court, who was quoting J. H. Smith, the "shoemaker lawyer," to have been "taking cases" for Smith, denies emphatically that this is so. He states he has not taken a case for Smith since 1899, at which time he refused to have anything further to do with them. Mr. Carlisle says that if Smith testified to giving him cases, it was a deliberate falsehood, and that the records will show it.

PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO THE NATION'S DEAD.

Memorial Sunday Observed in Many of the Churches and the Services Attended by Patriotic Organizations. Those Who Died for the Flag Remembered.

YESTERDAY was Memorial Sunday, the day set apart for honoring with religious services the memory of the men who gave their lives for the salvation of the country. The posts of the G.A.R. and other patriotic organizations asembled at their several headquarters and marched to places of worship, where were delivered sermons appropriate to the occasion.

Since the war with Spain, Memorial Sunday has a larger significance. It is no longer devoted solely to recalling the heroism of the struggle for a united republic, but is also the time for paying honors to the heroes who died in Cuba and the Philippines, supporting the flag which their fathers had followed on many a bloody field in the South.

The services yesterday served a double purpose. They not only honored the dead, but inspired patriotism in the living. The eloquent words of many preachers were heard by thousands and will be read by many thousands more. Following are reports of the principal services of the day:

The Memorial Day services at the Temple Baptist Church were under the auspices of the United Spanish War Veterans. The military and patriotic organizations of the city were all invited to attend, but many of them had already accepted invitations to worship with other churches. The United Confederate Veterans of both Camp 770 and Camp Sam Davis, Robert E. Lee Chapter, Wade Hampton Chapter and Los Angeles Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and individual members of many other organizations attended. The Spanish War Veterans were seated in a body with their colors.

Special music was a feature of the services. While the organizations were being seated, Dr. Kingsley played off the chimes of the great organ many of the old war songs. The offertory organ solo was "War Mar of the Priests" (Mendelssohn,) and the quartette sang "The Vacant Chair," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Congregational singing included "God Bless Our Native Land," "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

TRIBUTE TO GEN. CHAFFEE.

Before preaching the sermon, Rev. Robert J. Burdette paid a feeling tribute to Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who was present in a box. As to that gallant and famous soldier, Rev. Burdette said:

"We are honored this morning, as any congregation in this United States would be honored, by the presence of a guest whom I would be delighted to present to this great assembly. My pleasure is defeated, however, by the soldierly timidity of a great captain, to whom, as is the manner of his kind, an audience 'is more terrible than an army with banners.' I wanted you to receive him with the Chautauqua salute. I want every old soldier in this assembly to know him. I want every boy in Los Angeles to know him, for he is a splendid type of the American soldier. A boy, with the love of country burning in his soul, loving the flag as he loved his mother, he enlisted as a private soldier in Co. K of the world-famous Sixth Cavalry, United States Army, on July 22, 1861. Without the aid of political influence or friends in place, by sheer force of ability, merit, courage, and because such a man was needed in the higher places of service, he won his way, American-wise, step by step, through all the grades of the service, save that he cannot say, with Mulvaney—'I was a corporal wanst.' He was given a sergeant's chevrons October 1, 1861, being then in the service less than three months. September, 1862, he was promoted to first sergeant. March 13, 1863, he was made second lieutenant, Sixth Cavalry. For 'gallant and meritorius service' in the battle of Gettysburg, July 3, 1863, he was made brevet first lieutenant. He was regimental adjutant and later regimental quartermaster. He was promoted to the full rank of first lieutenant in 1865. For gallant and meritorious service at the battle of Dinwiddie Courthouse, Virginia, he was made brevet captain, in 1865, being promoted to the full rank in 1867. He won his majority for 'gallant and efficient service' in engagement with the Comanche Indians on Paint Creek, Tex., in 1868.

"He was one of 'the old-fashioned colonels.' He was a Grant-like soldier, quiet, modest, strong, persistent, with the great captain's power of inspiring confidence.

"Step by step, as the nation needed him in stations of higher command and broader responsibilities, he was called upward. And when, but a little while ago, he stepped aside from the active duties of military life, the respect and affection of a grateful people crowned the splendid career of Adna R. Chaffee, general commanding the army of the United States.

"His is a life for the American boy to study and to emulate. Gentle as a woman, chivalrous as Sidney, brave as Ney, he has maintained the honor of his country's flag in the war for the Union, in the Indian wars, in Cuba, in the Philippines and in China.

"He was one of the 'old-fashioned colonels' who rode with his men, or a little ahead of them, always with his face to the enemy. And that may account for the fact that for the first time in his life he has shrunk from facing outnumbering odds, because you are all his friends. The country is proud of such a soldier; Los Angeles is proud of such a citizen."

REV. BURDETTE'S SERMON.

As the subject for his sermon to those who had fought for their country—for it is now accepted that even the sons of the Confederacy fought for what they considered their country—Rev. Burdette chose "The Lost Port." To those who have been on the firing line, the word-picture he painted took them back to other days. He said:

MORNING.

"Silence, and the darkness before the dawn. Across the meadows, through fields of trampled grain, and far down the aisles of the forest, the stacked muskets mark the multiplied lines of the bivouac, broken here and there by the dark squares where the batteries are parked. Along all the lines the camp fires smoulder in their ashes. Across the velvet blackness of the sky the starry battalions march in the stately order of a million years—squadrons of the glory of God. Now and then, as a bearded veteran might lightly and smilingly touch the shoulder of a little child, playing at war, proud of his toy gun and paper epaulet, a great star that has flamed the splendor of the Almighty since time began, touches with a flash of golden light the bayonet of a sentinel, guarding the slumbers of his wearied comrades. Tired as the weariest of them, his own eyes burn and his body aches for sleep, but honor on his right side, and fidelity on his left, wind their mailed arms about him and keep pace with his steady step as he walks his beat. He is but a man, and he may go mad from sleeplessness; but he is a soldier, and he will not sleep. The morning darkness deepens and it gathers the sleeping army into its silent shadows as though it would smother it in gloom.

"Into the silence and the night, as a star might fall into an abyss, clear, shrill, cheery, insistent, a single bugle sings, like a glad prophecy of morning and light and life, the rippling notes of the 'reveille.' Like an electric thrill the laughing ecstacy runs through all the sleeping slumbering ranks. A score of regiments catch up the refrain, and all the bugles—infantry, battery and flanking troopers carol the symphony to the morning. Shouting and crowding soldiers swell the chorus with polyphonic augmentation; the shrill tenors of neighing chargers answer the 'sounding of the trumpets, the thunder of the captains and the shouting.'

"And from all the corrals of the baggage and ammunition trains, the much-derided mule, far more important and essential to the success of the campaign than his aristocratic half-brother, raises his staccato baritone in loud and far-reaching antiphonal response. The camp, that a moment since lay in such stillness as wrapped the ranks of Sennacherib as when the death angel breathed on the face of the sleeper, is awake. And if one closed his eyes to shut out the gleaming bayonets and the stacked muskets, and the guns, silent and grim, muzzled by their black tampions, and only listened, he might think he was in the midst of a mob of joyous, care-free, happy schoolboys out on a vacation lark.

"A soldier is a man with a boy's heart. The heart of the morning on a march sings in the notes of the reveille—joyous, free, exultant: it is the very ecstacy of life; the thrill of strength; the glad sense of fearlessness and confidence; a man's fighting desire to match his strength against the courage and prowess of a man worth while. On every camp of true-hearted soldiers rises 'the sun of Austerlitz.'

"And now at noon straight over the earth hangs the great blazing sun, as he poised in his onward flight for just a second, to say 'I want to see the very beginning of it.' He flames down on the long trail of yellow dust that stifles the marching columns. The songs are hushed for the feet are tired and the throats are parched. The fours are straggled across the roads, as the files find the easiest path for the route step. Conversation is monosyllabic. A soldier barks out a jest with a sting in it, and catches a snarl in response. A tired man, with a face growing white under the bronze, shakes his canteen at his ear, and decides that he isn't thirsty enough yet.

"A trooper comes galloping from the front with the official envelope sheathed underneath his belt, and he joyously sung and shouted on his way along the rough edges of the road, by the sarcastic infantrymen, momentarily grateful for the diversion of his appearane—a human target against which all their common shafts of wit and taunt may be launched, envenomed with the envy of the soldier with two legs in his hereditary jousting with the one who glories in six. He is gone.

"The tumult and the shouting dies. Again the long winding road; the yellow dust; the endless scollop of the hills; the dry beds of the water brooks; the blazing sun; the cloudless sky; the tired men; the silent muffled impatience over the step that has been quickened without orders; the long stretch of marching since the last rest; an occasional order barked by a line officer, to correct the disordered formation; over all, the hot stillness of noon. The morning breezes died long ago. The air is dead. The leaves on the forest trees that line the road, swooned with the prayer for rain in their last faint whisper of the dying zephyr that kissed them in its passing. The dust of martality covers their brave greenery—the same yellow dust that veils the phantom army marching past."

PLEDGE OF LOYALTY.

WHOLE CHURCH TAKES IT.

Standing in the presence of life-size illuminated portraits of two martyred Presidents—Lincoln and McKinley—and looking past banks of the national colors to the benign faces of those two heroes, the entire congregation assembled in the Boyle Heights Methodist Church last night pledged itself to loyalty to the country and the flag.

Boyle Heights Methodism is intensely patriotic, and every year the Memorial Day services are an important feature of this church. Last night there was a large congregation, in which there were many old soldiers and members of patriotic societies.

The two beautiful memorial windows, containing in art glass the portraits of Lincoln and McKinley, were brilliantly illuminated, and from the pulpit, choir loft and other points were draped the American flags.

The services were in charge of Rev. Alfred Inwood, the pastor, who made the introductory remarks, wherein he made a strong plea for observing next Thursday as a holy day instead of a holiday.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Dr. Bell of Buffalo, N. Y., an

UNION SQUARE.

THE Bible class of the Magnolia-avenue Christian Church enjoyed a banquet in the church parlors Friday evening. Miss Maud Madeline Mosher was a special guest of the evening and read several selections from Barrie's "Little Minister," which were much appreciated. J. I. West, teacher of the class, gave a talk, and Rev. J. P. McKnight, the pastor, made a witty and helpful speech. Miss Della Parker of Santa Ana also read a selection. The class has been organized two years and has a membership of fifty-five.

Miss Madeline Mosher of No. 2813 Ellendale avenue returned Saturday from Fullerton. She was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman in Fullerton.

A coat of oil has been given Twenty-third street from Chester Place to Union Square, and Burlington has also been improved in this respect from Sixteenth street to its junction with Hoover at Twentieth street.

MISS MAUDE MADELINE MOSHER, whose reading was a feature of the banquet at the Magnolia-Avenue Christian Church Friday evening.

Concrete is being laid on Hoover street at Union Square and within a short time this thoroughfare will be entirely surfaced from Washington to Twenty-eighth street.

Mizpah W.C.T.U. met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Childs, No. 1328 West Twenty-second street. Mrs. Allen made a report about the recent State convention and Mrs. M. R. Sherfy read a paper upon the effect of tobacco. Claude Miller gave a violin solo. It was decided to purchase a library on home economics. Many school children were present.

Mrs. Mary E. Burdick of West Twenty-fifth street, left last week to visit relatives in the East.

THE NORTHWEST.

The Sunset Improvement Association, which is pushing the paving and widening of Sunset boulevard, is meeting continual encouragement. Nearly one-half of the entire frontage in the district is signed up at the present time, and solicitors are continually extending the list. Hollywood is in favor of continuing the brick pavement to the west end of Prospect avenue, making the total length more than six miles. The one and a half miles between Los Angeles and the Hollywood city limits will be provided for by the annexation of Colegrove and East Hollywood, or by the county Board of Supervisors, it is stated. West of Marian street, Sunset boulevard is 100 feet wide, while east to the terminus in Sonoratown it is 83 feet in width. The street is to be widened seventeen feet and cut through to Main street. The line will be changed to pass directly in front of the Broadway tunnel and will cut off a portion of the rectory of the old Plaza Church.

Mayor Harper has been invited to address the next meeting of the Sunset Boulevard Improvement Association, which will take place next Monday evening. The subject will be the Owens River proposition. Councilman Clampitt, who was recently over the route, will also address the meeting on the same subject. The association has sent a petition to the Park Commission for a driveway from Sunset boulevard to Echo Park, and over this will be erected one of two large ornamental arches. Councilman Clampitt has promised his support of the project.

W. M. Cassidy of Chicago is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers of No. 2206 Olympian avenue. Mr. Cassidy is connected with the Chicago News.

C. B. Ford of No. 2175 Olympian avenue has completed an eight-room cement house, built of the mission style, and expects to build another at the summit of the Fellowship tract.

Miss Eva Curry, a student at the State University, has returned from Berkeley to her home, No. 2405 Temple street.

UNIVERSITY.

President George F. Bovard of the University of Southern California will carry to Europe with him next month two handsome presents, which will continually remind him of the esteem in which he is held by students and faculty. Following chapel exercises Thursday morning, the students presented him with a set of field glasses costing $30, and on behalf of the faculty, he was given a big steamer suit case. Resolutions were adopted, wishing him a happy journey and a safe return. Speeches were made by Prof. James Hoose, and President Oliver Best of the student body. Each class extended greeting through its president. Dr. Bovard will leave on the evening of June 12, and after a brief visit in Boston, will go to New York, where he will sail on June 19, on the steamer Cymrick.

The University W.C.T.U. gave a programme Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. G. Kuck, No. 1305 West Forty-first street. The subject was "Faith and Arbitration," and addresses were made by Mrs. Wilson of Mitchell, S. D., and Mrs. L. M. Hughes, the president. Mrs. A. J. Mitchell sang an appropriate solo and Longfellow's poem, "The Arsenal at Springfield," was read by Mrs. F. A. Brode.

The University Methodist Church is being renovated. The exterior has been painted an olive green color, and the interior is being tinted and frescoed.

Thomas Bones of No. 1002 West Jefferson street, accompanied by his son and niece, is spending two weeks at Redondo.

The first commencement recital of the College of Music at U.S.C. was given Friday evening. Those who appeared were the voice pupils under Prof. John Walker. A recital of the advanced vocal and instrumental students will be given this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Unckes of Bryan, O., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arch P. Ridenour, No. 1695 West Twentieth street. They will leave for the East on Wednesday, stopping en route at Fresno.

Members of the Swastika Club and their escorts were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ashby, No. 1843 West Twenty-second street. Mmes. Ashby, A. W. Hilder and A. W. Murray were hostesses, and the evening was spent in playing cards. Supper was served at two long tables in the dining-room.

Maj. and Mrs. H. M. Russell and their daughter, Miss Eva Elizabeth Keating of No. 718 West Adams street, left last week for New York. Mr. and Mrs. Russell may go to Europe before returning home.

BOYLE HEIGHTS.

Memorial services for the members who have died during the past year were held in the Boyle Heights Methodist Church, on North St. Louis street, yesterday morning. Rev. Alfred Inwood, the pastor, read the list of the dead while the congregation stood, and immediately thereafter an appropriate hymn was sung. He then gave a discourse on "Christianity and the Future." At the close of the service three united with the church.

Mrs. Lura Beal, who has made her home on Boyle Heights for the past four years, has sold her property at No. 546 North St. Louis street to H. S. Taggart, and last night started for Oakland, where she will visit her son. Later she will go to Bellingham, Wash., to make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schwein and their daughter, Miss Bertha Schwein, who spent some time on Boyle Heights several years ago, have come from Randolph, Kan., and are located at the corner of Chicago and Brooklyn avenue. Mr. Schwein has begun the erection of a residence on his property on City View street, near Cornwell street.

The recently organized J.O.C. Club of the Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church held its first class party Monday evening at the home of Miss Cherry, No. 809 Bridge street. The garden was lighted with Japanese lanterns and the class colors of jet, olive and crimson adorned the rooms. Many games were played and a musical programme was rendered by the Misses Latimer and Eldreda Blanchard and Messrs. Elliott and Del Mar. Refreshments were served on the lawn.

Work will be begun within a few days on the ornamental arch to be erected over State street at the intersection of Fourth street. Subscribers to the project have seen drawings of the architectural adornment and express satisfaction with its design.

Miss Stickney, State president of the W.C.T.U., addressed the meeting of the Boyle Heights circle last week. Those present were much interested in the report made of the State convention held at Redlands. The Loyal Temperance Legion of Boyle Heights expects to unveil a public drinking fountain on East First street on Memorial Day.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church will give an ice cream social tomorrow evening. It will be accompanied by a musical and literary programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Havermale have removed from No. 2204 City View street to their newly-purchased home on Nordica street, Colegrove.

Promoters of the plan to secure the paving of Brooklyn avenue and the change of the name of Macy street to Brooklyn avenue, so as to make one continuous thoroughfare from the city limits to Main street, are still working on the project and claim to have found many property owners in favor of it. Petitions will soon be in the field for the signatures of property owners, and it is believed a majority of the frontage can be secured before fall, at which time it is expected the new bridge across the Arroyo de las Posas will be constructed and the curve in the street will be eliminated.

SOUTH LOS ANGELES.

SAN FRANCISCAN TALKS.

Prominent Insurance Man Says Northern Merchants Are Eager to Shake Off Union Rule, but Timid.

"Public opinion will soon change and Patrick Calhoun will be regarded as the man of the hour," said Fred B. Lloyd, a prominent San Francisco insurance man, last night. He is a guest at the Hotel Alexandria. He says he will return north by automobile, if the union-labor roughs do not blow up his machine en route.

"I know all the men now in the limelight of publicity," remaked Lloyd. "I regard Calhoun as one of the strongest and most patriotic men in my stricken city at the present time. He is standing for a principle. If others followed his example, San Francisco could rid herself of those labor agitators.

"Calhoun is a remarkably able and brave man. So is his assistant, Mullally. I have known the Spreckels family a long time, and never knew any of them to embark in any enterprise unless it meant money for them. Take the Oceanic steamship line, for example. The stockholders were assessed time after time, but the Spreckels did not lose anything. If Rudolph Spreckels is working apparently for the good of the city, you will find something in it for him, back of it all.

"E. P. E. Troy, the lawyer, whose face was slapped by Calhoun, is an aggravating little fellow. He has been in my office many a time, and he was not easy to insult. More than once I have said to him: 'Why don't you go and wash your face.' Troy would smile in a sickly way, but never got angry. He is one of the small fry, but, no doubt, has his little part in the tragedy now being enacted. I believe San Francisco is to have a tremendous struggle, and I also believe that Calhoun is not rightly understood as yet. Union leaders attempt to blind the masses by howling about Calhoun's grasping policy. But he and his assistant, Mullally, are in reality making a fight for freedom from union rule.

"The papers in San Francisco are for the most part dominated from the business office, and since coming to Los Angeles I have learned more about the crisis in San Francisco in The Times than I have in any northern paper. There are plenty of business men in our city who want to be freed from the union-labor yoke, but they are timid.

"Why, one of my business associates writes me that a number of firms have signs in their stores to the effect that any employés of theirs detected riding in the street cars will be discharged. Such weak yielding to the bosses only strengthens their position."

PUPILS ENTERTAIN.

Sacred Heart School Gives Its Annual Programme in Conaty Hall and Wins Commendation.

Mere tots of tender years, singing and reciting in various languages made an interesting feature at Conaty Hall, yesterday afternoon, when the annual programme of the Sacred Heart School was given before a large audience.

Fully 100 children, ranging in age from 3 to 18, participated in the attractive programme. One of the features most highly appreciated by the assemblage was a little pantomime and story in song, entitled, "Our Little Grandmothers," and rendered by about thirty of the little ones dressed in the costumes worn by the women of colonial days, powdered wigs, and all. When these diminutive tots courtesied and sang in their piping voices: "When I Was Twenty-one," the listeners cheered so heartily that they almost frightened the wee performers.

There were compositions by the masters sung in Spanish, German, Italian, Latin and English by young girls who, though of the grammar school age, pronounced their words with the precision of a linguist. The boys of the school sang several songs in quartettes and solos and also performed creditably on the piano and other instruments, while the older girls composing the elocution class, under the instruction of Mrs. A. S. De Yoe, recited Longfellow's "Bridge" in chorus, accompanied by two little girls, Annabel Hoolihan and Alma McAttee. For this piece the stage was set with a scene of the bridge and tower delineated in the verses, and a portrait of Longfellow was hung conspicuously.

Mayor Harper was present and at the close of the programme expressed his pleasure at the talent exhibited by the pupils of the Sacred Heart School and the excellent work done by its instructors.

Tired, Nervous Mothers

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. She is a source of misery to every one who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself. She cannot help it, as her condition is due to shattered nerves caused by some feminine derangement, with backache, headache, and all kinds of pain, and she is on the verge of nervous prostration. Proof is monumental that nothing is better to regulate a woman's health than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N.Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — I was a wreck from nervous prostration. I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth, and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances."

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a life-long resident of Fredonia, N.Y., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves, and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the Change of Life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."

MRS. PINKHAM'S INVITATION TO WOMEN.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised. She will hold your letter in strict confidence as indicated by the fact that every private letter received by her during the last twenty years, and more, she now has in the Company's laboratory under lock and key, and no testimonial has ever been published without special written permission. Her advice is free and always helpful.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND, a woman's remedy for woman's ills, made from Native Roots and Herbs, complies with all conditions of the new Pure Food and Drugs Law, and is so guaranteed.

PAY HIGH TRIBUTE.

old veteran who is spending a few months in Southern California.

He spoke in an earnest manner of the character of the manhood which had offered itself for the defense of the nation in its sorest days of trial, and dwelt upon the sacrifices involved in this devotion to the flag. He closed with a plea to the congregation, as individuals, to resolve to stand by the flag and to ward it from the perils which are certain to beset as this government advances.

He called for a pledge from the people, and the whole vast congregation arose and solemnly pledged itself to loyalty to the flag and all for which it stands.

During the service, patriotic hymns were sung and the choir rendered two patriotic anthems.

KENESAW POST.

HEARS STIRRING SERMON.

Memorial services were held in the East Side Congregational Church, yesterday morning, and the pastor, Rev. Frank S. Forbes, spoke to a large congregation, which included the members of both the Kenesaw Post, G.A.R., and the Kenesaw Woman's Relief Corps.

The speaker based his discourse on the fifth and sixth verses of the one hundred and thirty-seventh Psalm:

"If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her skill; let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth, if I remember thee no; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy."

The address opened with a seting forth of the patriotism shown by the patriarchs of old, and a tribute to the men who haved this republic when the time came for Americans to show their patriotism by the offer of their lives for their country.

"The best way not to forget the deeds of the dead is to do just as true deeds in the present," said the speaker. "The best way to perpetuate the names of these heroes on earth is to carry forward to the coming generations the priceless liberties purchased with their blood. Because of what they did, our way is made easier; because of the battles they fought and the victories they won, our battles will be easier and our victories greater."

Continuing, Mr. Forbes said:

"The last battle for freedom in this country has not yet been fought. This nation is rapidly approaching a crisis more serious than that of fifty years ago which plunged the nation into a civil war. That was a sectional strife; the one approaching is a class struggle; that was fought in the open; this is being fought in the dark, behind barred doors, under secret oath, and in skirmish which is the most destructive method of warfare.

"Unlike the nations of the old world, we have no iron hand of autocracy to hold in check this class conflict. We are a free, easy-going people with no strongly developed central power, no iron hand to restrain us, no sovereign power to clip our wings, and no check on our passions save the civic conscience of the common people.

"With the coming of this class conflict upon our soil a new problem is thrust upon us, one more serious and far-reaching than any we have hitherto faced. Our very democracy is on trial; and within the next two decades we must solve the problem as to whether a government of, by and for the people shall live for ever, or perish from the face of the earth.

"I dislike the term 'class struggle,' and still more do I dislike to speak of the people of this republic as divided into classes; but the facts are such we often have to do this. For convenience we will say there are three classes of people in our country; about 10 per cent. form one class who seem to have pretty much of every thing in their hands, and are determined to control the affairs of the nation by any means to their convenience; another 10 per cent. form another class who have nothing to lose and everything to gain by constant turmoil and agitation, and are just as set upon running the country as the former class. The remaining 80 per cent. form the great middle class, whom Lincoln termed the 'plain people,' and who by the grace of God must control the affairs of this nation if it is to advance in the future as it has in the past.

"The trouble is that the plain people are too often the silent people. By sheer force of noise we let the fellows who have no thought of the country, save what they can get out of it, carry the day.

"There is a need of a revival of that spirit of patriotism which swept over the land in the sixties when to deny the country's call was a disgrace little short of a crime. Our strenuous President realizes this, and no one is doing more than he to arouse the sleeping conscience of the common people to awaken to the opportunities and responsibilities of the hour.

"And as a result of his efforts on this line we see a strange anomaly which is nothing else than the untly of the autocratic and the socialistic elements determined to defeat him.

"Herein lies the greatest source of danger to this country, that the 10 per cent. who have nearly all and the 10 per cent. who have nothing will unite their influence to defeat the will of the common people. Both of these classes, the upper and the lower, are tinged with the spirit of anarchy.

"We are accustomed to think of anarchy as synonymous with violence; it has a broader meaning than this; any attempt to defeat the will of the majority of the people, which is the unwritten, if not the written law of this country, by means however foul and unfair is anarchy in spirit if not in fact.

"It is not the anarchy in blue jeans so much as the anarchy in broadcloth which we need to fear. The fellow with a dynamite bomb in his hand is no greater enemy to this country than the man with a bag of gold if the gold has been set apart as a bribe to defeat the will and law of the people.

"So rampant has this spirit of dishonor become in the last few years that we have to coin a new word with which to express it; what Moses called 'coveteousness,' what Jesus called 'mammon,' what Paul called the 'root of all evil,' is what is now known as 'graft.' It is the same old thing which has cursed every nation from Assyria to America, and which has broken forth in the last days with renewed energy under a new name.

"Look at San Francisco. A few years ago a set of men with palatial homes on Nob Hill built a railroad with money borrowed from this government which they never returned, and which they never intended to return. For more than a generation these men with their associates in business ran the affairs of that city, and at times this entire State, with a high hand. Little did they regard the will of the people. It was not long before this same spirit of class selfishness broke out 'south of Market street' and alonk the 'Barbary Coast,' and now the 'stricken city' is reaping the harvest from the seeds of anarchy sown by the upper and the lower tenth.

"For the last ten years San Francisco has hardly had a breathing spell free from idustrial warfare in some quarter, and today all business, except indictment for graft, is practically at a standstill in the metropolis of this Coast.

"No people can sow the wind without reaping the whirlwind. What is true of San Francisco will be true of every city in this country if similar conditions are allowed to exist in other cities as long as they have existed there.

"The hope of the future is in the conscience of the 80 per cent. of the common people. This conscience needs to be aroused today as it was nearly half acentury ago when Gen. Beauregard fired on Fort Sumter. The people must take the reins of this government. The conscience of the common people must rule

"The people must give more attention to their civic duties, and less to their private affairs. Are we not willing to make as great a sacrifice today as our fathers made a little more than a hundred years ago to give us this republic? Are we not as willing to give of our time, of our talents, and of our lives as were the true and loyal men of fifty years ago? The need is now just as urgent. The call is just as great.

"And until every citizen beneath the American flag has the right to do honorable work wherever and whenever he pleases, until every man has the right to engage in any honorable business he chooses, until any young man has the right to learn any trade, or enter any profession he may desire, until every person, whatever color, race or social condition, has the same privileges and opportunities of self-improvement that every other person has, we shall not have a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

STANTON POST SERVICE.

DR. DAY DISCUSSES PEACE.

The war-scarred veterans of Stanton Post, G.A.R., and the women of the Relief Corps were honored guests at the First Congregational Church, yesterday morning, where fitting exercises were held. Fifty little children of the kindergarten class led the processional, carrying small flags draped in black. The Boys' Brigade, in uniform, and the Baraca fife and drum corps received the veterans outside the church and escorted them into the auditorium, where seats had been reserved.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, smilax and large flags, under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte R. Wood. The choir rendered Kipling's "Recessional" and Fred Gunster sang a solo.

Rev. William Horace Day preached on "American Patriotism and the World's Peace," taking his text from Isaiah: "Neither shall they learn war any more." In the course of the sermon he said:

"The first service of our valor was for the liberation of the nation. Of the wars in which we have engaged, four have been wars of liberation. The Revolution was for the liberation of the land. The War of 1812 won the liberation of the sea. The Civil War gained the liberation of the enslaved at home, and the Spanish War liberated the oppressed in Cuba. The greatest of all, the one which did most for the nation, was the Civil War. It was the supreme test of American valor. We honor our illustrious dead because of their sacrifice and because that sacrifice was vicarious.

"But great as is the service of American valor in the service of the nation, it rendered even greater service in the cause of the world's peace.

"This is the only great nation in human history whose whole national life has been devoted to peace, not war. Our business has been to produce, not to destroy. The ancient peace ideal of Israel's prophet has often been attempted, but each effort proved abortive and war remained the method of settling the nation's dispute until the United States became a world power.

"Mr. Stead wrote: 'The right of America to lead in this great cause of peace is nowhere more fully recognized than by the nations of the Old World.' Without the contribution of American valor, others could not have gained the goal. There is about to assemble a second Hague conference, at which Isaiah's ideal may very possibly be realized. If it is, it will be because American valor served the world's peace when it served the nation."

BETHESDA'S MEMORIAL.

FOR BARTLETT-LOGAN POST.

Bethesda Presbyterian Church, at Paloma and Clanton streets, was bright with flags yesterday in honor of Memorial Day. Ten large flags were used in the interior decorations of the auditorium, and flags draped the pulpit, choir loft and main portals, while flowers were placed at many points of advantage.

In this setting assembled a large congregation, which included the members of the Bartlett-Logan Post and Woman's Relief Corps. The address was delivered by Dr. J. M. Newell, pastor of Bethesda Church and a member of this post.

Dr. Newell's theme was "Memories of War." He spoke of the justification of war in the great scheme for the advancement of the human race, and showed that while war is cruel and is certain to carry the sting of the bitterness of death as well as of anguish and suffering untold, its outcome as registered in the history of mankind has shown that it is overruled by Providence, and that right has prevailed and humanity has profited even by this seemingly inhuman means.

Dr. Newell brought illustrations to show how the right side had won eventually in the many conflicts of history, as the victory of the Greeks against the Persians, the prolonged struggle for liberty in Europe, the struggle for religious-freedom, right of trial by jury, and other causes of contention, until the time of our own great Civil War. He set forth the glories of that struggle and the heroic courage exhibited on both sides, and finally the triumph, which both North and South now join in admitting was the best thing for the country and the right thing.

Special music was rendered by the Bethesda choir, and there were solos by G. F. Blaney and Misses Wolf and Reese. The congregation sang patriotic songs.

Sons and Daughters.

A memorial service was held at Native Sons' Hall, No. 211½ West Second street, yesterday afternoon, in which all the local parlors of Native Sons and Daughters participated. The following programme was rendered: "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by the audience; solo, Miss Opal McClary; address, F. A. Stevenson; cornet solo, Carl Baratti; address, Rev. F. E. Dorris; solo, "Abide With Me," Mrs. M. W. Everhardy; "Auld Land Syne" by the audience; benediction, Rev. F. E. Dorris.

We Cure Catarrh, Deafness, Ear Noises, Asthma, Stomach and Blood Diseases

To the Readers of This Paper

The fame and standing of the specialists of the Los Angeles Medical Inst. is based on the twofold service they have rendered society. FIRST, they have placed chronic catarrh, deafness, asthma, bronchitis, and beginning lung troubles, in the list of curable diseases, and to prove this are each week publishing the statements of cured patients right here in Los Angeles.

SECOND—By their incomparable free treatment offer, they have made it possible for every sick and suffering invalid to get well. There is practically no excuse for any one to suffer longer.

Many efforts have been made by traveling fakers in the medical line to imitate our work, but none have succeeded. Do you want to get well, if so, cut out this ad. and bring it to our office and have a talk with us regarding your case.

Cured After Other Doctors Had Failed

The question is often asked, are the remarkable cures we are making permanent ones? In answer to this question we publish the following letter from the stepfather of the boy whose picture appears above. This boy was cured of a discharging ear after other doctors had failed.

DR. BELL,

Dear Sir: I am sending the boy so you can examine his ears. It is now a year since you have treated him and he has had no trouble of any kind, and we consider him permanently cured.

You are more than welcome to use me as a reference, as I know you do the work.

SKIN RASHES

should be treated at once with Littell's Liquid Sulphur. Every skin rash or redness that appears on your face, hands, arms, legs, back or body carries with it the danger of Eczema. Eczema starts just that way—first just a slight redness of the skin—this spreads gradually. Then pustules or blisters from which a gummy, sticky fluid oozes. This dries and scales off or forms bad looking sores and scabs—Eczema. Unless you've had it you can't conceive of the horrible itching, burning, maddening pain. It makes no difference whether you're just at the beginning or far along in your suffering, Littell's Liquid Sulphur will stop itching instantly and absolutely relieve the disease. Penetrates the pores of the skin and kills the germs. This is true of all skin diseases—Rashes, Pimples, Sores, Hives, Prickly Heat—from the slightest to the severest. Sample bottle sent postpaid to any address for 10c. Rhuma-Sulphur Co., St. Louis, Mo. 2

Pen Points

We fear that Guatemala is holding her face up so that it is liable to be hit with something.

The first Owens River bonds were voted fourteen to one. Let us make it unanimous this time.

One drawback is that the knockers will get the benefit of the Owens River the same as other people.

A San Francisco street car now knows how a timid woman feels who is afraid to go out at night.

Mayor Harper's campaign for the Owens River is away ahead of even the one he made for himself.

San Francisco is a smoldering volcano. It would really be better if it would break out and be done with it.

The Republican party may split on the tariff, but the split will not be so big that it will do the Democrats any good.

The power companies are consistent. They would rather see Los Angeles pay money to them than see her pay it to herself.

Everybody is saying Los Angeles will yet be a city of a million inhabitants. How is it going to be so if we don't get more water?

It is believed that it will be as difficult this summer as ever to keep a girl who looks well in a bathing suit from wearing one.

Why all this temporizing with the thugs up north? Will the proverbial "man of the hour" never put in an appearance?

In prescribing black underwear for German royalty the Kaiser has doubtless forced the ladies of the court to hide their gloom.

It has been reliably ascertained that the man who wrote the book "To Hell and Back," is not in San Francisco. One trip was enough.

The frequent morning fogs that we are having are probably caused by "Verit-ass" preparing his daily letter for the Evening News.

"Money makes the mare go," says the proverb. Yes, and it makes her stop, back up, gee, peddywhoa and do any old thing it wants to.

"The nation is back of the San Francisco employers," says James A. Emery. But even that does not seem to stiffen up their backbones.

Although he can have $1.50 cigars all the time, King Edward prefers to smoke a pipe. That man can't help just naturally making himself popular.

Perhaps Mexico would as lief go to war as not, anyway. She has been so long at peace that she must be wondering if she has forgotten how to fight.

The tactics that Rudolph Spreckels employs to make San Francisco "a decent place to live in" are resulting in making it a place impossible to live in.

When a corrupt millionaire and a corrupt boss walking delegate of a labor union stand in cahoots the public stands a mighty good chance to get hornswaggled.

If this were one of the dry years we have often had, and that we are sure to have often again, the necessity of the Owens River would scare people out of their wits.

If Uncle Joe Cannon is really in earnest about his candidacy for the Presidency the other candidates may as well realize that they are going to have a fight on their hands.

Doubtless the Socialists will be quick to deny the aspersion of Gov. Gillett that they are throwing the brickbats. Your true Socialist never throws brickbats. He merely incites others to do so.

Let the Carpenters' Union of Los Angeles strike if it wants to. There are plenty of carpenters who do not belong to the union who will not strike, and there are plenty more eager to come here.

This thing of tearing down the American flag in Canada is happening a little too often. One of these days the Canadians are going to see Uncle Sam's whiskers bristle up, and then something will drop.

It is not to be wondered at that British lords marry American girls. The said girls are everlastingly running after them, and we don't see how the lords can dodge them even when they want to do so.

Japan, 'tis said, again threatens war because some hoodlums wrecked a Jap hash joint in San Francisco. The government is probably willing to allow Japan to sail in and make San Francisco behave herself. Nobody else seems to be able to do it.

AN UNCOMFORTABLE DILEMMA.

Labor unions in their most tyrannous development, as found in San Francisco, have so long enforced their demands, however unreasonable and unjust they might be, upon business men that it has naturally bred in the minds of the McCarthys and Tveitmoes the idea that they can do as they please and that no man will dare oppose them. The employers of labor and all grades of society in San Francisco, down to the butcher and the baker, the corner grocer and the candlestick maker, have allowed this impression to take possession of their minds.

But the labor unions at present confront a man who has created conditions which are shaking their confidence in their ability to run the city in their own way. The United Railroads, after trying two arbitration schemes and finding that the unions cannot be held to their agreements, in despair and desperation have determined upon a fight to a finish. The president of the railroads has made a demand upon the city for protection for his property and his men, and has declared that, not procuring sufficient protection for either, he will hold the city of San Francisco responsible for this failure to maintain peace. This of course will involve damages for the personal injuries suffered by the men and payment for the destruction of cars and other property.

The controlling idea in the minds of San Francisco's business men, leading to their abject surrender to labor unions under all circumstances, has been fear of losing a few dollars in trade by fighting the unions and suffering boycotting. Now they must choose between loss one way or another. Undoubtedly the courts will uphold the railroad company in any suit brought against the city of San Francisco for payment for property destroyed, and undoubtedly the same course will be pursued by the courts in the case of quiet, peaceable workingmen suffering grievous injury at the hands of the violent strikers. These San Francisco business men at last must choose between the evils. In either case they must lose money. They are losing it now in having business practically suspended, and this loss will continue just as long as the disturbance continues. They might as well meet the further loss of business for a time by being boycotted by the strikers as to face the courts with suits for property destroyed and for injuries suffered. The judgments of the courts will be collectable from the treasury of the city. They will constitute a lien against every man's property. That means excessive taxes in future years, which will undoubtedly amount to a larger sum than the loss which might be suffered through the labor-union boycott.

The unions face the same difficulty through the courageous stand taken by President Calhoun. The plot against Calhoun seems to have been an exceedingly neat one and quite becoming San Francisco business men and San Francisco strikers. Mr. Calhoun was cited before Mr. Spreckels's whitewashed "good dogs," the Supervisors, to show cause why his franchise should not be confiscated by reason of his failure to operate the cars. Mr. Calhoun's "show-down" was quite effective, even upon the brutally dull minds of this gang of labor-union boodlers who are kept in office, in spite of their past misconduct and crimes, by the wonderful reform plans of Mr. Spreckels and his prosecutor, Mr. Heney. Calhoun's map showed the operation of cars on every line in the city. He declared that he had demanded protection at the hands of the Chief of Police, that the policemen individually seemed to him to be doing their duty as far as possible, but the protection afforded him for his property and his men at the hands of the city authorities was entirely inadequate. In spite of the half-restrained violence of the rioters, the city of San Francisco, through Calhoun's admirable courage and through the still more admirable bravery of the independent workers who are operating the cars, is getting fair service.

Calhoun's exhibit of what he is doing and the difficulties under which he is operating his cars at all, difficulties which it is the duty of the city government to wipe out of his path, got through the thick skulls and numb brains of men like Gallagher and Tveitmoe. The intervention of courts of justice rose before their minds and deterred even this law-defying and murderous gang of boodlers.

There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable person of what the judgment of any court of justice in America would be. Even San Francisco's Superior courts will undoubtedly uphold the United Railroads in their claims for damages. The same action will be taken in the case of the men who have suffered assault. Then will come the peaceable citizens, with no part in the conflict between the railroad and the strikers, with their claims for damages. It is more than probable that a suit brought by the United Railroads for the loss of income during the prevalence of these riots would also be upheld. If the case should be brought before a San Francisco court presided over by some drunkard, like Hebbard, whose sympathies are with labor unions and rioters, it would be found that the Supreme Court of the State is not constituted of men of that type, and there would remain still an appeal to the United States courts for relief.

So abject is the cowardice of the average business man in San Francisco and so swollen with pride is the tyranny of the labor unions who have had their way so often and so absolutely, that such a view as this probably has escaped the attention of both the labor unions and the cowardly merchants. It is about time for them to get their eyes open to the situation.

Pat Calhoun and Thornwell Mullaly, with one or two kindred spirits by their side, seem to be about as lonely as Abraham and Lot in the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah.

LOS ANGELES NEEDS GEN. CHAFFEE.

Superb material for membership on the Water Board exists in the person of Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, U.S.A. (retired,) who has made his permanent home in Los Angeles. He possesses proved executive ability, and has had wide experience in the conduct of affairs, not only of a military, but, to some extent, of a civil character. He has commanded large bodies of men in the field, and has done great things as a soldier. He rose from the ranks and passed through all the intervening grades to the high rank of lieutenant-general of the United States Army. No man of achievements such as these is anything short of a great man, and a great soldier. It would be high good fortune if Los Angeles could secure Gen. Chaffee's valuable services in the mighty work of constructing the Owens River conduit. Unfortunately, he cannot be appointed to the Water Board because he is not legally qualified for the appointment, not having resided in the city the required five years.

But it would be for the interest of the public service if, later on, his ability and known efficiency could be enlisted in the practical field work that will become necessary for the accomplishment of the actual task of constructing the great aqueduct. Such consummation is worthy of the consideration of the Mayor, the city government and the people at large

THE MONEY POWER.

The reader has fully grasped the meaning of the words in the headline? He has taken in the force attaching to them in the minds of those persons who use them most?

Then the reader knows that in such minds these words have a world of meaning. Their force goes far outside of money pure and simple and stands for all money represents or can buy. These words particularly embrace corporate wealth, and there goes with them a general idea that this wealth was wrongfully obtained and its possessors are generally dishonest. Another idea that goes with them is that corporate wealth is mostly in the hands of a few, and that the shareholders in these corporations are in nearly all cases persons of very great wealth.

Each and every ramification of this type of thought is baseless as the memory of a dream. Old "Nominis Umbra" was not a more shadowy creation than this confused conglomeration of notions.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is one of the greatest corporations in the world. In the minds of the half-baked fellows of socialistic spirit who use the phrase "money power" so often and so confusedly, this corporation is typical of the wrongs which mankind suffer by the existence of corporate wealth. The corporation is the property of a few persons, all multi-millionaires, according to the teachings of this school. The dividends of the company, they think, run to enormous figures. The percentages are criminally high. That is the baseless thought.

Here are the facts: For eleven years the rate of annual dividends declared by this railroad company, the amount of the same and the number of shareholders were as follows:

Year—	Pct.	Dividends.	No. shareholders.
1897	5	$6,465,170	22,045
1898	5	6,465,236	23,720
1899	5	6,465,266	24,690
1900	6	8,781,170	26,032
1901	6	10,857,672	26,305
1902	6	12,262,491	28,675
1903	6	14,792,931	41,474
1904	6	17,933,034	44,396
1905	6	18,113,977	41,030
1906	6½	19,869,661	40,409
1907	7	10,906,784	45,496
		$132,913,392

The highest annual rate of dividend is 7 per cent. The largest annual dividend came to $19,869,661, and was divided between 40,409 persons. The average amount going to each stockholder was less than $500. For the current year the dividends will go to 45,496 persons. One year the average dividends were only a little more than $300.

The average number of shares per capita, held at the present time, is given as 137, and of the shareholders 21,028 are women. These are mostly small holders who have all or nearly all their wealth invested in this stock. Their main source of income is often the few hundred dollars the stock earns in the way of dividends.

Here is where we get the true perspective of "the money power." It is very great. In eleven years this corporation has paid in dividends a total of $132,913,392. The average total number of shareholders would be about 35,000. The average annual dividends have been about $11,000,000. The average sum paid to the shareholders was less than $400. This money was scattered broadcast over the United States and went to the support of these thousands of persons, nearly half of them women. In many cases they were women whose main reliance was this little sum coming from the earnings of this great corporation. In all, 200,000 persons received part of this money in the eleven years. The recipients spent it at thousands of grocery stores, dry goods stores, and other small places of business. It went to pay rent for small cottages, sometimes for room rent. Some of it went to pay wages to working people. The goods bought fed widows and orphans and clothed and housed the same class of persons.

And here you see the gross injustice done by those whose mission in the world is to preach the doctrine of hate, and to stir up discontent, founded on a propaganda of lies.

PRESIDENTIAL BOOMING.

The great American republic is having "the time of its life" in arranging whom it will elect next year to preside over its destinies for the following term of four years. We must not let our minds be misled by the keen-scented newspaper boys at Washington who never sleep in their vigilance to get a "good story."

But one of them has got an idea which is not misleading, which is indeed corrective of former partially true views. This one tells us that the President is not disposed to put all his Presidential "eggs in one basket." That is very reassuring. Mr. Roosevelt is reported as well disposed to see any one of several prominent and able Republicans win the nomination. There were a good many persons who had already refused to let themselves be misled in this respect. The President is not only too wise, but too politic to tie up the fortunes of his programme to any individual. He knows that it is the great body of the people who will name his successor. He knows that the public are more or less divided in mind as to who is to bear the party standard in the campaign of 1908. The people have a right to cherish these views, and there is plenty of time to reach a decision. It would be very bad politics to insist on any particular man with uncompromising hostility to all the other aspirants. That kind of politics always arrays all the elements against the one man and defeats him nine times out of ten.

There is a great plenty of good stuff in the Republican party out of which to select a President. It will be more a question of policy than of personality. The struggle is to be between those in the party who are with the President in his policy to enforce the anti-trust laws, and reactionists who disapprove of the President's course. There are a dozen men in the party any one of whom would make an able President and who would go on with the work so well begun by Mr. Roosevelt.

Those who are opposed to the President in this matter are distinctly reactionaries. The anti-trust laws are all Republican in their origin. They are on the books as the result of Republican votes. Republicans framed these laws. They are parts of the party policy and the party is committed to them. Any candidate who will not stand for them is a reactionary and an illogical candidate. Any able Republican who will stand for the execution of these laws is a logical candidate. The people want these laws and wish them to be strictly executed. Satisfy them that the candidate is sound on this and they will see that he is elected. Leave room for doubt on this head and the people will be less enthusiastic.

To be sure, there is great doubt as to what the people could do in such a case. The Democratic party had an opportunity to pass laws similar to the Sherman law and to the Hepburn law, but they did not pass them. They had two opportunities to enforce the anti-trust laws, and they did not do that. There has never been an administration more thoroughly under corporation influence than those of Grover Cleveland. Parker was a man of the same views. Had he been elected, there would have been no attempt to execute the laws against monopolies and trusts.

The coming Democratic candidate is as much of an uncertainty as our own party nominee. Should our spectacular friend from Nebraska get into the race for the third time, his instability of mind, and his catching at socialistic straws and political vagaries would again split his own party so hopelessly as to defeat him. If the choice lights on a man like Judge Gray, then the Bryan wing will knife him as they did Parker.

TEDDY AND UNCLE JOE.

We are informed as an important matter of news that Joseph G. Cannon, Congressman from Illinois and Speaker of the House, is a frequent and welcome visitor to the Executive Mansion and that this picturesque American statesman is in all respects persona grata to the President.

Why should this not all be so? Why should not the President and the Speaker be the very best of friends? Who with a soul in his body and a heart where warm, red blood pulsates could resist the many fascinations of "Uncle Joe?"

He comes of much the same rugged, honest stock as Lincoln. He was born in the Old North State, not far from Abraham's "old Kentucky home." He has spent nearly all his life among the "suckers" of the broad prairies, as Lincoln did. In many respects he resembles the immortal first martyr among our Presidents.

No scandal has ever had a place for one moment in the private or public life of Joseph G. Cannon. He has always stood for American ideals of the highest order, and he is rock-ribbed in his devotion to Republican principles.

Read the biographies of members of Congress all through. How many are so simple, so short, so honest, so lacking in pretense as Cannon's? Eight lines tell all he has to say for himself and his life's work. He has written an autobiography shorter than that. Here it is: "Joseph G. Cannon was born of God-fearing, man-loving parents. He made himself and is badly made." Uncle Sam himself might have said that and stamped it as typical of Americans.

It is well for some of the aspirants for the Presidential nomination that Joseph G. Cannon is past the seventy-first milestone in his earthly career. That is a greater age than that at which the burdens of the Presidency have ever been placed on the shoulders of any man. Until recently, from fifty to sixty had been the time of life at which a man was supposed to have reached the proper maturity of thought and spirit for the duties of the office. Cleveland broke the record for youth when elected the first time and Roosevelt was even younger when he came to the office.

The Governor says he has "confidence in the good sense of the better class of union men." So would we were it not for the frequently demonstrated fact that they haven't the courage to rise up and take the thugs by the neck and throw them out of their organizations.

THE OLDEST TREE.

Some one has discovered a tree in the island of Ceylon, which a fable says was planted in the time of Buddha Gautama, making its age about 2300 years. This is asserted by an eastern or European publication to be the oldest tree in the world.

Don't try to take its garland from California! Some specimens of our Sequoia gigantea, in Big Tree Grove, near the Yosemite, were monsters lifting their green heads hundreds of feet into the sunlight before this Ceylon tree or Buddha sprouted. Cross-sections of these California giants have been counted and as many as 7000 rings found in one section. President Jordan estimates the age of such a tree at 8000 years. No one with any knowledge of the subject puts its age at less than 4000. The guesses generally run at 6000 to 7000 years. Making all allowances for years of unusual growth when two rings are made, it is probable that the California tree is between 6000 and 8000 years old. It is probably among the oldest living objects on the face of the earth. It was an immense giant when the tree was felled to make the cross. Its head had been riven by lightning before the fire fell on Sodom.

When the oldest buried civilization of Egypt was in its prime, this tree burst from the soil of the primeval earth. All the civilization of after ages had their birth, reached maturity and decayed while it grew to its present stature. It has looked down in indifference on the rise and fall of dynasties, empires and kingdoms. Nearly 250 generations of men have come and gone during the life of this patriarch of the woods. Pick out a succession of men who have lived a century, and this tree has outlived seventy of them.

The oldest tree? Why, this tree (if Prof. Jordan's guess is right) was 2000 years old at creation—according to Bishop Usher's chronology.

ANOTHER DESERT HORROR.

Despite what has been done to lessen the dangers of the desert—so little that it is almost nothing—another victim has been added to those who have perished miserably of thirst on the burning sands, solely because of the criminal policy of indifference followed by authorities of county, State and nation ever since the days of '49, over half a century ago. J. W. Murray of Tehachepi, for years superintendent of the Pine Tree mine near that town who lost his way near Bagdad by leaving his camp to look for a strayed mule, is the last victim. The evidence shows that he was a victim of a "blind trail." The place where he met his sad end was but six miles from Willow Springs. His companion, a young man named Durnal, from Tehachepi, whom he had left at the camp asleep when he went after the mule, nearly lost his life in his efforts to follow and locate him. Only Durnal's youthful strength and endurance saved him from the fate that overtook Murray.

With proper precautions in the way of signs on all trails, new water supplies and such other provisions as a little attention and study of the needs would doubtless have suggested years ago, if the matter had received attention, there would be very few, if any, tragedies of this kind. Why was that "blind trail" left, unmarked, to lure a lost traveler to a horrible death? Such cases should make every legislator, State or national, every county Supervisor and every voter blush for shame. The conditions all over the western desert are simply a national disgrace. Millions to guide the mariner, not one cent to protect the miner, prospector and desert traveler, seems to be the rule. It is high time for a most radical change. As the chief city to which practically four-fifths of the desert is tributary, Los Angeles should act. Let the commercial bodies, the Chamber of Mines and all citizens take action and stir up the authorities. Every member of the Legislature, our Senators and Congressmen should be made to realize their duty and do it.

HOROSCOPE FOR THIS DAY.

Monday, May 27, 1907.

BY COZETTE.

"Dispatch is the watchword for this day."

This is the 147th day of this year. Full moon; age fifteen days. Jupiter is evening star and Venus is star of the morning.

There must be no deliberation or wavering on this day, for he who hesitates is lost indeed. There must be no dragging back. Expedition and alacrity alone will insure the success desired. One little hour of procrastination may cause a lifetime of regret. Think and act quickly. Keep all engagements, social or business, with promptness, and urge upon dilatants and tardy comers the necessity for promptitude. Hasten your own and press others for immediate decisions in matters of importance. They will prove for the best.

Those whose birth anniversary this day is should beware of lawsuits or litigation. They will also shortly receive some good advice from a friend that they will do wisely to heed.

Children born today will be clever, but of uncertain luck. Sometimes success and sometimes reverses will prevail. They will be of a very melancholy temperament and should avoid solitude at all times.

An Adroit Bishop.

American bishops sometimes have difficulty in stimulating the missionary zeal of their people, says the London Daily Telegraph. Bishop Talbot says that being asked to go to Buffalo for that purpose, he found it useless to tell the wealthy congregation he addressed that so many dollars would build a church and equally futile to descant on the privations of the missionaries. Surprising success resulted, however, when he told the story of Washakie, an Indian chief who killed his mother-in-law and was afterward brought under Christian influences. Purse strings were at once unloosed and money was poured out like water.

But one woman in the congregation charged the bishop at a private interview with venting his personal feelings against mothers-in-law. The bishop, however, was able to explain that he had no mother-in-law and thereupon received an additional check for $250.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Boarding is one of the very best cures for the gout.

One sensible thing about spending all your money is you never have any to lose on investments.

To a girl her wedding is like entering heaven; to a widow getting married again is like leaving the other place.

A woman's enjoyment of a visit is writing long letters to those at home telling them all the grand things she is doing just as if she really were.—[From the New York Press.

"Life," remarked the pessimist, "is really not worth living."

"If that's the way you feel about it," rejoined the optimist, "you should apply for a job as baseball umpire."—[Houston Post.

BITS OF VERSE.

Treasures of the Deep.

There are treasures lost in the tropic sea,
Where the phosphor lights of the ocean glow
In the coral caves of the manatee,
Where the mermaid sirens come and go,
Where the pulsing tide, as it sinks and swells,
Stirs the notes of the sunken galleon bells.

There are wrecks deep down in the tropic sea—
And the bones of men on its golden shore,
Who gave up their lives to the mystery
That holdeth its secrets forevermore.
Of the hopes that went down in that tropic gale
The sea holdeth silence, and tells no tale.

There are treasures hid in the hearts of men,
Where the turbid currents of passion flow—
Dead hopes that may never revive again,
And the ashes where love's dying embers glow;
And tides that surge over the heart unheard,
Keep their secrets well, for they speak no word.
—[E. F. Filedar, in New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Earth-Weary.

Pale brow too white for traceries of pain,
Frail hands too soft for this world's thorn and rue,
Unearthly eyes beneath whose drooping lids
There lay too much of heaven shining through.

Pale, weary feet that strove to keep the road,
But longed across the poppy fields to roam;
Then God looked down—saw anguish in her eyes,
And through a poppied sunset led her home.
—[By Archibald Sullivan, in Appleton's for June.

Life's Lesson.

We weary at times of the striving,
The old, unvarying round:
The grind of the store and office,
The millwheel's ruminant sound.
But the sun doesn't weary of rising,
And the rose goes blooming along,
And the robin, forever disguising
His grief, fills the valleys with song.
—[Baltimore Sun.

The Merry Heart Goes All the Way.

When you come to a wearisome bit of road,
Where the stones are thick and the path is steep,
And the back is bowed with the heft of the load,
As the narrowing way is hard to keep.
Don't stop just then for a wasteful sigh,
But challenge the worst with steadfast cheer;
If nowhere else, there is help on high—
God's angels will hasten, your pioneer.

Curtained about with mist and murk,
Where shivering, grim hobgoblins lurk,
Just laugh to scorn their doleful cries—
This is the place to whistle and sing.
Brush the fog from your fearless eyes

When you stand at the sorrowful bit of the road,
And the hand you loved has loosed its clasp;
When streams are dry that in sweetness flowed,
And flowers drop from your listless grasp;
E'en now take heart, for farther on
There are hope and joy and the dawn of day:
You shall find again what you thought was gone.
'Tis the merry heart goes all the way.
—[Margaret E. Sangster.

Bereaved.

Let me come in where you sit weeping—aye,
Let me, who have not any child to die,
Weep with you for the little one whose love
I have known nothing of.

The little arms that slowly, slowly loosed
Their pressure 'round your neck—the hands you used
To kiss—such arms—such hands I never knew,
May I not weep with you?

Fain would I be of service—say something
Between the tears, that would be comforting
But oh!—so sadder than yourself am I
Who have no child to die!
—[James Whitcomb Riley.

The Hotel's Fire Escape.

In the days before the dawn of his fame it was the practice of a certain well-known author to wander up and down the land seeking what he might devour in the way of suggestion and local color. In this way he had drifted down into Arkansas, "roughing it" and not, as he expresses it, presenting an appearance calculated to inspire a hotel proprietor with unlimited confidence.

The only hotel in the town, a frame structure, seemed to have been built upon the theory that there was plenty of room straight up, but that ground had to be bought, and the wanderer was shown to a room on the third floor reached through many narrow and winding passages. From the one window it was a straight drop to the ground.

"Say, how would I get out of this place in case of fire?" he asked the landlord, who had brought up his grip.

The other eyed him coldly.

"Wall," he drawled, "all yo' would have to do would be to show ther night watchman—the one with ther shotgun—a receipted bill foh yo' board an' lodgin' and get him to tie up ther bulldog."—[Harper's Weekly.

Insane Never Co-operate.

Crazy people never act together, declares the superintendent of a large asylum for the insane, quoted in the Medical Times (New York, April.) "If one inmate attacks an attendant, as sometimes happens, the others would look upon it as no affair of theirs and simply watch it out. The moment we discover two or more inmates working together we would know they were on the road to recovery." It is on this account that there are so few concerted mutinies in insane asylums; so that the number of attendants does not have to be large.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The musical situation in the local theaters has reached a crisis. Every manager affected has so far distinguished himself by standing fast, and the developments of yesterday put the final turn to the game of union bluff.

Manager Blackwood, of the Belasco, yesterday notified three orchestra leaders, from his dozen applicants, to bring their people for rehearsal this week. Before Saturday one orchestra of the trio will have been decided upon.

Manager Morosco, of the Burbank, last night handed his orchestra a written ultimatum, demanding a rescinding of the union stipulation concerning numbers within forty-eight hours—else they will consider themselves discharged.

Clarence Drown, just arrived from the East, announced that as far as the Grand and Orpheum are concerned, there will be no dictation allowed on any point in question.

In case of orchestral trouble, it may be predicted with a degree of certainty that the stage hands will not strike sympathetically. A great deal of sense seems to have characterized all the negotiations of these men with their employers, and, so pleasant have relations been between them, that the men have entered into a contract for three years.

Mr. Drown arrived late Saturday night, after an absence of almost a month and a half—most of which time was spent in New York City.

The first matter presented to him by his subordinates was 'the absurd "order" of the musical union. Mr. Drown's opinion was brief and unequivocal.

"This is ridiculous—that's all I can say," exclaimed Mr. Drown.

"In the first place, these darned fool bosses are merely going over ground that I have already canvassed, and exploited to its uttermost resources. Now, I am a lover of an orchestra. I like an orchestra, with all the instruments. When we first moved into the new Orpheum, I was dissatisfied with our small instrumentation, and I asked Frankenstein if it wouldn't be possible to find room for a second violin. After a little squeezing around, this was done. Then I had a longing for a 'cello, but the orchestra men all looked dubious—on account of the small space—and I had to call the carpenter into requisition. He managed to dig me out a place for my 'cello, but that's the last instrument we could manage to put in. If I had any more room, I would have an oboe, a bassoon—and the rest of the things that go to make up an orchestra of symphonic parts.

"I now have ten men, just what this peremptory demand calls for, but I feel insulted at their dirty little insinuation that we would be liable to lower our list just to save salaries. I think we're above being so petty.

"As far as pay is concerned, I have always endeavored to give the highest possible wages, because I know the cost of living is high. I feel it, just as they do. But I'll be hanged if I'm going to be ordered into anything. I hope to go along peaceably, without any outside interference, but if that interference comes, it will meet short shrift at the Orpheum. I'll not fool a minute with walking delegates."

As far as New York weather is concerned, Mr. Drown has had enough. "Only one really pleasant day in five weeks made me dreadfully homesick," said he. "Cold winds, gusty rains and mid-winter temperatures alternated with melancholy regularity."

The ticket-scalpers, according to Mr. Drown, are flourishing in a sort of golden age—for them.

"Never," says the manager, "have I seen this petty graft so rampant in New York. A man cannot approach one of the theaters running a current success without going down a file of these pasteboard hucksters. Street-selling of tickets there is no longer a mere device by men temporarily hard up. It is a full-fledged profession. The workers take their theaters regularly. They carry little, well-made plans of the entire seating, which they unfold in a business-like way as they approach you. And they have good seats. Go up to a house where you couldn't buy anything, and in a moment these chaps are at your elbow, briskly unfolding their diagrams, and offering you—at a good figure—a fine pair of aisle seats.

"Cigar stands and hotels are also sharing the graft. New Yorkers fully realize, now, that when you want good seats you don't get them at the box office. You take them of the hotel clerk, the cigar man or the scalper. I can't understand why such a nuisance is tolerated. We've never been bothered with it here, to any great extent."

Mrs. Fiske's new piece, of which she will play one or two acts at least, is "Dolce."

On the last night of her engagement she will also present scenes from "Becky Sharp" and "Tess."

The Californians, returned from a trip around Southern California, will open the summer stock season at the Auditorium tonight, in their "Mikado" revival. This will be seen for three nights, and will be followed at the Wednesday matinée, by a production of "The Bohemian Girl."

Theodore Kremer wrote "No Wedding Bells For Her" with striking miners as his theme. It is played at the Grand Operahouse this week. Evidently Mr. Kremer doesn't pretend to describe a real strike, or else such affairs are conducted mighty differently in San Francisco and Wilkesbarre. For instance, Mr. Kremer never permits his striking miners to heave bricks at the employer's friends. A single non-union man is introduced in the play, and one and all are quite in awe of his good clothes and his excellent command of language. Not one of Mr. Kremer's striking miners insulted a woman. Not one of them even suggested dynamite or murder or arson. Probably Mr. Kremer got his idea of strikers out of the Socialist press. If he's writing another melodrama of the sort, however, let the dear man observe some of the events of the past few weeks in San Francisco. Realism is not half bad when it's real realism, and not the imaginary kind. No better educator on the industrial conditions of the present day could be offered than a true-to-life drama founded on the carmen's strike. The play tells how a wicked millionaire wronged a miner's daughter and placed the blame on a noble (sic) young strike leader.

Mrs. Leslie Carter will be seen at the Mason Operahouse tonight in "Du Barry," spectacular play of French history in which she was starred by David Belasco a few years ago.

Next Sunday night, preceding Mrs. Fiske's engagement, the Burbank company will give a single performance of "In South Car'liney."

After Mrs. Fiske, "Mizpah" will be revived and following this, "The Half [illegible]."

Miss Frances Gordon will give a song recital at Occidental College on [illegible] evening. Her programme will include songs by Neidlinger, Thomas, [illegible], Needham, Weil, Jensen, Macdowell, Ruebens and Mason. She will be assisted by Miss Gertrude Wright and Miss Frances Douthit.

"Sappho and Phaon," Percy Mackaye's poetic tragedy, was published last week by the Macmillan company. In its literary form this work is set forth with a prologue, induction, prelude, interludes and an epilogue, designed to fulfill to the reader an ingenious purpose of the author.

These, however, stand apart from the tragedy itself, which will be produced in the autumn by Harrison Grey Fiske, with Bertha Kalich as Sappho.

H. B. Irving gave a copyright performance of "Sappho and Phaon" in London, April 30.

Why Not Have An Ostermoor?

$15.00 Ostermoor Mattresses $14.00

The reason for the reduction is, in brief, a freight wreck. Twenty-five Ostermoors of regular sizs (4 ft. 6 by 6 ft. 3, 45-pound weight) were more or less soiled and torn in transit to us. We've had every one thoroughly cleaned, rips re-sewn and made as good as new again, but we won't offer them as perfect, so you may buy the whole twenty-five, or a lesser number, at $14 each.

The first cost of an Ostermoor is the last and only cost—no repairs or renovating ever necessary; Ostermoors are softer and more elastic than hair—and the elasticity is permanent, too—they won't pack or mat, nor lose their shape or spread. Filled with germ-proof vegetable fiber, hand-laid one fold over another, then hand-sewn across both ends and along one side, they're of uniform thickness and resiliency.

Plenty of perfect Ostermoors at $15, $13.35, $11.70, $10 and $8.35, in various sizes.

Metropole matting, manufactured especailly for porch rugs and runners, in any length, and several pretty patterns, special Monday, instead of 85c, for 60c yard.

Monday Specials from the Wash Goods Section

School almost over, vacation to prepare for, graduation frocks to be planned and made up—a thousand and one things to make the sewing room the center of interest these days—and here are the materials to work with to best advantage, both from the standpoints of economy and thoroughly good looks and wear.

32-inch French organdies, in plain or barred grounds; large or small figures in blue, yellow, pink or lavender; also shown in plain grounds with dainty roses trailing over their surface, and white embroidered dots; good values even at 50c and 60c a yard; Monday only 25c

Irish dimities; displayed in grounds white or colored, with bars and cluster stripes in similar shades; large or small roses or dots of black, navy, light blue, green, pink, red and lavender—designs new to dimities, and exceedingly pretty; regular value 35c, Monday 25c

Indian Head suiting; the geuine full-shrunk soft finish, full bleached; 36 inches wide; staple at 15c, our price 12½c

Pequot and Salem sheets and pillow cases, all lengths and widths; plain or hemstitched edges; hospitals, rooming houses and hotels have the benefit of our wholesale price list.

New Separate and Jumper Skirts Reduced One-Fourth

Trifle unusual, to say the least, to offer skirts in the height of their popularity at less than their fair, regular value. Yet you're not so much interested in the whys and wherefores as in the fact that the skirts ARE reduced, and that very generously. Here are the sorts represented, to sell at a full fourth, or even more, below what they ought to bring.

First of all—because it's very important—these skirts are all brand new arrivals; we're not unloading any "old-timers;" they're all of high-grade silk and wool—both separate and jumper skirts.

In the cloth skirts there are plain browns, plain blue, white, black, and light block checks, hairline checks and stripes on cream or white grounds, and pretty plaids; materials are eoliennes, voiles, panamas, light-weight mixtures, etc.

$13.50 skirts are $10.25; $16.50 skirts are $12.50; $18.50 skirts are $13.75; $20 skirts are $15; $22.50 skirts are $16.75; $27.50 skirts are $20.50; $28.50 skirts are $21.50, and $52.50 skirts are $39.50.

Small Rugs---Small Prices

The Bigelow Carpet Company make carpets and rugs that are indisputably best—no question about that. They produce Wiltons, body Brussels and Axminsters, in rich, soft colorings which set the style for makers of rugs and carpets generally.

We bought a thousand samples of these three carpets, made up into little floor rugs, in lengths between 36 and 72 inches. If you bought them by the yard, you'd pay not less than $1.50 to $4.50 a yard.

These Made-up Rugs

Fringed at both ends, in dozens of harmonious shades and patterns, we shall sell, while they last, at four prices, according to size:

36 to 72 Inches Long at 95c
$1.10, $1.25 and $1.65

They're splendid for hall, library, den, parlor or any room in the house; good for office rugs, too. We honestly believe that this is the best bargain in small sized rugs we were ever able to offer you.

Underpriced Art Linens

We've these enticing bargains for women who love fancy-work, yet don't care to start some piece whose finishing will be a long-drawn-out affair. You can "do" these stamped art linen scarfs, doilies and center pieces in almost no time at all; they're splendid work to have about the house to pick up at odd moments. Patterns are both floral and conventional, naturally tinted as suggestion for the embroidering, on art linens in several colors:

Pieces regularly 50c, 65c and 75c, now 25c.
Pieces regularly $1 and $1.25, now 50c.
Pieces regularly $1.50, $1.75 and $2, now 75c.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

COINCIDENTS OF TRAGEDY.

CURIOUS HAPPENINGS MARKING FATAL ACCIDENTS.

Foster Killed by Very Train He Intended to Return Home in—Curious Two-Sided Life Led by Him While in Los Angeles—Autos, Women and Death.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond ave.

PASADENA, May 27.—Killed by the very train on which he had a berth engaged and upon which he should have been speeding eastward; his unconscious blood-stained body identified by a bosom companion, who but a few hours before had cashed his check for $300 and arranged to accompany him to Chicago; hunted for in Los Angeles until the small hours of the morning by a friend who was to have accompanied him on the fatal automobile spin—these are a few links in the strange chain of circumstances surrounding the death of Walter F. Foster of Minneapolis, who died in the Pasadena Hospital Saturday night from injuries received in a collision between the Santa Fé "Limited" and an automobile at Lamanda Park.

A week ago Walter F. Foster, Robert W. Stimson, son of George W. Stimson of Pasadena, H. S. Hooper of Baltimore, and his cousin Hooper Dunbar of Los Angeles, left Omaha bound for Los Angeles. They traveled in the best train of the Salt Lake railroad and formed a warm companionship on their journey. Three of them were happy and gay; for them the trip was a holiday. The other, Walter Foster, was sad. A mood was upon him. He knew not where he was going, nor cared. "I think I shall go to the Philippines—to the jumping off place—anywhere," he said.

"Walt," as they learned to call him, told his companions that he had just been divorced from his wife in Omaha; that he had consented because she wished it and that he had agreed to pay her $40 a month alimony. "But I still love her," he added. "She is free—I am a derelict drifting on a shoreless sea."

In Los Angeles Foster and the two cousins put up at the Alexandria. Stimson who was to be here but one day visited his old home in Pasadena. It had been arranged that Foster was to accompany him on his return journey to Chicago. A ticket was bought and a berth engaged for Foster and he was to meet Stimson on Saturday night's "Limited."

SEEKS INTERVENTION.

Seeking a friend of the wife he had left in Omaha, Foster plead with Miss Genevive Hart, a beautiful young woman employed at the "Ville de Paris," to intercede for him in the regretted divorce. He invited her to take an automobile ride into the country that they might talk the matter over. His friends Hooper and Dunbar were to have accompanied them but failed to keep the engagement.

Only a few hours remained until the time for the departure of the train that was to take him to Chicago. Away they sped into the green foothills. The beauty of the day, the words of the woman beside him cheered the unhappy man and he finally gave his word that he would return to "Little Nell" in Omaha and seek a new happiness. Then came death.

Far down the track the long train came to a stop and began to back up slowly toward a shattered mass of pipes and wood. The conductor and a heavily built young man leaped from a vestibule and hurried forward. Stimson bent over the apparently lifeless form of his friend.

CURIOUS COINCIDENCES.

Hours later a Times reporter went into a restaurant to get his midnight supper. He met Hooper whom he had not seen for several months and they shared a meal together.

"I have been hunting all night for a man with whom I was to have gone automobiling this afternoon and who was to have left for the East tonight," said Hooper. "I went down to the Limited, but he did not show up and I am worried about him.

"That automobile you were to have ridden in was struck by the very train you mention and Foster is dead."

Hooper leaped from his chair as if shot.

INJURED ARE IMPROVING.

Miss Hart and Carl Wohl the chauffeur, injured in the Lamanda Park accident, are both resting easily at the Pasadena Hospital and show marked improvement. Wohl should be about in a few days unless unforeseen complications result from his injuries. Miss Hart's condition, however, is still very serious, but it is believed that she will recover.

The body of Foster is in the care of Adams, Turner & Stevens, local undertakers, and its disposition awaits instructions from Waldo E. Foster of Omaha, father of the dead man, who has been notified. The inquest will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

WENT THE PACE.

Foster made his presence known on the Rialto while in this city. A number of chauffeurs said yesterday he had engaged machines from them, driven about for a few hours and then skipped off without settling the bill. They said he was always accompanied by one or more women, well known about town, and the rides were a succession of jaunts from one café to another.

Foster talked freely about his alleged wealth at the Alexandria. He said he was in the commission business in Minneapolis and was only recently divorced from his wife, settling $100,000 upon her at the time of the granting of the decree.

He paid his bills at the hotel, but it is said others were not so fortunate and several tradesmen were induced to send expensive articles of feminine apparel to Foster's address without the articles being paid for. The day of Foster's last fateful ride, he told one of his boon companions that he was preparing to take the wife of a sporting man back East with him. He said he was buying her a lot of swell clothes.

EXONERATES RAILROAD.

The chauffeur, Carl Wohl, made a statement to a representative of the Santa Fé at the Pasadena Hospital yesterday afternoon, in which he exonerated the railroad company from all blame of the accident. He said he was driving the automobile at a rate of about fifteen miles an hour when he saw the oncoming train, but that it was too late for him to stop the machine in time to avoid being struck. Wohl said that he did not believe the Santa Fé was in any way responsible and admitted his own mistake in not looking or listening for a train before attempting to cross the track.

FUNERAL OF MRS. THOMPSON.

Hilda Thompson, the young wife of Theodore C. Thompson, a popular employé of the Hotel Maryland, died Friday, leaving two little daughters, Bernice and Helen, aged 7 and 9 years, respectively. The funeral was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the parlors of Adams, Turner and Stevens. The services were largely attended notwithstanding a heavy downpour of rain. Guests of the hotel sent a floral cross. Rev. Bird of the new English-Lutheran Church, officiated. The body was cremated.

DAY A RUMBLER.

Pasadena was visited yesterday by a sharp thunderstorm, which broke in fury over the city in the middle of the afternoon. The storm had been gathering all day over the mountains between Mt. Lowe and Wilson's Peak and afforded some interesting storm scenes on the heights. Vivid lightning preceded intermittent downpours that drove afternoon strollers to shelter. The effect, however, was very refreshing and dusty streets received a much-needed soaking.

PASADENA ITEMS.

Mrs. Susan E. Dow, 60 years of age, died Saturday afternoon at her home, No. 858 North Raymond avenue, of a protracted illness. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the parlors of Adams, Turner & Stevens. Rev. Henry T. Staats will have charge of the services. The interment will be at Mountain View Cemetery.

Tonight at midnight entries to the Pasadena Kennel Club dog show will be declared closed. Indications are that the entry list will be a big one.

A delivery team of a wholesale fruit dealer named Everett became frightened while drinking at the fountain in Central Park Saturday afternoon and ran away. Within a distance of less than a hundred feet the horses struck the iron pole of one of the street cluster lights, breaking it off close to the ground. One of the horses was killed and the wagon tongue was broken.

A motorcycle caught fire near the corner of Raymond and Colorado street last night and created a good deal of excitement.

The Young Men's Christian Association held farewell services in the quarters which they are about to vacate, yesterday afternoon. Rev. William MacCormack delivered the address.

HOW TO SAVE LIFE.

Government Sends Instructions to Santa Monica for Resusscitation of Drowned People.

OCEAN PARK, May 26.—Reminded by the wreck of the launch two weeks ago that the Santa Monica Bay country is not protected by life saving equipment, the United States Life Saving Service of the Treasury Department has forwarded a supply of pamphlets giving directions for restoring the apparently drowned and for saving drowning persons by swimming to their relief.

These booklets are to be studied by bath-house attendants and life guards to the end that the suggestions contained in them may be utilized with profit in cases of emergency. The official and tested recommendation in cases of supposed drowning is to continue the artificial respiration from one to four hours, and for some time after the appearance of returning life. Even if no signs of life appear, the work should be kept up for a long period, as instances are on record of recovery after several hours of suspended animation.

OCEAN PARK POINTS.

Initial steps have been taken looking to the organization of an outing club. At the preliminary meeting W. P. Snyder presided and C. J. Noyes was made chairman of the Organization Committee. This committee will prepare the articles of organization. The object of the club is to throw its members together socially for a regular monthly picnic or outing at some cañon or beach point of interest.

For a stated consideration of $12,000 cash, H. M. Gillig of San Francisco has purchased the Clark residence property at the corner of Park avenue and Trolleyway.

Mrs. Mattie B. Conway, a recent arrival from Columbus, O., has purchased the residence at No. 1255 Third street and will make her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carlin have completed arrangements for a summer in Europe and expect to start on their honeymoon tomorrow. Their plan is to be absent at least three months.

PLAY FOR SOLDIER BOYS.

Company D, N.G.C., Will Present "Down in Dixie" to Help Armory Fund—Church Celebrates.

POMONA, May 26.—The cast which is to present the war play, "Down in Dixie," for the benefit of Co. D's armory fund at Fraternal Aid Theater on Wednesday evening, is rehearsing diligently under the direction of Frank W. Balfour and promises a successful production. Mr. Balfour will himself assume a leading role, and other local amateurs, who will appear in the play, are Mrs. C. E. Hibbs, Misses Mary Wilcox, Effie Young and Rose Anderson; Messrs. Homer Duffy, Harry Fay, Fred Charles, Ray Grant, Henry Monahan, Fred Brown and Harry Hickock.

CHURCH CELEBRATES.

Pilgrim Congregational Church celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its organization with appropriate services today. There was special music, a historical sermon by Rev. C. B. Sumner, the first pastor of the church, an address upon the early history of the church from a trustee's standpoint by Frank L. Palmer, an address upon the early history of the ladies' organizations and young people's work by Mrs. Jenny Tucker Baker, an address upon reminiscences of early days by Dean E. C. Norton and a vocal solo by Prof. F. P. Brackett.

PREPARE FOR CHAUTAUQUA.

MANY WELL-KNOWN PROFESSORS WILL LEAD CLASSES.

Programme for Annual Long Beach Event Practically Completed—Baptist Assembly and Other Associations Will Hold Conventions—Record High School Graduating Class.

LONG BEACH, May 26.—The annual intellectual feasts enjoyed by Chautauqua, Baptist and Christian assemblies will be much later this year, but the wisdom of this movement is shown in the greater excellence of the provisional programme. Especially is this so of Chautauqua, which opens July 15 and closes July 27, and whose directory have secured the best of its speakers and instructors from the delegates to the National Educational Association.

The Bible Study classes will be under the direction of William Frederick Bade, Ph. D., resident professor of the Pacific Theological Society of Berkeley and dean of the Federated Summer School of Theology.

A new class to be inaugurated will be one devoted to a study of evolution, showing animal and plant life from the lowest to the highest forms. The instructors secured are Prof. J. Z. Gilbert, Prof. A. B. Ulrey, Prof. Joseph Grinnell, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, Prof. G. L. Leslie and Dr. A. Davidson. Some of the topics for these classes will be "The Development of the Sense Organs and the Nervous System," the "Inheritance of Acquired Characteristics" and "Unicellular Organisms."

The Current Events class will be conducted by Prof. J. H. Hoose, of the department of philosophy and education of the University of Southern California, assisted by Judge Waldo M. York, Prof. Gilbert, Dr. Charles D. Lockwood and Prof. Tully Knoles.

The Child Study classes will be taught by Dr. David Beaton of the University Extension Bureau of Chicago University.

Art and design instruction will be in the hands of Mrs. L. E. Garden-McLeod.

Among the noted lecturers are Prof. Nathan C. Schaeffer, Superintendent of Instruction of Pennsylvania, and president of the N.E.A., who will give an address on educational subjects; Gov. Henry A. Buchtel of Colorado; Attorney Joseph H. Call, Senator Elmer J. Burkett of Nebraska, Prof. Stanley L. Krebs, an authority on things psychic; Frank S. Reagan, a cartoonist and humorist; Miss Louise Williams, character delineator; Hector Alliot, an authority on art topics, and Prof. Bruce Gordon Kingsley, who will give an illustrated lecture on Parsifal and its motifs.

BAPTIST ASSEMBLY.

The annual meeting of the Baptist Assembly of Southern California will be held August 1 to 19, inclusive, and will be devoted to Bible study, missionary and teachers' training classes, evangelistic work, music and popular lectures. The Bible study classes will be in charge of Milton G. Evans of Philadelphia and J. Whitcomb Brougher of Portland.

James Edmunds of Portland will deliver ten lectures on Sunday-school work, dealing with the latest and best methods. The study of missions will be conducted by C. A. Woody and Arthur Rider and Miss Grace Van Sanoh, Mrs. P. E. Berry and W. C. Cook will conduct the boys' and girls' meetings. Three musical festivals will be given during the assembly. The evening sessions will be devoted to popular lectures.

Among the speakers secured are Prof. Milton G. Evans, dean of Baptist seminary, Philadelphia; A. M. Petty of Los Angeles, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of White Temple, Portland; Rev. William Horace Day, Los Angeles; Rev. Arthur W. Rider, Rev. J. Lewis Smith, Long Beach; Dr. Eli McClish, recently president of University of the Pacific at San Jose, and Dr. E. S. Chapman of the Anti-Saloon League.

OTHER MEETINGS.

The semi-annual meeting of the State B.Y.P.U. will be held August 9, 10, 11, for which a special programme will be prepared. All sessions of the assembly will be held at the First Baptist Church.

MORE BOYS FOR ONCE.

The 1907 graduating class of the High School, which during the coming week begin their final examinations and preparations for leaving school life, is the largest ever graduated from the Long Beach High. For the first time the boys predominate, there being twenty boys and seventeen girls, as against a total of twenty-two last year.

The graduates are: Misses Evelyn Dayman, Bessie Cullem, Faye Benson, Blanche Moody, Josie Borden, Leigh Farrow, Hazel Dawes, Edna Fager, Mabel Gutzler, Elsie Hayes, Ethel Martin, Edna McCabe, Bertha Randall, Ivy Ricker, Sylvia Runyard, Gladys White, Eleanor Wallace and Messrs. Jere Bowden, Lawrence Ridenour, James Daly, Henry Bailey, Gerald Bennett, William Blount, Collie Bridge, Robert Woodville, Orman Smart, Wilbur Downs, Edward Fager, Roy Haslett, George Loomis, Lloyd McDermott, Wallace McNulty, George Stone, Wreston Cook, Samuel Pickett, Richard Rowett and Albert Weston.

On the night of June 14, the juniors will tender the seniors a reception at Ebell clubhouse. On Tuesday, June 18, the annual class play will be given, "She Stoops to Conquer." June 20 will be observed as class day and on Friday, June 21, will occur the graduation exercises at the Auditorium. Only the salutatory and valedictory addresses will be given, the remainder of the time being occupied by an address by an out-of-town speaker.

G.A.R. OBSERVANCES.

Three hundred Grand Army veterans and their wives and daughters attended memorial services at the First Presbyterian Church today. Rev. Josiah Sibley preaching on the "Sword of Victory." The church was tastefully decorated in flags and bunting and special music was given by the choir.

This afternoon 1500 people attended the G.A.R. services at the Auditorium, where Rev. W. G. Cowan, chaplain of the post, delivered the annual memorial address, taking as his subject "The National Banner."

LONG BEACH NOTES.

At all the churches today there was presented for indorsement and signatures a resolution passed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of this city, addressed to the County Supervisors, reciting that the winery at Anaheim and California streets, just outside the city limits, is a menace to good morals, good order and good citizenship, and ask that no license be granted, or if granted, that it be rescinded.

Lovers of music will enjoy a rare treat Monday evening at the Auditorium, when Miss Ellen Beach Yaw will appear in concert under auspices of the local Elks. The ushers will be a bevy of society maids and matrons under the leadership of Mrs. Will B. Julian.

Anxious to be the first militia company in the State to wear the olive-drab uniform of the regular army, Co. H are planning a military camp on the beach on the afternoon and evening of June 8, to which the public are invited and contribute to the fund for the purchase of the new uniform. The Seventh regiment band of Pomona will give an afternoon and evening concert and genuine "chow" will be served in true military style.

Oscar Fitzallen Heartwell, father of J. B. Heartwell, president of the First National Bank, and grandfather of Col. Charles L. Heartwell, president of the Citizens' Savings Bank, will celebrate his eighty-ninth birthday on Decoration Day. He is still a man of great vigor, despite his years, and takes a keen interest in the affairs of both banks.

Final examination will be held in the grammar school during the coming week, the schools closing on Friday. The High School term lasts three weeks longer. There will be 115 graduates from the eighth-year grade to enter the High School at the fall term.

Plenty of sport at Coronado.

MULES FOR MALIBU.

Full Force of Men Also, Will Rush Work On New Railroad. Beach Notes.

SANTA MONICA, May 26.—Today a drove of about 400 mules was started up the beach toward the Malibu ranch. They are a part of the railroad grading outfit of W. K. Peasley, who is just beginning work on a five-mile contract on the new road known as the Hueneme, Malibu & Port Los Angeles, presumedly belonging to the Rindge estate. The grading camps are located on the Rindge ranch about fifteen miles from Santa Monica.

Headquarters have been established within two miles of the wharf and pier that were built last season and upon which the ties and rails for the road are to be landed. By the middle of the week it is expected that work will be under full headway. The front will be a lively place during the season, as it is the announced purpose of the contractor to grade and lay the track for at least a mile of the road each month, until the job is completed.

BEACH NOTES.

The second baseball game of the amateur league went to pieces here today in the sixth inning. It was between the Halbritters and the Santa Monicas, and after having tried three umpires without success, it was impossible to agree upon a fourth. When the two nines left the field the score stood nine to six, in favor of Santa Monica.

Felix Peano is busy at Venice manufacturing tiling for his new residence in The Palisades. Work on the structure is to be commenced in about six weeks. The house is to cost $25,000.

Arrangements have practically been completed for the construction of a new brick building in which to house the postoffice. The location selected is that now occupied by the fire engine house on Oregon avenue, near Third street. The structure will have a frontage of forty-four feet and will be deep enough to provide accommodations for the free delivery system, the installation of which is promised to follow soon after July 1.

Property owners along the beach between Colorado avenue and the White Star are circulating a petition asking that a concrete walk twenty feet in width be constructed on the sand, fronting the sea. A similar improvement is about to be inaugurated from the pier southward to Pier avenue. When these improvements have been completed, Santa Monica bay will have perhaps the longest and widest stretch of ocean front concrete sidewalk in the west.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. A. W. Davidson is a visitor here from San Francisco, being the guest of Mrs. L. Lascom of Oakland, who is occupying a Bicknell avenue cottage.

Mrs. H. S. Prager is spending a couple of weeks in San Diego, where she is the guest of her mother.

Mrs. J. R. Warren has returned to her home in Hanford, after a visit of several weeks by the sea.

Misses Grace and Myrtle James and Charlotte Suits have returned home from Stanford, where they have been attending the university.

Mrs. Irving Sayford has finished her visit with beach relatives and returned to her home in San Francisco.

Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer has gone for a visit to the old home at Glen Allen, Illinois.

Hotel del Coronado always open.

UNDER ARREST, BOYS CONFESS.

TELL OF ATTEMPTED ASSAULT AND BURGLARIES.

Puncture Tires of Girls' Bicycles to Force Them to Walk Home and Then Lie in Wait for Them—Rob Home of Uncle and Are Caught by Deputy Sheriff.

COVINA, May 26.—Samuel Overholtzer and Cullen Motter, two 15-year-old Covina lads, whose parents are prominent members of the Dunker church, are in the County Jail, charged with serious crimes. They have confessed, it is said, to an attempt to assault two girls, Cora McKirahen, aged 16 years, and Crete King, aged 14, last Wednesday, and also admitted that they have committed burglaries in their home town.

The McKirahen and King girls attended a meeting at the Woman's Club House Wednesday afternoon. They left their bicycles outside the building. After the meeting the girls found the bicycle tires had been punctured and decided to walk home. As they neared an orange orchard, two men with gunny-sacks drawn over their heads, rushed from behind the trees and seized them. There was a fearful struggle and the girls screamed for help. They fought viciously as the men tried to drag them into the orchard. Help came and the brutes were frightened away.

Detectives organized a man hunt and enraged citizens of Covina aided in the chase. As a result of the search Overholtzer and Motter were arrested yesterday, by Deputy Sheriff Van Vliet and placed in the County Jail. They are said to have made startling confessions.

The story of the attempted assault upon the two girls was told by both Overholtzer and Cullen, say deputy sheriffs. Both boys, it is stated, told of cutting the gunny sacks to fit over their heads and making eye holes in the masks. They admitted they had planned the assault and said they had deliberately punctured the tires of the girl's bicycles in order to make them walk home.

They had watched them until they reached a lonely part of the road and had then rushed out upon them. The assault, they said, took place at Hollenbeck and Puente streets, the point at which the girls were rescued.

Young Overholtzer is also said to have confessed to burglarizing the home of his uncle, Urias Overholtzer. Money and jewelry were taken at the time of the burglary. The lads both confessed also to having pulled off several other jobs. Both are said to have bad records.

The preliminary examination of the pair will be held Tuesday afternoon before Justice W. P. Marshall. Bail was fixed at $300 yesterday, but the parents of both the boys refused to put up the money.

Coronado rates always reasonable.

A New York Poodle Has a Gold Plate Trephined Into His Skull.

With a gold plate substituted for part of his skull, Baby Boy, a French poodle dog, the pet of Miss Ida Sheehan of No. 214 Park Place, Brooklyn, is slowly recovering from the most difficult operation ever experienced by a dog. The entire front of the animal's skull is now gold plate.

When a heavy door slammed on the dog's head, Miss Sheehan was sure her pet had been killed. She called a private ambulance and took Baby Boy to the New York Veterinary Hospital, and it was long after midnight when the wound had been dressed and the dog made unconscious by ether.

While an assistant administered the anaesthetic, Dr. Andrew Armstrong sawed out the broken part of the skull. The dog's head is not larger than a teacup, and it was difficult operating. A gold plate about one inch square was placed in the skull and the animal was under the influence of ether more than one hour.

Miss Sheehan bought the dog one year ago and has grown fond of him. She was much worried for fear her pet would die, but Dr. Armstrong assured her that he believed he would live. He said that about seventeen years ago a silver plate was placed in a horse's skull, and for several years after the animal did hard work.

The first time he was committed from Fresno, where he had a ranch, and once he set up a plea that he had been railroaded to the asylum. His father, C. N. Hickox, worked until the son was released. Six weeks ago the son attempted to kill his father and soon afterward he was sent to the Patton institution from Orange county. The experts there decided that Hickox was not insane, and accordingly the man was turned loose.

Today Hickox killed himself. The bullet entered his right temple. It was only Friday morning that a petition asking that Hickox's father be appointed guardian of the man was dismissed by the Superior Court here, which had decided to follow the judgment of the insane asylum authorities concerning the man's sanity.

MAKING TOWN UPON ORDER.

CRESTMORE WILL BE UP-TO-DATE IN EVERY WAY.

Cement Streets, Stores, Bank and Big Hotel, and Work Will Be Rushed—New Tennis Champion Wins Pedley Cup—Good Price for Business Lot—News Notes.

RIVERSIDE, May 26.—Street work will begin Tuesday at Crestmore, the new town that is springing up at the new cement plant at West Riverside. C. E. Lapp has arrived from Los Angeles with a grading crew for the purpose of laying out the streets. Following close upon the heels of the graders, the cement men will commence the work of building sidewalks and curbs.

To add to the beauty of the new manufacturing town, 10,000 pepper and eucalyptus trees have been ordered for immediate delivery. These will be planted along the streets.

Ground has been purchased for a bank, as it has been found necessary to have such an institution, in view of the fact that when the cement plant is in complete operation it will have a monthly pay roll aggregating $60,000. A large hotel is also to be built, and the construction of store and residence buildings will commence this week.

WINS TENNIS CUP.

A new tennis champion at the Casa Blanca Lawn Tennis Club has appeared in Miss Minnie Coulson, who won the finals yesterday afternoon in the annual club tournament for the Pedley cup. Miss Coulson played against Miss Rita West, the winner of the cup at last year's tourney, and defeated her by a score of 6-1, 6-1. Mrs. Harry Pattee served tea at the clubhouse.

Play for the cup is an interesting society event, and thus far no player has succeeded in holding the trophy more than one year. To become its permanent possessor it must be won three times. Those whose names are engraved on it are Miss Beatrice Kearne, Miss Trevelyan, Miss Grace Gilliland, Miss Rita West and Miss Minnie Coulson. The cup was given to the club several years ago by W. E. Pedley.

LOT BRINGS PROFIT.

A fifty-five foot lot that was purchased by G. W. Dickson for $150 in the early days of Riverside was sold by him yesterday for a sum approximating $8000. The property is on the west side of Orange street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, adjoining the rear of the Regina Block. The lot was purchased by W. G. Fraser, who will erect a substantial brick building on it in place of the frame cottage which stands there as a relic of pioneer days.

BANK GETS SITE.

To secure a home of its own, the newly-organized Security Savings Bank of Riverside, has given a large bonus for the lease of the storeroom now occupied by W. E. Neblett's drug store, at the corner of Seventh and Main streets. Mr. Neblett yesterday completed negotiations for the purchase of the drug store owned by C. E. Weck on the opposite corner. By the time the bank wishes to open up, the Neblett drug stock will be consolidated with the Weck stock. Mr. Weck temporarily retires from business on account of his wife's health.

SHE'S A DARLING.

Roger Darling and Miss Eugenia Carr were married this afternoon at the bride's home at Highgrove. Rev. Herbert E. Benton, pastor of All Souls Universalist Church, was the officiating clergyman. The wedding was pretty, though simple in its appointments, and was witnessed only by the members of the two families.

ONTARIO.

ONTARIO, May 26.—J. N. Hartley has been appointed secretary of the San Antonio Water Company, to fill the place made vacant by B. C. Sheppard, who has gone to Canada for his health. Mr. Hartley was made secretary pro tem. some months ago, when Mr. Sheppard was forced to leave.

Perhaps the highest price reached for property in Ontario is that paid for a lot 100x220, belonging to J. Bradford, on the corner of Euclid avenue and H street, by George Daum, the consideration being stated at $2900. Mr. Daum sold his fine ranch here a couple of months ago, expecting to settle elsewhere in Southern California, but has returned and bought this property, where it is stated he is to erect a fine $5000 residence.

J. Gardner Scott of Pasadena has bought of T. N. Stackus the Floral Villa estate, consisting of cottage and ten acres of improved land, fronting on East A street. The consideration is stated at $8000. The sale was made through the agency of Kenedy & Wright.

Kenedy & Wright have sold to D. H. Turnbaugh six acres of unimproved property on East A street; consideration, $1200.

J. P. Ensley has completed the erection of a fine $5500 residence on West E street.

"East or West, Coronado is best."

WORK CARELESSLY DONE.

San Diego Council's Investigating Committee Makes Criticisms. Two Hurt by Gas Explosion.

SAN DIEGO, May 26.—The City Council's committee has completed its investigation of the building of the Thirtieth-street water main and the B-street reinfaced concrete conduit, and will report to the Council Thursday afternoon. The committee finds that serious mistakes have been made in the doing of city work. While it may not be possible to punish city officials for their carelessness, it is believed that matters will be more carefully attended to in the future.

GAS EXPLOSION.

By the explosion of a generator at the gas plant yesterday, J. P. Thornton, day boss, and Chris Sanderholm, his helper, suffered serious injuries.

Estimates show that fifty-six miles of street car tracks are being constructed in this city.

SAILORS WILL MARCH.

Admiral Swinburne of the Pacific squadron will allow the sailors of the vessels now in port to participate in the Memorial Day parade.

SPRECKELS WILL BUILD.

Plans have been drawn for a fine residence for John D. Spreckels on the ocean boulevard at Coronado. H. L. Titus, counsel for the Spreckels interests, will also build on the same boulevard.

Claus Spreckels of San Francisco is a guest at Hotel del Coronado.

HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

Thirty-five entries have been made for the High School athletic meet at the Russ oval on June 1. The following schools will be represented: Oceanside, Fallbrook, El Capon, Escondido and San Diego. Several events will be arranged for the grammar schools.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION.

Double Hydrants to Be Installed Throughout Business Section. Severe Test Proves Successful.

A fire-hydrant test which means much to owners of property throughout the business section of the city, was made yesterday by Chief Lips of the fire department and Assistant Superintendent Brooks of the city water department on Los Angeles street, between Second and Third. On that block a new two-way hydrant has been placed. It has a four-inch outlet from the water main and is so stationed that the suction pipes of two fire engines may be attached to it. Engine Companies No.s 3 and 4, the largest in the fire department, were ordered to the place, and from each engine three lines of hose were laid. It was found that the big hydrant was capable of supplying all the water that the engines could pump, although when running at their highest speed they were each pumping upwards of 1800 gallons per minute. The six streams were sent through the water-tower and the pressure was found to be all that would be required in fighting a big fire.

Hydrants like the one tested are to be placed six to the block on all the streets running north and south between Temple street and Seventh street and later to Ninth street and between Alameda street and Hill street. When they have been installed it will be possible to supply every engine in the fire department with all the water they can pump even if they are all pumping at full capacity at the same moment.

A POINTER FOR ESTIMATORS.

The men who are building the city know what the Owens River project means to the future of Los Angeles.

They know that unless the city gets an ample supply of water, its growth must cease and the dream of a great industrial community will vanish.

They know that water means work and wages and security against hard times.

Last Saturday night F. O. Engstrom, the contractor, paid off 815 men, whom he employs in the erection of buildings, and he asked them to take a straw vote on the Owens River bond issue.

The vote was taken and there were 807 ballots in favor of the bonds. That is a pointer for estimators.

The $300 in cash awards offered by The Times for the best estimates is divided upon two propositions.

One hundred dollars will be paid for the first correct estimate received—or the nearest to correct—on the total number of votes cast, both "yes" and "no."

Also $100 cash will be paid for the best estimate on the number of votes cast "for" the bonds—those stamped "yes."

On each question there will be a second award of $20, a third award of $10, a fourth award of $5, and fifteen awards of $1 each.

The Estimate Coupons are numbered serially as received, and the cash will go to the estimate FIRST RECEIVED.

Make an estimate every day. Every Times Estimate Coupon, published in each issue, is good for one estimate.

MUNYON'S SUCCESS
In Curing Old, Chronic Cases of RHEUMATISM
Patients Given Up As Incurable
Speedily Restored to Health By
MUNYON'S 3 X RHEUMATISM REMEDY

I want every rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and try MUNYON'S 3 X RHEUMATISM CURE. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your druggist may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how bigoted or prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the 3 X RHEUMATISM CURE. Price $1.00. (He will get it for you if he has none in stock.) There are 160 doses in a bottle, and as one lady says: "Every tablet is worth more than a diamond of the same size." A few doses will take away all aches and pains, and a cure generally effected before one bottle is used.

Remember, this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium, cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food & Drug Act, but my guarantee I consider the best. Try the remedy, and if you are not satisfied bring the empty bottle to me and I will refund your money.

If you have any other ailment remember that we put up 57 different remedies for 57 ailments. We have no "cure alls." Our Cold Cure cures the cold. Our Cough Cure is worth more than all the emulsions, all the oils, all the balsams, and cough cures that have ever been made. You can prove this statement by the investment of 25 cents.

My Kidney Cure, I believe, has saved more lives and cured more chronic cases of bladder and kidney ailment than any known remedy. Money back whenever it fails.

My Constipation Ointment gives a natural movement in from two to three minutes and is rapidly taking the place of all cathartics and weakening nostrums.

If you are nervous and despondent, if you can't sleep, if you are weak and run down, don't fail to get a bottle of Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. It will make you strong, make you sleep and make you cheerful and strong.

My Headache Cure stops all headaches in from 3 to 10 minutes, and is a good heart and stomach tonic.

All persons suffering with Piles I most earnestly ask to try my Pile Ointment. It stops all itching and pains instantly. Money back if it fails to cure and cure quickly.

PORT ITEMS.

WEATHER: Cloudy at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 10 miles.

The bark Alden Bessie, which anchored in the outer harbor last evennig was towed inside today and berthed at the Salt Lake wharf, where she will unload a large cargo of ties.

The schooner Alex T. Brown brought in a cargo of 900,000 feet of lumber for the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

While the steamer City of Long Beach was getting away from the wharf this mornnig one of the passengers fell overboard. His name was not learned, but he was rescued by one of the sailors, who caught the man with a boathook.

The Boy's Water Mark.

Have you ever noticed the water mark on your letter paper? If you have, this little story will interest you.

"Go right upstairs," Howard's nurse said to him the other day, "and wash your face; it's very dirty."

Howard disappeared and came down again in a few moments, his nose shining from the effects of soap and water and his cheeks scarlet from an energetic scrubbing. But, alas, the enthusiasm had evidently died down before he had proceeded very far with his washing. Behind his ears there was an unmistakable black streak, continuing around underneath his chin.

"Why, Howard," exclaimed nurse in horror, "you're not half clean. There's a regular water mark back of your ears."

"I know it," exclaimed Howard instantly. "Did it on purpose. The water mark has to be somewheres on a good article, doesn't it? So I thought that would be a good place for it, 'cause my ears hide it a lot!"—[Washington Post.

MEN'S DISEASES CURED To Stay Cured

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist

"Weakness"
I not only cure "weakness" promptly, but I employ the only treatment that can possibly cure this disorder permanently. It is a system of local treatment entirely original with me and is employed by no physician other than myself. This may seem a broad assertion, but it is just as substantial as it is broad. So-called "weakness" is but a symptom of local inflammation or congestion, and a radical cure is merely a matter of restoring normal conditions throughout the organic system, and this I accomplish thoroughly and with absolute certainty.

Specific Blood Poision
I know this leprous disease completely. The system is thoroughly cleansed and every poisonous taint removed. The last symptom vanishes to appear no more, and all is accomplished by the use of harmless blood-cleansing remedies. Do not submit to the dangerous mineral dosing commonly indulged in. Such treatment merely obscures the symptoms.

Varicocele
Cured Without Cutting
The time was when every man afflicted with varicocele had no choice other than to allow the disease to go on undermining his power and health, or submit to a surgical operation. Now he can choose a thorough cure by painless treatment. I cure varicocele in one week, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his business even a single day. My method is original with myself, and it is the only safe and successful treatment for varicocele ever devised.

Different doctors have different ideas in regard to cures. Some call a suppression of symptoms a cure. They dose for drug effects and claim that nothing more can be done. But the real ailment remains, and will bring the real symptoms back again, perhaps the same as before, but very likely leave the patient in a much worse condition. I claim that nothing less than complete eradication of disease can be a real cure. I treat to remove the disease, and not merely the symptoms. I search out every root and fiber of an ailment, and I cure to stay cured.

COPPER STOCKS

THE LONDON-ARIZONA MINE

The SAFEST, QUICKEST and MOST PROFITABLE thing in the whole field of industrial investment at the present time is

Good Copper Stocks

For instance, here is the record of a few. All but one of these (the North Butte of Montana) are, you may say, right at the back door of Los Angeles, over in Arizona and Nevada and quite within the city's proper and natural sphere of financial influence, and the profits earned by the Arizona mines mentioned amounted last year to $30,600,000. (Just think of it!—almost thirty-one millions.)

And yet our beautiful and ambitious city got almost nothing out of that vast sum—all because we have been absorbed in the fascinating occupation of swapping jack-knives among ourselves and declined to interest ourselves in the great copper mines in the great mineral empire of Arizona, all of which by the natural laws of finance and trade should belong to Los Angeles.

Our real estate values would be safer and our financial institutions would be stronger, if we had the annual profits of Arizona's great copper mines coming to reinforce them.

Well, within three years the great

London-Arizona Copper Mine

should rank with the best in that great red-metal territory.

The conditions are so favorable that Mr. Charles E. Finney, the founder of the enterprise, who was for years the general administrative manager of all the vast mine and smelter interests of the Guggenheims in the United States and Mexico, and naturally from such an experience a man of exceedingly conservative and responsible statement, estimates that when the property is put in condition to smelt 3000 tons of its ore a day, it can earn 100 per cent. a year on the price at which the first offering of treasury stock is made—and that it can do that (this is the notable and unmatchable feature of the statement) with

Copper Selling at 13½ Cents a Pound

It couldn't do that unless it could produce its finished copper at as low a cost as any mine in the world—and the cost of producing the finished metal, laid down in New York, is the final test of the value of a copper mine.

The London-Arizona property covers 1280 acres of a copper deposit which good judges assert is in copper ever opened in Arizona. It can begin to earn dividends very soon. But it cannot earn the big dividends mentioned till the enterprise is in full operation.

The Biggest Thing, The Quickest Thing And the Easiest Thing

Here is a list of copper mines and prospects with whose record the future of the great London-Arizona may be compared:

Some of the Younger Group of Great Copper Mines

Giroux Consolidated, Ely, Nevada	5,000,000	5.00	9.00	9,000,000
Cumberland, Ely, Nevada	5,000,000	5.00	10.00	10,000,000
Nevada Consolidated, Ely, Nevada	6,500,000	5.00	16.00	20,800,000

These last three are new Nevada copper companies, that have been listed within the last year and a half. They are very fine properties, with large and reliable bodies of low grade ore that has to be concentrated before it can be smelted. They furnish a favorable standard of comparison for the London-Arizona in that they are al in the prospect stage, and neither of them has ever paid a dividend or produced a pound of finished copper. T are, nevertheless, great copper properties, and their present market price is not in excess of their real future as profit-earners. The best one of them has less than half the acreage of the London-Arizona, and they a likely to be able to earn dividends sooner than the London-Arizona. The present market prices of those really sound and valuable copper stocks therefore furnishes a safe indication of the prices that purchasers London-Arizona stock may hope to see their holdings rated at within a very few months, as soon as the co is in a position to have its stock listed on the New York and Boston Exchanges.

Those great Ely properties, once they reach the dividend-earning stage, will of course be rated very higher than at present, but we confidently believe the London-Arizona will pay dividends as soon as either

With equal confidence we believe that 30 to 40 months hence the London-Arizona will rank fully up present quoted market values of those two most admirably young properties—the North Butte and the C and Arizona.

Those are two of the finest copper properties of the younger group of first-class producers. They sha the London-Arizona the fundamental advantage of a management thoroughly experienced in all the technic administrative business of producing copper.

They share also with the London-Arizona the advantage of possessing a vast and reliable tonnage of smelting ore of good average grade.

It cannot therefore be fairly questioned that the London-Arizona will presently be able to share equally them the public confidence as to both its management and its resources which makes them favorite inve stocks. They are two among a very small number of companies able to produce copper close to the very mi cost, and it is our candid belief that, on the same scale of production, the London-Arizona will be able to finished out put down in the New York market a shade lower than either of them.

It is hardly necessary to mention that the cost of the product laid down in the market—the price at it can be sold without any loss whatever—is the final and complete test of the value of a copper property.

As we assert and insist that in from 30 to 40 months the London-Arizona will rank with the Calum Arizona and the North Butte, we give here their record to date, that there may in the future be no questio precisely what we claim for the London-Arizona.

TO BE HONORED. AT THE OCEAN.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE AT VENICE FOR SAILOR DEAD.

Flowers to Be Strewn Over Waves. Ellen Beach Yaw Will Sing and There Will Be Addresses By a Number of Others.

Los Angeles and Venice are both planning for a particularly beautiful naval memorial celebration, to be held at the Venice Auditorium next Thursday morning, where naval and military men, and many patriotic organizations will unite to do honor to the soldier-sailor dead.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, or Ellen Beach Yaw, as she is betetr known, will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." She sang it at the McKinley memorial in Paris, when she was the only American invited to take part in the programme. The management of the Opera Comique, where the memorial was held, presented to the singer an American flag, and this banner will be waved by her at Venice.

Mr. Goldthwaite will make an address. He has been pronounced one of the most skillful lawyers at the New England bar, and an orator of ability. He is also an author, one of his books being "The Philosophy of Bob Ingersoll." A short article from his pen, "The Supreme Court and the Negro," is regarded as a classic of its kind.

All that he is today, if one may believe the romantic story that is told, he has become through his love for the "California Nightingale," who has been the guiding star of his picturesque career, and has developed him from an obscure cowboy into a man who has compelled widespread recognition.

Besides the "Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. Goldthwaite will sing "Sailors Brave," by Sullivan. There will be vocal duets by L. A. De Cellis and G. T. Vail, and the orchestra will play "Memorial Day," "Nation's Prayer" and "Heroes' Song," composed by Paul de Longpre, and a march written by John Dorn, leader of the band on the U.S.S. Oregon.

Judge Curtis D. Wilbur will preside and make a speech. Rev. Baker P. Lee will offer the invocation and speak on Memorial Day topics. Other speakers will be Francis Murphy and Gen. John Beveridge.

The services will conclude with scattering flowers on the water, and a gondola, filled with blossoms, will be cut loose to float out over the waves.

The Memorial Day Committee includes Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, chairman; Capt. Thomas Turner, John M. Hoziea and Elijah Smith of Hopkins Squadron, U. S. Veteran Navy; Lieut. A. H. Woodbine and Ensign George Link of the Second Division of Engineers of the Naval Militia of California; Mrs. Cameron Erskine Thom, Mrs. Mary Banning, Mrs. Nathan Cole, Jr., Mrs. Freeman R. Cady, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. McLeod of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Gen. Sherman and Col. G. D. Munson of the Loyal Legion; Maj. and Mrs. Schofield; Mr. and Mrs. Truman Reeves, Mrs. Tansey A. Hartley, Mrs. Ferdinand Wheeler, Mrs. Mary Hartwell, Mrs. Lizzie Belle Cross, Mrs. Francena Austin and Mrs. Amanda Nelson of the Grand Army and Woman's Relief Corps; Dr. Stanwood, W. D. Stephens, A. Viaduct on Pacific Electric's "cut off" to Pasadena, crossing main line of Southern Pacific. Viaduct is 300 feet long and twenty feet wide.

SOON TO OPEN COVINA LINE.

NEWEST ELECTRIC ROAD RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION.

Regular Service Expected to Begin the Fourth of July—Azusa to Be Reached by Trolley Early in August—Largest Concrete Bridge in West Being Built.

It is now probable that the opening of the new electric line from Los Angeles to Covina will take place July 4. Efforts are being shaped to that end; and each day sees progress which makes it appear likely that one of the special attractions for Independence Day will be the opportunity to spin by trolley car through one of the most picturesque sections of the San Gabriel Valley.

Two shiploads of ties are on the way from Washington ports to San Pedro, to be used in the roadbed, and it is estimated that the track can be laid at the rate of a mile a day when this material arrives.

Work on the extension of the electric line of the Los Angeles Inter-Urban line from Monrovia to Azusa and Glendora is being pushed ahead with rapidity. This will be completed, probably, by the last of August.

A huge steam shovel, located at the big cut through the hill at Duarte, is goughing out the earth so rapidly that each day's work makes a striking impression. This cut is said to be the largest on the whole electric system of Los Angeles and vicinity. The earth is handled with a small dummy engine and diminutive cars, and is shot out of the big fill which will be 3000 feet long and in some places twenty-two feet deep. A track has been laid on temporary trestles, and from this the earth is dumped, burying the trestle as the grade progresses. Engineer Clemons estimates that 80,000 cubic feet of earth will be required to complete this fill.

Good progress has been made on the concrete bridge across the San Gabriel River, just east of Duarte. This structure will exceed in its dimensions the famous Salt Lake concrete bridge across the Santa Ana River near Riverside. It will be 1000 fet in length and will have nineteen piers and eighteen arches.

The top of this bridge will be covered for a depth of several feet with gravel ballast, and upon this will be laid the ninety-pound to the yard steel rails. Arches and piers are reinforced with steel rods and bars, and the piers rise nineteen feet from the surface of the ground. They reach down to a depth of eighteen feet.

Azusa has been agog over the report circulated there that the Huntington interests had decided to place the electric car barns in that town. It was even announced that the contracts had been awarded for the construction of the buildings. Chief Engineer Pillsbury denies this, and states that the company has not contemplated the building of any such structures along the line at present. He, however, states that a subtransmission station will be erected at Azusa very soon.

At the Los Angeles end of this new electric line construction there are also busy scenes. A large camp of Japanese has been established at the foot of Marengo street, and the men are carried out along the route and distributed into various gangs.

At the big concrete viaduct across the Southern Pacific tracks, on the Pasadena cut-off, a large crew is at work in raising the timbers to support the trestle work. The huge concrete abutments for the approaches are completed and the fills are almost on the required grade. As soon as the trestle work is in place the tracks can be laid on this route.

This viaduct is 300 feet in length and twenty feet wide, and almost a year has been required for its construction.

BOLD HOLD-UP MEN.

Enter Store at Closing Time, Steal Bag of Money, and Escape Through Rear Door.

There is not the slightest clew to the hold-up men who stole a money bag, containing $200, from J. Ladow, No. 422 East Fifth street, Saturday night. The boldness of the robbery threw Ladow completely off his guard and he was able yesterday to give only a partial description of the two ruffians.

At closing time Saturday night, Ladow, who conducts a general merchandise store, was counting up his cash and had deposited the money in a canvas bag. Some small change he left in the till. As he closed the bag, two men, presumably customers, strolled into the store and one of them asked for a pair of shoes. Ladow easily persuaded the man to purchase a pair of tan shoes for $2.50. The fellow offered the proprietor a $20 gold piece in payment. Ladow reached for the bag containing the $200 and prepared to make change. One of the men edged close to Ladow and suddenly snatched the bag from his hand. Both ran.

Through the rear door the pair made their way to a back fence, which they scaled. Their footprints in the soft earth of the alley could be seen yesterday morning. They ran toward Sixth street. The fellows left the gold piece on the counter when they fled.

It is the theory of the police that the two men who succeeded in making the haul are acquainted with Ladow. It is supposed they knew the storekeeper was in the habit of putting his money in a bag on Saturday night.

MAY THEY BE HAPPY ALWAYS.

PRETTY LITTLE ROMANCE OF A DESERT MINER.

Fails to Meet His Bride-to-Be Because of a Delayed Letter But Follows Her to Los Angeles and Finds Her After a Long Search—But Now They're Married.

A tale of romance in Pennsylvania, the departure of the intended groom for the Golden West to seek his fortune in the new mining region, an appointment with the bride-to-be, in which she was to come West and meet him and a hitch in the connections caused by delayed mails and telegrams, a worried search by the groom for his missing fiancee and a happy termination in a wedding in this city last Thursday, are the chief features of a story of interest to all who are or have been lovers—and that includes everybody.

The principals are Fred K. Myton, superintendent of the Beau Brummel mines at Crackerjack, and Miss Emma Abrams, of Chester, Pa. Sweethearts in their eastern homes, they agreed to marry as soon as the young man could get settled in a good position. So when he found himself properly located at Crackerjack, he wrote for his betrothed to come out and meet him at San Bernardino, where they would be married.

So far so good, but the young man exercised the prerogative that is sometimes supposed to be the exclusive right of the fair sex, and changed his mind (not as to the wedding—perish the thought—but as to the date) and he wired his sweetheart to postpone the trip. The message, however, arrived too late, as the lady was punctual and started right on time. She wrote telling of her departure, but, thanks to the rapid, up-to-date mail service at Crackerjack, the letter only arrived three days after the bride was due at San Bernardino.

Imagine, if you can, the position of the young man. His sweetheart had evidently arrived and found no one to meet her. What must she have thought of him? An automobile stage was just starting from Crackerjack. Without waiting to change his clothes, although clad in his working suit of khaki, he jumped aboard and was whirling across the desert sands before he realized that in his haste he had started without any funds. Fortunately, he met a friend in J. P. Sparks of this city, who had been visiting some mines in which he was interested, and he loaned the young man enough to cover expenses.

On arrival he learned what he feared might be the worst. His sweetheart had arrived on schedule time and, not finding him, had gone on to Los Angeles without leaving any address. He hurried on by the first train and took up the task that might be like "looking for a needle in a haystack."

"No, sir, there's no lady of that name here," was the discouraging reply which he received from one hotel clerk after another. Then Mr. Sparks suggested a visit to the baggage rooms of the railroads, and at the Salt Lake depot Miss Abrams's trunk was found where she had left it until she was settled.

"Now, young fellow, you just sit on that trunk until it is called for and then follow it to its destination and you'll find your girl," said Mr. Sparks.

The young man followed the advice and in a short time his patience was rewarded. An order came for the trunk to be sent to the Angelus Hotel. He joyfully rushed to that hostelry and there, notwithstanding his failure to find her name on the register, was his sweetheart.

Just what she said at his belated arrival and what explanations he made the public may guess at, but everything was soon adjusted. Mr. Sparks procured the services of Rev. A. S. Phelps of the Central Baptist Church and, after he had supplied the groom with some more appropriate clothes than his working suit of khaki, the wedding took place on Thursday evening at the Sparks home, No. 1711 Harvard boulevard.

All is well that ends well and the happy couple have gone to Crackerjack to reside.

Greatest Migration in History.

No migration in history is comparable to the great hordes that have crossed the Atlantic during the last twenty years to enter our territory. In 1905 1,026,499 immigrants were admitted; in 1906 1,100,735, and in the present year the total will exceed the record of 1906 by many thousands. Since June 30, 1900, 6,000,000 have been admitted, of whom probably 5,500,000 have settled permanently in the United States.—[National Geographic Magazine.
